G.O.P. TO BATTLE LAME DUCK COUP IN PENN SENATE

Opens War Against Steam Roller.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—Leaders of the incoming Republican administration in Pennsylvania discussed plans today for ousting between seventy and eighty state senate employés who were rehired by the Democratic minority in the riotous opening session last Tuesday.

As a result of what Republicans described as the high-handed tactics of Thomas Kennedy, the lame duck Democratic lieutenant governor, Republicans were deprived of the right to select the senate jobholders. The G. O. P., however, managed to gain control of the legislative machinery.

When the new administration takes office Jan. 17 Samuel S. Lewis, the incoming lieutenant governor, is expected to fire all the Democratic employés, but it was not known what would follow this action.

Law Enables Coup.

The opportunity for the Democrats to hand out the jobs came as the result of a Pennsylvania law which provides for the newly elected legislature to go into session two weeks before the new administration takes over control.

On a strictly party basis, the Democrats, because of holdovers, would have controled the senate, 26 to 24, as a result of the Nov. 8 election. In the election the Republican state ticket, headed by Judge Arthur H. James, defeated the Democratic administrators of Gov. George H. Earle following widespread charges of graft and corruption in its state government.

Had party lines been followed Tuesday, Kennedy's vote would not have been important. Several weeks ago, however, Weldon B. Heyburn, a holdover senator elected as a Democrat on a coalition ticket two years ago, announced that he would line up with the G. O. P. That left the count 25 to 25, giving Kennedy the deciding vote.

Unable to Upset Margin.

A recent court order forbade the seating of Herbert S. Levin, a Democrat, whose election was contested. Another Democratic senator, Dr. P. J. Henney of Allegheny county, was barred by a court ruling, leaving the Republicans in control, 25 to 23, a margin that Kennedy's vote could not override.

Despite this situation, Kennedy, as presiding officer, defied the court and seated Levin. This was accomplished by allowing fourteen holdover Democrats to vote.

The Kennedy steam roller refused to seat three elected Republicans on flimsy pretexts and there followed a scene of uproar in which police were called. During the melée a Democrat voted Republican, enabling the G. O. P. to elect a president pro tem. Then the Democrat switched his vote to his own party again and enabled the Democrats to fill the senate administrative jobs.

G. O. P. to Reverse Results.

When Lieut. Gov. Lewis takes over after the inauguration of Gov. James, the results of Kennedy's steam roller tactics will be reversed, but there may be difficulty in ousting the Democratic appointees because Democrats hold the offices of state auditor and state treasurer.

The Democrats, in order to hold the senate patronage jobs, are threatening to hold up Gov. James' appointees, a two-thirds vote of the senate being necessary to confirm them.

Kennedy, a right hand man of John L. Lewis, the C. I. O. czar, was defeated in the Democratic primary election for the gubernatorial nomination. His opponent was Charles A. Jones of Pittsburgh. Judge James defeated Jones in the general election.

Cost of Quiz Reported.

The house committee which consumed nearly three months investigating charges of graft and corruption against Earle and a group of his associates, spent all but $3.39 of a $50,000 appropriation, with $34,274 going for lawyers' fees. The committee's expense account was made public today.

A woman will head the department of state in the cabinet of Gov. James for the first time in Pennsylvania's history, it was reported. She is Miss Sophia M. R. O'Hara of Wilkes-Barre. The salary is $10,000 a year.

FUEL FOR THE FIRES

School Official Missing; Bare Fund Shortage

Discovery of an $8,981 shortage in the Hartland township school funds yesterday provided another strange chapter in the affairs of Daniel H. Desmond, former Woodstock postmaster who disappeared nearly two months ago.

When Desmond, who is 58 years old, was dismissed abruptly as postmaster last June, he could not understand it. There was no explanation. His term did not expire until 1940.

When Desmond left Woodstock last Nov. 15, there was more mystery, about where he went and how he traveled. Some of the gossips thought he was going to Washington to inquire about his postmastership. He told his family two friends were taking him to Chicago by auto to see about a job. Yet the North Western station master remembered selling him a railroad ticket for Chicago.

Son Gets Christmas Card.

Desmond's wife, Maude, revealed last night that she had been cheered at Christmas time by receipt of a card addressed to their younger son, Dan Jr. It was postmarked Santa Claus Ind., where thousands of cards are sent each holiday season for remailing. So Desmond could have been anywhere, but the message read: "Don't think too poorly of your old daddy yet." A $10 bill was inclosed.

Dan Desmond Jr. is 16 years old. The Desmonds have another son, Lyle, who is 27, and a daughter, Lucille, 22.

Before his appointment as postmaster, Desmond owned a farm in Hartland township, and he had been treasurer of the school district for twenty years. He continued in this nonpaying job after moving to Woodstock. It was in the funds of this district that the shortage was uncovered by auditors hired by the school trustees, Mrs. Mary Cooney and Timothy Nolan.

Early Books Are Found.

The auditors, from J. W. North & Co., 105 West Monroe street, reported they found books covering the years prior to 1934, when Desmond received a temporary appointment as postmaster. These books indicated there was $5,065 unaccounted for.

No records could be located for the succeeding years, but the auditors concluded through bank and county records that the shortage had grown to $8,981.83.

The school trustees, meeting at Hartland last night with the newly appointed treasurer, Richard Menzel, decided to put the matter in the hands of State's Attorney William Carroll of McHenry county.

HENRY'S WIFE CARRIES THE MONEY, AND LOOK WHAT HAPPENS TO HIM

If your wife sews your money up in her dress when you travel keep her on the other end of a string. Henry Henningsen of St. Paul, Minn., didn't when he and Mrs. Henningsen came here on their way to Florida. Here's what happened to him:

Since it wasn't train time he suggested that they leave the railway station for a steak house. She preferred a dainty sandwich shop. He went his way. She went hers. But it's a big town. They never met all Thursday. He would have spent the night in a hotel, but she had all the money, except what she gave him for his steak. So he slept at the police station.

Several times yesterday she came to the station, but it was always a moment after Henningsen, 69 years old, had gone out looking for her. Eventually the police persuaded him to come back and stay. Late yesterday the owner of a sandwich shop at 601 South Wells street telephoned to say Mrs. Henningsen was waiting for her husband there. Henningsen hurried over. The proprietor served them three decker heavenly delights —on the house.

Iowa Lovers Separated 50 Years Ago Are Wed

Maquoketa, Ia., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—A romance which faded half a century ago bloomed anew here this week when Mrs. Louise Dague Clark and Ira Edwards were married. She was 17 years old and Edwards 19 when his removal to South Dakota ended their courtship. The couple saw each other again for the first time in a half century last summer when he returned to Maquoketa for a visit. It is Mrs. Clark's third marriage and Mr. Edwards' second.

Farley Goes Nonpartisan with His Congratulations

Clarinda, Ia., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—Postmaster General Farley's famous system of remembering names and congratulating party members successful in elections went awry here. Max Shum, who took office Tuesday as Nodaway township constable, received a letter from Farley wishing him success in his new office. But Shum was elected on the Republican ticket.

What Part of Chicago? It's Milwaukee! $100 Fine

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—James Kosak, 25 years old, Brookfield, Ill., a truck driver, seemed muddled when a policeman stopped him at South 11th and West Mitchell streets. "What part of Chicago is this?" Kosak asked. He was fined $100 today for driving while drunk.

O, Those Bells! Somebody's at the Door Again

Mrs. C. W. Sues answered the back door bell and there were four truckers, carrying an electric refrigerator big enough for a hotel.

"Here's your refrigerator, ma'am," they puffed. "Just sign here."

"But I didn't order a refrigerator," she protested. Groaning, they carried the heavy machine back to their truck and drove away.

Next day a messenger boy appeared. He carried a cage containing two profane parrots. But Mrs. Sues hadn't ordered any parrots. Nor had Mr. Sues.

Then Pianos, Radios, Rugs.

Day after day the procession continued. Delivery men brought pianos, radios, rugs, and rompers. They tried to leave bicycles and sewing machines, carpet slippers, and oil paintings. The Sues home at 3234 Sunnyside avenue in Brookfield was a mecca for every delivery man in the western suburbs and on the west side of Chicago.

Even moving vans appeared, the drivers averring that they had an order to haul the Sues furniture to Oak Park.

Mrs. Sues was merely annoyed at first. Then she started listening for the bells. What was coming next, a tweed suit or a set of dishes? She became afraid of bells.

After four months Mr. and Mrs. Sues could stand it no longer and reported the delivery parade to the Brookfield police. "Deliver us from the delivery men," they said. The police quickly solved part of the mystery.

All Ordered C. O. D.

It's a racket, worked by a suave fellow who gives the name of G. R. Grimith or R. B. Henderson. He orders merchandise to be delivered C. O. D. to the Sues address. He then leaves the store, but pops back immediately.

"My wife, who was waiting in the car outside, has driven away and she has my money," he tells the merchant. "Could you let me have a dollar or two to get home on?" The merchant, gratified with the big order, sometimes comes up with $5.

The swindler's description? He's about 6 feet tall, has brown eyes, dark hair, and speaks in a soft southern drawl. He has bushy eyebrows, one slightly misplaced, and a mustache.

"Doesn't ring any bells with us," said the Brookfield criminal identification squad.

"Did you say Bells?" shrieked Mrs. Sues.

LAST OBJECTORS YIELD; PROBLEM NEAR SOLUTION

Only Minor Hurdles Remain Issues.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

The way was cleared yesterday for settlement of Chicago's twelve year old traction tangle when a plan for merging the surface lines and the elevated railways was accepted by the last of the major bond holders' groups.

The largest car lines bond holders' committee, headed by Albert W. Harris, chairman of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, voted to accept the modified Shaw plan for unifying the traction lines. All of the other surface lines groups and the elevated securities committees agreed on the plan last month.

The Harris committee, composed of Chicago and eastern financiers, met in Harris' office. It represents holders of a $41,700,000 first mortgage bond issue on the north side street car lines.

Notify Court Officer of Action.

After deciding to withdraw its objections to the plan, the committee immediately notified Walter A. Shaw, federal court examiner, of its action. Shaw is author of the merger plan. He was named a special court officer Dec. 15 by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson to work out a merger agreement that would get the traction companies out of receivership. Shaw is to make a report to the court on Jan. 20.

Yesterday's agreement climaxed a series of negotiations started by the companies more than three years ago at the request of Mayor Kelly. The mayor has insisted that the first requirement for granting a traction ordinance by the city must be a unification of the lines.

The last big step in traction settlement — negotiating a franchise — can be undertaken as soon as the merger plan has been submitted to individual securities holders for their approval. It is assumed this will be a formality, as the committees will recommend acceptance subject to the granting of a franchise.

Single Company Planned.

The merger plan now agreed to by the committees for all major groups provides for the formation of a single new company to acquire the properties of the elevated and surface lines through an exchange of securities.

The new company, it is proposed, will sell 45 million dollars in equipment certificates for cash to help finance a 110 million dollar modernization program. It will also issue $177,539,816 in bonds and preferred stock and 2,695,530 shares of common stock in exchange for existing securities.

Holders of $72,718,350 Surface Lines first mortgage bonds would get an equal amount of new bonds. Owners of $70,000,000 car lines junior securities would be given $62,821,466 preferred stock and 1,589,729 shares of new common stock. In exchange for $91,000,000 elevated bonds and stocks, the new company would give $7,000,000 new bonds, $35,000,000 preferred stock and 1,105,802 common shares.

Rebuked for Objections.

In announcing the action of his committee Harris said the group approved the plan only as it affected the securities holders represented by the committee. The Harris group had offered objections to the plan at the last court hearing. Judge Wilkerson had rebuked the committee for its attitude.

Harris said his group had objected because it did not want to appear to be favoring the plan in its entirety.

"It was understood that if we did not object," Harris said, "it would be considered that we had approved the whole plan. This we were unwilling to do, because we did not think it was equitable from the standpoint of the junior securities holders.

"Having been advised that the proposed distribution of securities was satisfactory to the junior groups and that no responsibility could be attached to our committee we accepted the plan."

His doubt of the feasibility of the plan because of the city's attitude, he explained, arose from the question as to whether the city would insist on such a large reduction in valuations and compensation payments to the city that the new company could not support the proposed capitalization.

TRIBUNE PRINTS THE FIRST NEWS PHOTO IN COLOR

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

THE TRIBUNE presents its readers today with a new accomplishment in its campaign to bring color printing to the newspaper page. This is the reproduction of a color photograph as illustration of a current news story.

The essence of this accomplishment is speed. If color is to illustrate the news, the color photo must be taken, photo engravings made, and stereotype plates from which the paper is printed manufactured in the few hours available between the news happening and the time the newspaper goes to press.

All Done in One Day.

That is what was done with the pictures of the new United States army uniform appearing on page 10. Photography, engraving, stereotyping, special press adjustments, were all accomplished in a single working day. THE TRIBUNE'S editors and technical experts feel, in view of yesterday's experience, that the process can be repeated as routine, whenever suitable color photo material in the news justifies it, within eight hours, and probably less time.

Eight hours is still a long time in a newspaper plant. But by way of comparison it should be remembered that for color printing in magazines, from two to three months commonly elapse between the time the illustrator or photographer starts work and the time the reader receives his copy, while even for four color advertising and illustration in THE TRIBUNE, ten days is the usual time limit.

How Speedup Was Achieved.

The present speedup was achieved by wiping out completely two important and complicated steps in photography and engraving. The nontechnical reader will understand what was done more easily if the former, slower process is described first.

The Tribune color studio uses a camera, compact enough to be carried easily, made by a European craftsman who was a genius at design, and like many such, was scoffed at by contemporaries until his invention's worth was proved by Tribune photographers. It takes color pictures with one exposure. A system of mirrors in its interior splits light received through the lens into three beams which pass through filters onto three photographic plates. Each filter reduces the light recorded on the plate to one of the three primary colors, red, yellow, or blue.

From the three negatives so obtained, a colored print is made. This is a delicate and complicated job, requiring the laying, one on top of the other, on a single background, of three layers of primary pigments deposited according to the values shown by the three negatives.

Then Engravers Go to Work.

This color print goes to the color engravers. Their first task is to separate the colors into their primary ingredients once more, preparing with a camera and color filters three negatives such as the camera has made,

MURPHY BEGINS U. S. INQUIRY ON RED ACTIVITIES

Dies Claims Victory for Committee.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's new attorney general, Frank Murphy, through the agency of the justice department, has started an investigation of alleged violations of criminal laws by communist, Nazi, and other organizations. This was revealed today by the President at a press conference.

Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.], chairman of the house committee investigating un-American activities, when apprised of this statement, said the investigation is "recognition of the fact that they are now taking seriously what they previously tried to laugh off."

"They thought they could ridicule our committee and our investigation," he continued, "but now it is proved by their own acts that they are finally recognizing the public sentiment against the situations brought out by our hearings."

Dies Asks for $150,000.

The chairman has asked for $150,000 to continue the committee investigation for two more years. He disclosed that he had personal assurances from 100 Democratic colleagues that they would vote to continue the investigation with adequate funds. With the 170 Republican votes expected to go solidly for continuance of the investigation which has traced communistic inroads into administration ranks, the special committee would have sufficient votes to override administration opposition.

Dies acknowledged that he had heard reports that a move might be made to hamstring the committee by voting an appropriation so small that it would be unable to carry on its work. He said he was certain that he had sufficient strength pledged to block such administration strategy.

Report Presidential Opposition.

It is no secret that President Roosevelt has advised his leaders that he does not want Dies to continue the inquiry, which was partly responsible for the Democratic defeat in the November election. It was reported that the leaders, who will not admit having received White House instructions, informed the President that it will be impossible to block continuance of the committee.

At his press conference Mr. Roosevelt, when questioned about his reported instructions to congressional leaders, said he was afraid that he would have to characterize the report, as he has had to characterize so many reports, as a newspaper story. It was recalled that Mr. Roosevelt somewhat similarly dismissed reports that he would name Harry L. Hopkins secretary of commerce and Murphy attorney general.

Dies Charges Made in Letter.

Mr. Roosevelt revealed that he had a letter from the attorney general in which Mr. Murphy reported his department has undertaken an investigation of alleged violations of criminal statutes charged by Representative Dies. In the report of his committee, Dies charged that communist, Nazi, Fascist, and other un-American organizations were violating federal laws which require them to register as agents of foreign powers.

The justice department began its investigation after Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, forwarded a request from Chairman Dies. Dies asked a federal investigation to determine whether the communist party, the German-American bund, and other organizations had violated federal laws by failing to register as agents of foreign principals.

Dies said that evidence before his committee "clearly showed that the communist party of the United States is an agent of the communist third international, which has its headquarters in Moscow."

Names Three Organizations.

The evidence also indicated, his letter added, that certain "front organizations of the communist party were agents of that party." He specifically named the League for Peace and Democracy, the International Labor Defense, and the Civil Liberties union.

Dies said other evidence indicated that the German-American bund represented Germany's Nazi party.

Dies suggested that, with the committee's testimony and evidence before it, the justice department should proceed immediately to obtain an indictment against the communist party for not registering as an agent of the communist third international.

The Dies committee was voted $25,000 for its investigation by the last congress with the specific understanding that government departments would lend it any aid needed. This aid was given, Dies said, as long as the committee investigated Fascism, but as soon as communistic activities began to be uncovered the committee became a target of abuse and government departments did nothing but throw stumbling blocks in its path.

Takes Slap at Committee.

Shortly before the November election President Roosevelt himself took a slap at the Dies committee by issuing a statement accusing the committee of an unfair political attack on Attorney General Murphy, then candidate for reëlection as governor of Michigan. Testimony before the committee charged Murphy with consorting with revolutionaries and contributing to the breakdown of civil authority by refusing to enforce an injunction against sitdown strikes in his state.

The presidential denunciation and a second, which came a few days later, failed to gag the committee until after the election. Two members of the committee, reportedly at the request of the White House, sought to postpone its inquiry until after election day. The committee, which consists of four Democrats and two Republicans, voted to continue the hearings by a vote of 4 to 2.

SENATOR LUCAS GETS TWO MAJOR COMMITTEE JOBS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—Scott W. Lucas, Democrat, new senator from Illinois, received two major committee assignments by action of the Democratic steering committee of the senate today. Lucas was assigned to the committee on agriculture and the committee on naval affairs.

Both agriculture and naval affairs are regarded as major committees and they will be especially important during the coming session because of President Roosevelt's national defense program and the widespread demands for modification of the New Deal's farm dictatorship law.

The committee assignment which produced most amusement was that of Sheridan [Ham and Eggs] Downey [D., Cal.] to the committee on banking and currency. Downey was elected on a "funny money" $30-every-Thursday old age pension platform.

HOUSE MEMBER TAKES OATH IN HOSPITAL ROOM

Philadelphia., Pa., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Representative George P. Darrow was sworn in today as a member of the 76th congress in his room at Naval hospital. He has been ill since his reëlection campaign last November, but expects to leave the hospital within two weeks. He will be 80 next month.

The veteran Republican observed the occasion by criticizing President Roosevelt. "The President," he said, "has not changed in any way his policy or theory that the prosperity of the country depends on a profligate, wasteful, political use of public funds."

The oath was administered by a Republican colleague, Representative William Ditter.

Christmas Eve Observed in Orthodox Church Rites

Thousands crowded the Holy Trinity Russian Orthodox Greek-Catholic cathedral at 1121 North Leavitt street last night for Christmas eve high mass. In the ritual of this church today is Christmas. The Rt. Rev. Bishop Leonty officiated and was assisted by the Rev. Sergius Snegireff. Among those taking part in the ceremonies was Prince Nicholas Galitzine, member of a Russian noble family and relative of the late czar. Prince Nicholas lives in Lake Forest at 920 North Church street.

DIES AFTER SHOOTING HIMSELF.

NEW ROOSEVELT NOMINEES FACE SENATE INQUIRY

No Rush to Confirm Is Exhibited.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—There were indications in the senate today that careful consideration will be given to the batch of nominations received yesterday from President Roosevelt. Committee members said they were mindful of the lesson learned in rushing through the confirmation of Senator Hugo L. Black for the Supreme court, without investigating the charge, later admitted, that he had been a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

A sub-committee of the judiciary committee will begin hearings tomorrow on the nomination of Felix Frankfurter, Harvard law professor, White House adviser and purveyor of New Deal legal talent, to be an associate justice of the Supreme court.

The commerce committee on Monday will begin consideration of the recess appointment of Harry L. Hopkins, former WPA administrator, as secretary of commerce.

Others Come Later.

No plans have been made for consideration of the other major nominations pending—Frank Murphy, defeated New Deal governor of Michigan, for attorney general of the United States, and James P. Pope, defeated New Deal yes man of Idaho, for the board of the Tennessee Valley authority.

Members of the sub-committee on the Frankfurter nomination, headed by Senator Matthew M. Neely [D., W. Va.], said they would hear all witnesses that wanted to be heard and did not expect to make a report to the full committee before late next week. So far, there has been no disposition to call Frankfurter before the committee.

Although the public comment on the nomination has been favorable, many conservative Democrats and Republicans have remained silent, refusing to commit themselves until hearing from the country. The conservatives were gratified by Prof. Frankfurter's refusal to indorse President Roosevelt's proposal to pack the Supreme court, but they have some misgivings about his theories of government by commission and constitutional amendment by judicial interpretation.

They also are somewhat concerned about his radical background as a defender, in the name of civil liberties, of Sacco and Vanzetti, Mooney and Billings, and the I. W. W. leaders deported from Bisbee, Ariz., during the world war.

Hopkins Faces Interrogation.

Senator Josiah W. Bailey [D., N. C.], who was named chairman of the commerce committee today, said the committee would begin action on the Hopkins appointment Monday. The nomination is expected to be referred to the standing subcommittee on nominations. Senator Bailey, who is ex-officio chairman of the subcommittee, and other members want to give Hopkins a curry-combing concerning the political activities of the WPA, which the Sheppard campaign expenditures committee condemned.

Hopkins announced today that he is seeking the advice of business leaders on the handling of his new job. Speaking at his first press conference since his appointment, Hopkins asserted that conferences have already started and will be continued until he has obtained a cross-section of American business opinion.

This action indicates that Hopkins is taking cognizance of the distrust business held of his appointment after gaining the title of spender in chief of the administration. It is also a desirable policy to smooth the way for his confirmation.

No Hurry on Murphy.

Senator Marvel M. Logan [D., Ky.], chairman of the judiciary subcommittee appointed to consider Murphy's appointment as attorney general, said that "We are going to be here a long time and there is no hurry about that matter." Murphy is to be subjected to a searching examination concerning his toleration of the C. I. O. sitdown strikes, which paralyzed the Michigan automobile industry in 1937.

Senator Ellison D. Smith [D., S. C.], chairman of the agriculture committee, said no plans had been made for consideration of former Senator Pope's nomination to a director of TVA. Senator H. Styles Bridges [R., N. H.] has served notice that he will challenge the nomination on the ground that there is no vacancy.

CONGRESS CHIEFS MOVE TO TIGHTEN RELIEF CONTROL

Seek Way to Prevent Discrimination.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Powerful members of congress made plain today that they mean to tighten congressional control of relief spending by laying down an iron clad formula for distribution of funds to the states.

While a house committee questioned WPA Administrator F. C. Harrington about the need for a proposed $875,000,000 appropriation to last until July 1, members of the senate unemployment committee agreed to attempt to earmark future funds so that there would be no discrimination among states.

Quick Action Favored.

Three members of this latter committee, Senators Bennett C. Clark [D., Mo.], James E. Murray [D., Mont.], and Carl A. Hatch [D., N. M.], said they favored putting a distribution formula in the emergency appropriation bill if one could be worked out in time.

In his request for the emergency fund yesterday, President Roosevelt observed that congress might want to change the method of distributing relief, but urged that this be postponed until the appropriations bill for the new fiscal year is considered later.

Although members of the senate committee pointed out that the relief formula was only in the discussion stage, some said they believed the committee could agree on a simple amendment in time to insert it in the emergency bill.

Committee to Weigh Plans.

Chairman James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.] said the committee would meet next week to consider suggestions.

Although congressional leaders expressed surprise at the size of the President's estimate of emergency relief needs, Harrington told reporters after appearing before the house committee that if the sum were trimmed to $500,000,000 there would have to be a drastic reduction in WPA personnel.

Harrington announced that the WPA was employing 3,075,000 persons on Dec. 31, compared with 3,112,000 the previous week, and predicted that the rolls would continue to decrease.

Mrs. Florence S. Kerr today began her duties as assistant WPA administrator in charge of the women's division. Mrs. Kerr formerly taught at Grinnell college, Grinnell, Ia.

Glory Faded, Two Oldest Fireboats Become Scows

Chicago's two oldest fireboats, the Graeme Stewart and the Illinois, were turned over to the department of public works yesterday for use as scows by the workmen along the river or lake front. The department purchased them for $4,500 after three sets of outside bids were too low to be accepted. Thirty years ago, they were the largest fireboats in the world, costing a total of $220,000. But recently they had cost more to operate than they were worth to the fire department.

RUBBER STAMP CONGRESS DEAD, SAYS SEN. BURKE

Predicts New Body Will Heed Wishes of Voters.

The 76th congress will not be stampeded by war hysteria into unlimited spending of public funds. It will heed the people's demand for peace in labor relations and efficiency in relief administration.

These predictions were made yesterday by Senator Edward R. Burke [D., Neb.] before the Executives' club at a luncheon in the Hotel Sherman. Senator Burke, often a foe of the New Deal, was cheered as he prophesized that the present congress will be guided by the wishes of the voters rather than by pressure from an executive burocracy.

Voters Serve Notice.

Speaking of the mandate laid down by the people in the last election, Senator Burke said:

"The election demonstrated that the country wants a legislative branch that will reach its own decisions. Alongside the requirement of an independent court the people have now served notice that they will choose their own legislators and will hold them responsible for drafting the legislation that is to embody the national policy.

"Congress will have in mind that the people at the last election spoke for peace with all the world. We do not propose to be carried off our feet by hysteria. We will arm, or rearm, yes, but always with the conviction that peace is possible and to be desired more than all else.

"Those who advocate the removal of all limits upon governmental spending, who argue that the government must become the general spender, who hold we can spend ourselves out of depression and into prosperity, are going to be stopped in their tracks by an aroused congress."

Assails Wagner Act.

Senator Burke said the Wagner labor relations act, as administered, brought a shocking increase in industrial warfare.

"The American people want peace in the industrial world," he continued. "Present policies, existing agencies of administration, have had their chance. They have brought, not peace in industry, but open warfare. The time has come for a change. Congress is prepared to take whatever action may appear best calculated to restore peace in industry. The people of this country have a definite conception of the relationship that ought to prevail between employés and employers.

In the last election the people most emphatically stated their opposition to the present methods of administering relief, Senator Burke declared.

"There is a general feeling that relief will never be satisfactorily administred by an all powerful agency set up at Washington. The temptations are too great in the way of favoritism for localities, sections, individuals, for political or other considerations apart from the one question of need.

"When congress and the country have had the opportunity to digest the comprehensive and startling report of the Sheppard committee on the mixing of relief and politics, the demand for remedial legislation will be irresistible. It will take the form, I believe, of a decentralization of the administration of relief."

GIMP SNYDER GIVEN 20 YEAR TERM FOR SHOOTING ALDERMAN

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—Martin [The Gimp] Snyder, former Chicago rialto figure, was sentenced today to serve not more than twenty years in prison for attempting to murder Myrl Alderman, who later succeeded him as the husband of Songstress Ruth Etting.

The sentence was imposed by Superior Judge Thomas Ambrose, after denying Snyder's plea for a new trial and overruling a motion that he be released on bond pending the outcome of an appeal.

Under California law the prison board will set a definite term for Snyder after he has served one year.

A jury which convicted the defendant on Dec. 22 of wounding Alderman, acquitted him of attempting to murder Miss Etting and his daughter by a previous marriage, Edith Snyder, 21 years old, who is Miss Etting's secretary.

Foresees Death, Dies; Police Study Mystery

Charles Martinkus, a janitor, called last Wednesday on his sister, Mrs. Kasimura Katausky, 6732 South Artesian avenue, whom he had not seen in seven years. "I'm sick, and I think I'm going to die," he told her. Mrs. Katausky had him sent to County hospital. Martinkus, who was 52 years old, died there yesterday. Police records show that he was found in a coma in an alley behind 345 East 61st street on New Year's night. There was a bruise on his head. His address is not known. Police were investigating the case last night.

BROKERS' POLICY ON ROOSEVELT'S LIFE IS REVEALED

Insurance Taken Out as Market Hedge.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—A $210,000 insurance policy, described as unique in American business history, was brought to light today in a board of tax appeals decision. The policy was taken out on the life of President Roosevelt in 1933 by a New York brokerage firm on the ground that his death would upset the market.

The tax board was called upon to determine whether the premium on the policy could be deducted from the taxable income of partners in the brokerage. The commissioner of internal revenue had ruled that the firm could not write off the $23,102 premium as a business expense.

Partner Brings Action.

The action before the board today was brought by Herman Goedel of New York, a partner in the firm, who deducted $1,211 from his taxable income as his share of the premium. The tax board ruled that he could not do so.

The policy, which provided for the payment of 60,000 British pounds sterling [the equivalent of $210,000 in 1933] in the event of the President's death, was issued May 16, 1933, to Jacquelin and De Coppet, New York brokers, by the Equity and Law Life Assurance Society of London.

Insuring the President's life as a protection against possible market losses in the event of his death was the idea of Edward C. Fiedler, a member of the firm, according to the board's decision.

Roosevelt Unaware of Policy.

The policy stated that its purpose was to protect the firm's investments. It waived medical examination and the answers to questions that could only be given by the insured, who knew nothing of the transaction.

"There was a general opinion in the minds of brokers, dealers, and the partners that there would be better conditions in the country and that market prices of securities would continue to rise," the board's decision said.

"One of the factors they considered in forming this opinion was that a new administration had come in and they believed that the President of the United States had been given great powers and that it would be a calamity if anything should happen to business at that time."

CARELESS MOTORIST UPSETS ESTABLISHED INSTITUTION OF WPA

In backing out of a parking lot at Cregier avenue and 70th street yesterday the automobile of Henry Smith, 5131 Ingleside avenue, knocked over a WPA shack in the middle of the street. It had been placed there for the convenience of workers on a street project. The accident might have passed unnoticed had not one of the laborers, Thomas Turner, colored, of 4922 Federal street, been inside. Turner escaped injury.

CANARY FANCIERS TO SEE RED WHEN NEW ONES ARRIVE

If you think all canaries are yellow, stick around the Brookfield zoo. The zoo soon may have some red ones.

Director Edward H. Bean yesterday announced the purchase of 110 finches and finch-like birds from an amateur collection in Los Angeles, Cal. The lot represents twenty-eight species, twelve of them never before shown at the zoo.

Included in the last group are five little hybrids. They are the result of an attempt to produce red canaries by mating red hooded siskins from South America with canaries. Director Bean says the babies have a pink hue in their present stage.

A LITTLE TIN BOX KEEPS SECRET OF WIDOW'S HOARD

Found a Fortune in It, Two Say; Kin Deny Story.

A pretty dark eyed young woman and her father peered inside a little tin box yesterday in the court of George A. Rooney, assistant to the probate judge. On April 15, the daughter said, she saw stacks of paper money in the box. On the contrary, testified her father, the box contained no money.

Mrs. Ima Chapman.

These witnesses were Mrs. D'Lores Chapman, 19 years old, and Duane S. Wright, real estate dealer at 1011 South 10th avenue, Maywood. He was named executor of the estate of Mrs. Frances Disbrow, 75 years old, who died April 13 in her home at 606 South 9th avenue, Maywood.

Mrs. Disbrow, widow of a Spanish-American war veteran, left her estate to a neighbor, Mrs. Edward M. Wright, mother of Duane. Mrs. Wright had aided Mrs. Disbrow before she obtained a war pension about twenty-five years ago.

Brother Seeks $75,000 Hoard.

Neighbors thought that Mrs. Disbrow was penniless except for her $30 a month pension. They were surprised when Wright filed an inventory listing her estate at $4,000. To their further amazement a brother of Mrs. Disbrow charged that she kept a fortune of between $50,000 and $75,000 in a tin box at home.

The brother, William Straling of Terminal Island, Cal., is seeking to set aside Mrs. Disbrow's will. Yesterday his attorney, Gilbert Volk, summoned as witnesses Mrs. Chapman and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Ima Mae Chapman, 7439 Randolph street, Forest Park.

Two days after Mrs. Disbrow's death Wright engaged his daughter and her mother-in-law to straighten up the old lady's house. Tucked under a discarded washstand in the basement the two women found the little tin box.

"I saw stacks of bills when we opened it," said young Mrs. Chapman. "There were $100 bills, fifties, twenties, tens, and fives. Then my father came in and took the box."

Woman Tells of $160 Gift.

She and her mother-in-law accompanied Wright to his home. There, Mrs. Ima Chapman testified, he dumped all the currency in her lap. Without counting it, she said, Wright gave each of the women $160.

"No, there was no currency in the box at all," said Wright in response to a question from Judge Rooney. "There was only $1,300 worth of postal savings and some old tax bills."

Wright declared he had given the women only $6 each for their work. He also denied his daughter's statement that she accompanied him to the Oak Park Trust and Savings bank, where he cashed large bills.

Seeking Support

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
MRS. EDNA THOMAS.

Mrs. Edna Karpen Thomas asked temporary alimony yesterday of her second husband, Gordon Thomas, an orchestra drummer. She is the former wife of Benjamin Karpen, furniture fortune heir, with whom she has engaged in numerous court battles over support money for their son, Robert, 15 years old.

Mrs. Thomas, who lives at 9016 East End avenue, is suing her present husband for divorce. His attorney, Daniel Covelli, said she was not entitled to alimony because she was receiving payments from Karpen. Her attorney, Frank Teed, said these were not alimony but support for the boy. Judge Philip J. Finnegan continued the entire matter after giving Thomas leave to file a cross bill.

CASHIER OF BANK VANISHES AFTER TRIP TO CHICAGO

Iowa Accounts Examined in Mystery.

Dewitt, Ia., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—Federal agents and Iowa state police tonight were searching for Harold J. Kriebs, cashier of the First National bank here, who has been missing since Tuesday night when he checked out of the Bismarck hotel in Chicago, presumably to return home.

Federal bank examiners were examining his accounts. George Myers, president of the bank, announced that should a shortage be disclosed there will be no loss on deposits, as officers and employés of the bank are bonded and deposits are protected by federal insurance. The bank remained open during the audit, which may not be completed until Monday.

Phones Wife and Vanishes.

The search for Kriebs was begun when his wife reported that he had not returned home after telephoning her from Chicago Monday night that he was leaving that city by train Tuesday night. She said he asked her to meet him at the station in Dewitt.

Alarmed when he did not arrive, Mrs. Kriebs telephoned the Chicago hotel and was informed that her husband had checked out Tuesday night after a two day stay. She expressed fear that he might have been robbed and slain or might be suffering from amnesia. She said he usually carried large sums of currency on business trips.

Cashier for Four Years.

Kriebs, who is 38 years old, has been cashier of the Dewitt bank for four years. He came here from a bank in Elkader, Ia. He has been active in civic affairs here and in 1937 was president of the Dewitt Community fund. He is the father of two sons, 15 and 10 years old.

The First National bank of Dewitt has an invested capital of $110,000, and has deposits amounting to $815,000, according to a Dec. 31 statement.

JOYCE PALMER.

Birch Thedford, 23 years old, 521 Aldine avenue, a soda clerk who refused to recognize his mother, brother and sister, was given a $200 suspended fine and placed on probation by Judge Frank M. Padden in the Automobile court yesterday. Thedford was arrested Dec. 30 during a quarrel with his brother, Wayne, near the La Salle street railroad station. Birch Thedford gave the name of Palmer and accused Wayne of stealing his car. When a sister, Joyce Palmer and a mother entered the quarrel, Birch denied knowing any of them. The police finally learned that the two brothers and the sister owned the car jointly and Birch admitted his identity. Birch was then charged with disorderly conduct.

GOVERNOR FREES MOONEY TODAY; IN PRISON 21 YEARS

San Quentin, Cal., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Thomas J. Mooney, who was brought to San Quentin twenty years ago to be hanged promptly for multiple murder in the San Francisco preparedness day bombing, spent what he believes is his last day in prison today. On Nov. 28, 1918, Gov. W. D. Stephen commuted Mooney's sentence to life imprisonment, following a plea from President Woodrow Wilson.

Thomas J. Mooney.

At dawn tomorrow Mooney will climb into an automobile, ride ninety miles to Sacramento, and, unless the unexpected occurs, will receive an unconditional pardon from California's newly-seated liberal Democratic governor, Culbert L. Olson, a believer in Mooney's innocence.

A brief hearing is planned to be followed by immediate freedom.

Exuberantly Mooney prepared for vindication and freedom. He spent most of the day receiving visitors and packing up to leave what he always has termed his "living tomb."

Trusty Prisoner Climbs Bridewell Wall, Escapes

Police hunted for Edward Gieniec last night. They also looked for the motive that prompted him to make his escape from the Bridewell early yesterday. He had only four months to serve of a two year sentence. Gieniec, a trusty 19 years old, was a night messenger. He drove a guard's car close to the wall near 29th street and California avenue, stood on the car, and lifted himself over the top. He was under sentence for an auto violation.

PENS A PICTURE OF LIFE'S MISERY, THEN KILLS SELF

A well dressed young man, who had removed all means of identification from his clothing, was found dead yesterday in a room in the Palmer House. Sergt. John Mulhern of the coroner's office said he had taken enough poison to kill twenty persons.

The man, about 30 years old, registered Tuesday as Harry A. Preston of New Orleans. Police believe the name was fictitious. He engaged an $8 a day room and had paid all of his $30 hotel bill. In his pocket was $2. He left a note which quoted from Henry Adams, the author. It indicated he may have come to Chicago for a final splurge before killing himself. The note read:

"King for a day, but the song is ended. The world is what Henry Adams called it, 'a picture of suffering, sorrow and death, plague, pestilence and famine, inundation, drouths and frosts, catastrophe, world wide cruelty, perversity, stupidity, uncertainty and insanity, virtue begetting vice, vice working for good, happiness without sense, selfishness wihout gain, misery without cause, and horrors undefined, with death as the impartial reward of all.' P. S.: Some toxicology student might be interested in me."

AUTOGIROS TO FLY MAIL FROM N. Y. TO PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—The possibility of direct air-mail service between the New York and Philadelphia postoffices, by means of autogiros, was held out today by Joseph F. Gallagher, Philadelphia postmaster, as he received the Graddick award for his activities in promoting National Air Mail week here last May.

Autogiro manufacturers have estimated that the intercity trip could be made in thirty-four minutes, according to Gallagher.

Bids now are being received for autogiro mail service between the Philadelphia postoffice roof and the central airport in Camden, or the Philadelphia municipal airport when it is completed.

CZECH-HUNGARY RIFT WIDENED BY BORDER BATTLE

Budapest Sends Protest; Charges Invasion.

BUDAPEST, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The Hungarian government tonight charged Czecho-Slovakia with invading Hungarian territory. The charge was made in a protest to Prague over a border battle in which machine guns, an armored car and even light artillery were said to have been used.

The fighting, which aggravated the smoldering Czech-Hungarian quarrel, broke out this morning in the neighborhood of Munkacs, a city of 30,000. Hungary acquired Munkacs on Nov. 2 when Italian-German arbiters awarded 4,875 square miles of Czech territory to Hungary.

Hungarian intelligence officers asserted they had evidence that Czecho-Slovak troops deliberately attacked Munkacs and the adjacent village of Orosveg, precipitating hostilities which were reported to have caused a dozen or more deaths.

Charges Two Companies Attacked.

A Czecho-Slovak army major had ordered two companies of the 36th Czecho-Slovak infantry regiment to attack Orosveg and Munkacs, the intelligence service charged.

Budapest warned in its message delivered to Czech officials that "the Hungarian government holds the Czecho-Slovak government responsible for loss of life and property damage incurred. Hungary is obliged to take steps to assure prevention of a repetition of such surprises."

Fighting was started at 3:40 a. m. [8:40 p. m. Thursday, C. S. T.] near Orosveg by Czecho-Slovak regulars and irregulars, and continued through the day, Hungarian sources said. Private advices tonight said a truce had been arranged by Czech and Hungarian officers.

Hotel Is Shelled.

Hungarians said the "invaders" began shelling Munkacs, striking first a hotel, a motion picture theater and the municipal theater, and directed intermittent fire into the residential district this afternoon. At 4 p. m. Hungarian military authorities asserted the attackers had been repulsed.

[The Czecho-Slovak version given in Prague was that Hungarian troops and "terrorists" provoked the clash and that it was on territory of the autonomous Czecho-Slovak province of Ruthenia (sub-Carpathian Russia) into which Hungarians were alleged to have crossed. Prague reported one Hungarian army officer was killed and several Czech gendarmes were wounded seriously.

[The Czecho-Slovak version said the fighting lasted eight hours. It was described as a local incident and a quick settlement was predicted. Munkacs formerly was in Ruthenia. The province juts east toward the soviet Russian Ukraine, with Poland on the east and north and Hungary and Rumania on the south.]

Reënforce Border Troops.

The border remained tense tonight, and reënforcements from many garrisons, including Budapest, left in the afternoon for various border points. Hungarian officers reported heavy concentrations of Czecho-Slovak troops east and west of Munkacs.

Some military leaders in Budapest were urging mobilization. The cabinet met for an hour, but the government was proceeding cautiously. It weighed the possibility of international complications.

The Czech-Hungarian border for some time has been one of Europe's uneasiest frontiers. Hungarians, wanting a common border with Poland, were dissatisfied with the Vienna award; Czecho-Slovakia and Germany both opposed giving Munkacs and another Ruthenian city, Ungvar, to Hungary.

Bands of irregulars have made raids on each side of the line, the press and radio have carried on propaganda for many factions, and the region has swarmed with agents representing various causes.

The question of responsibility is complicated by the fact that the border demarcation commission has not finished its work in the Munkacs region.

SLEEPING MEDICINE FATAL.

Leo McDonough, 35 years old, a chemist, died last night in the Henrotin hospital from the effects of an overdose of sleep inducing medicine. He was found unconscious in his room at 1019 North Dearborn street Wednesday by his landlady, Mrs. Katherine Davis.

Hitler and Beck Discuss Ukraine

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

The question of the Ukraine (shaded area) "will not be solved to Poland's detriment," Reichsfuehrer Hitler of Germany is reported to have assured Col. Joseph Beck, Polish foreign minister. Beck was said to be ready to discuss granting a strip of the Polish corridor to the Baltic sea (upper left) to connect East Prussia with Germany proper.

HITLER CALMS POLAND'S FEARS OVER UKRAINE

Wins Hearing for New Corridor Plan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 6.—Information available today on the discussions yesterday between Reichsfueher Hitler and Col. Josef Beck, Polish foreign minister, indicated the Ukrainian question was discussed at length. Political circles in Berlin believed Beck received reassurances that the "Ukrainian question will not be solved to Poland's detriment."

The Ukrainian problem, it is argued, is not yet ripe for solution, which now depends mainly on developments in soviet Russia. Hitler's desire to create an independent Ukraine, made up of Ukrainian territory now held by Poland, Russia, Rumania, and Czecho-Slovakia, has caused uneasiness in Poland.

Will Discuss New Corridor.

In return for the German reassurances on the Ukraine, Col. Beck was said to be willing to talk about establishing an extraterritorial corridor linking East Prussia with the rest of Germany.

This "corridor across the Polish corridor" would enable Germany to build a railway and a double lane motor road to East Prussia. Such a highway now is being built between German Silesia and former Austria across Czech territory.

Talks to Be Résumed.

Col. Beck, it was understood, raised no objections to Lithuania's granting autonomous rights to the Memel population "provided the Memel statute is not abolished."

[The Memel statute vests legislative powers in Memel in a chamber of representatives elected by Memel citizens in conformity with Lithuanian electoral law. Memel was German territory before the world war, but after the war was placed under Lithuanian rule, though it retained considerable au'-nomy.]

The Polish-German negotiations will be resumed on a broader basis when Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Col. Beck, Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, and Count Stephen Csaky, Hungarian foreign minister, meet in Bellye, Jugo-Slavia, on the invitation of Prime Minister Milan Stoyadinovitch. The meeting will take place on Jan. 19.

13 Women, 9 Men Jailed for Deriding Daladier

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

TUNIS, Jan. 6.—Twenty-two natives, including thirteen women, members of the "Destour" autonomist party, have been sentenced to from fifteen days to four months in prison for having tried to create a disturbance during Premier Edouard Daladier's visit. The women had posted themselves along Daladier's route and raised shouts when the premier and his party passed. The others wore armlets inscribed "Vive the Destour Party."

CHILD'S DEATH CALLED ACCIDENT.

A verdict of accident was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury in the death of Jo Ann Maxson, 4 years old, who was burned on Thursday in her home at 6835 Lafayette avenue when her dress caught fire from a gas range pilot light.

RAID BAR; FIND 7 GIRLS DANCING IN NUDE; JAIL 31

Twenty-one women and ten men were booked for appearance in Women's court Monday on an assortment of charges after a raid at 6 a. m. yesterday on Blondie's High Life Gardens, a tavern at 602 South State street. Blondie, who is Miss Helen Michaels, faces eight charges: keeping open after hours, soliciting drinks, permitting an indecent performance, gambling, failing to provide an unobstructed view from the outside, and failing to have cigaret, entertainment and food purveying licenses. Police said they found seven girls dancing in the nude, eleven hostesses soliciting drinks, and two other women running dice games.

Texan Becomes Admiral in Pennsylvania's Navy

Phliadelphia, Pa., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—Col. Carl L. Estes, Longview, Tex., publisher, has been made an admiral in Pennsylvania's nonexistent navy by Governor-Elect Arthur H. James and has received a uniform befitting his honorary office. Col. Estes was one of the Texas delegates who supported Franklin D. Roosevelt in the 1932 Democratic national convention, but he since has become an ardent New Deal foe. He served as confidential adviser to James in his gubernatorial campaign.

SWEDISH LABOR UNIONS CONSIDER BAN ON STRIKES

Unemployment Exchange Proposed in New Code.

BY MARTIN MARTELIUS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 6.—A new chapter in Swedish labor relations is about to be written with the opening of negotiations for a wider plan of collective bargaining by representatives of the workers' unions.

To maintain permanent industrial peace the unions have decided to establish an unemployment exchange, right of the third party in labor disputes, collective bargaining over wages, hours, and working conditions, limitation of strikes and boycotts, and machinery for settling disputes.

The negotiations will open a new era in industrial relations, declared J. S. Edstroem, who is chairman of the negotiating board and head of the employers' union of Sweden.

"As long ago as 1905," Edstroem said, "I had to negotiate with the workers on behalf of the employers. It was not very pleasing to meet the suspicious looks of the workers as I walked through the factories.

"After 1905 there was a period of hard struggle, which was ruinous for the individual as well as for society. It is, therefore, gratifying that today we are able to approach each other in an amicable fashion.

"We must remember that all of us are members of the same society and share similar responsibilities."

Bar Is Asked to Report on Conduct of 21 Judges

Members of the Chicago Bar association yesterday were asked to report on the conduct of twenty-one judges of the Circuit and Superior courts. These positions will be at stake in the June 5 election. Attorneys were given questionnaires covering such matters as the sitting judges' diligence, courtesy, court hours, ability, and integrity. Fourteen of the judges are Democrats.

REPORT FASCISTS SACK STATION ON FRENCH RAILWAY

Uprising Takes Place 125 Miles Within Ethiopia.

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Reports from Diredawa, Ethiopia, today said Fascists had sacked the station and manhandled employés of the French owned Djibouti-Addis Ababa railroad.

The coöperative store also was reported attacked and French signs torn down.

Diredawa, 125 miles within Ethiopia, is midway station on the railroad which has become one of the Franco-Italian bones of contention.

800 More Sharpshooters Sail.

MARSEILLES, France, Jan. 6.—(AP)—High army and naval officials reviewed 800 Senegalese sharpshooters boarding a steamer today for Djibouti, French port on the Gulf of Aden. This was the second contingent sent to reinforce the little colony within a week.

Chamberlain to See Daladier.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain made an announcement today generally regarded as a discreet notice to Premier Mussolini that he stood behind France on the matter of the Italian campaign for French territory.

Chamberlain disclosed he would have a two hour visit with Premier Daladier of France Tuesday during a stop in Paris on his way to Rome for conferences with Mussolini.

Ostensibly, the Paris stop is for "tea," but the tea will be served at the French foreign office and will be sipped by the British and French foreign ministers, Viscount Halifax and Georges Bonnet, as well as by the two premiers.

The Italian press suggested that Britain mediate the French-Italian dispute, but France on Dec. 29 informed Britain officially that she did not want Chamberlain to undertake this during the Rome visit, which will last from next Wednesday through Saturday.

Talk with Duce to be Short.

Though Chamberlain and Lord Halifax will be in Paris only two hours, it is estimated they will have as much time for political talk as Chamberlain will have with Mussolini during his entire stay in Rome.

Il Duce has arranged for Chamberlain to see Pope Pius on Friday. In addition, he has scheduled so many other engagements that it leaves little time for political discussion.

Informed quarters explain, however, that the British premier hopes to make a personal friend in Mussolini in the hope of influencing Italy's action, as he did during the September crisis when he prevailed upon Il Duce to confer with Chancellor Hitler.

"No More Sacrifices"—Daladier.

ALGIERS, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Premier Daladier ended his tour of France's North African defenses today with a declaration that France would make no more "sacrifices for peace."

At a banquet given by Algerian civil and military leaders to wind up the Mediterranean tour in which he inspected defenses in Corsica, Tunisia, and Algeria, Daladier said that he not only would refuse to cede an inch of French territory but that he "will not be fooled by judicial maneuvers."

This was interpreted as a refusal to give the Italian population of Tunisia rights which would permit them to rival the French in the protectorate.

The premier nodded his head firmly as aged Senator Roux Freysenning of Algiers said:

"The Italians should learn their lesson from your triumphant trip."

Fascists Denounce "Outrages."

ROME, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The Fascist press today published a resolution by Italians in Tunisia denouncing "outrages of recent days" and pledging "full and absolute devotion" to King Vittorio Emanuele and Premier Mussolini.

Il Popolo di Roma said the resolution was signed by representatives of Italian associations and institutes of Tunisia, French African protectorate, in behalf of the Italian population. It was presented to the consul general at Tunis with the request it be transmitted to Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano.

Il Popolo di Roma said the Italian consul general had delivered a "high protest" to the French resident general at Tunis for "indignities" suffered by Italians during the visit of Premier Daladier.

Crown Prince Frederik and Crown Princess Ingrid of Denmark.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—The President and Mrs. Roosevelt, it was announced today, have invited Crown Prince Frederik and Crown Princess Ingrid of Denmark to be their guests at Hyde Park for several days upon their arrival in this country late in April to attend the New York world's fair and make a cross-country tour. The invitation has been accepted. Similar invitations have been extended and accepted by King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain, Crown Prince Olaf and Crown Princess Martha of Norway, and Premier de Valera of Ireland.

Tighten Marriage Laws for Foreigners in France

PARIS, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Only those foreigners to whom the government grants a permit to reside in France for more than a year will be permitted to marry in France hereafter. This decree was published in the official journal today. Heretofore foreigners were permitted to marry on a simple visiting visa.

LOYALISTS TAKE 3 TOWNS; EXTEND SURPRISE DRIVE

Rebel Push Slowed Down in Northeastern Spain.

HENDAYE, France [At the Spanish Frontier], Jan. 6.—(AP)—The Spanish government reported tonight that its surprise offensive on the Estremadura front, in southwestern Spain, had shattered insurgent lines, and that the strategic town of Valsequillo had been recaptured.

Valsequillo, about 200 miles southwest of Madrid and fifty miles northwest of Cordoba, was lost by the government a few months ago. It is a strategic communications center, where a north-south trunk railroad crosses four highways.

Attack Swings Southward.

Shortly before midnight dispatches from Madrid said the almost equally important towns of Los Blasquez and La Granjuela, west and south of Valsequillo, were captured by the government. The attack now has swung to the south against Fuente Ovejuna, communications and manufacturing center of a rich mining area, these dispatches asserted.

Since yesterday government troops reported they had recaptured all the territory lost in an insurgent drive last July, and in addition had penetrated several miles behind the line from which the insurgents began that drive.

Despite reënforcements rushed in by the insurgents, said dispatches to the border, the government advance was spreading out fanlike along the border of Badajoz province. The insurgents' two main lines of trenches were reported to be in government hands for a distance of many miles on each side of Valsequillo.

Eastern Offensive Halted.

Loyalist forces apparently had succeeded, at least momentarily, in their objective of halting the insurgent campaign in Catalonia, at the opposite corner of the country. After hard won gains during the last thirteen days, the insurgents reported but little progress in the northeast. Dispatches from the headquarters of Gen. Francisco Franco, rebel commander in chief, emphasized the strength of the government army and the difficulty of the next phase of operations.

The government was reported moving up reënforcements to a new mountain defense line northwest of Borjas Blancas, which was captured by the insurgents yesterday. Military reports told of troop trains moving from the Madrid sector in central Spain to the coast, from where troops were shipped to Catalonia.

Dancer Held in Geneva as Spy Tries to End Life

GENEVA, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Virginia Rata Capi, Italian born dancer held here as leader of an international spy ring, attempted suicide in her prison cell today by slashing her wrists with broken glass, according to police. Doctors said she was improving.

HOMELESS, HUNGRY; GETS PROBATION.

Because he was homeless and hungry, John V. Zebbins won probation yesterday when he faced Judge Matthew Hartigan for drawing an unloaded revolver on Dr. Anthony Beckett, 1808 Milwaukee avenue.

FRANCO'S AGENT LIKENS HIM TO U. S. LIBERATORS

Generalissimo Francisco Franco, Spanish rebel leader, was compared yesterday to George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. His insurgent followers were likened to the American colonists, and the Spanish civil war was described as a fight against tyranny, comparable to the American revolution.

The speaker, before the Council on Foreign Relations at a luncheon in the Palmer House, was Juan Francisco de Cardenas. Now Franco's agent in the United States, he formerly was ambassador of the Spanish republic to Washington. Laughter and jeering mingled with the light applause which greeted his defense of the rebel forces in Spain.

ALL TRANSPORTATION FARES IN LONDON AREA WILL BE INCREASED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Transportation companies tonight announced that all fares for the London area on railways, subways, street cars, and trolley buses will be increased 5 per cent. The London passenger transport board—semi-publicly owned—which operates all but the railways, announced the need for an additional $3,000,000 in annual revenue to meet dividend obligations. Competing railways within London are to make a proportionate increase which will bring the fares up to those in other parts of the country. The railway rates tribunal, which will hear the application for the increase, is expected to approve the request.

OWNERS OF PARIS MOVIE THEATERS END TAX STRIKE

PARIS, Jan. 6.—(AP)—A strike of Paris movie house owners against a new municipal tax ended today when they accepted a government compromise. The owners, who kept their theaters dark for two days, will reopen them tomorrow. The agreement called for a committee to determine the effect of the new tax, which averages 9 per cent on receipts. The tax will be held in abeyance for ten days until the committee reports.

Blizzards and Cold Take Lives of 32 in Anatolia

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Intense cold and blizzards in remote sections of Anatolia [Asiatic Turkey] have taken thirty-two lives.

Nazis, Short of Labor, Find Work for Deaf on Roads

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 6.—In an effort to combat Germany's shortage of labor, eighteen deaf mutes are being employed in the construction of new highways. Overseers found that when the deaf workers labored in a group they accomplished as much as normal persons. Heretofore the working capacity of a deaf mute was rated at 40 per cent that of other workers.

JAPAN RESENTS PRESIDENT'S RAP AT AGGRESSORS

Fears Britain Will Use U. S. as Cat's-paw.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 6.—The Japanese government, which resumed activities today for the first time since the New Year holidays, withheld all comment on the United States' protest of Dec. 31 which flatly denied the Japanese contention of a "new order" in China. The government also made no statement on President Roosevelt's annual message to congress in which he criticized aggressor nations.

It was evident, however, that Tokio was displeased with both the note and the President's message. Tatsuo Kawai, foreign office spokesman, said that whether Japan will reply to the American note hardly can be indicated yet.

Regarding President Roosevelt's message, he asserted it is not necessary to say anything. The President's criticism of aggressor nations came as no surprise to Japan, which has been expecting strong action from Washington, D. C.

Fear Britain will Use U. S.

Influential quarters in Tokio predicted that a greater effort will be made by the British to win American support both in Europe and Asia. As far as Asia is concerned, Japan is convinced that Britain is attempting to make the United States a cat's-paw to aid British interests. There is increasing apprehension, in the light of the recent attitude and actions of Washington, that Britain may succeed.

The Japanese government handed a note to Joseph C. Grew, United States ambassador, replying to a protest over the bombing of property owned by Americans in China. The reply was not made public, but Kawai said Japan took the responsibility in some cases. In other instances which took place outside occupied areas, where investigation is difficult, new investigations were promised, he said.

Predicts Friction with U. S.

TOKIO, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Increased friction between the United States and Japan as a result of President Roosevelt's annual message to congress and the big American arms program was predicted today by the influential newspaper Tokio Asahi.

"The Japanese believe that Japan is one of the targets" of United States preparedness plans, the Asahi said.

"The United States turns from good neighborliness to antagonism toward the totalitarian states," the paper continued.

Chinese Make Counterdrives.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 7 [Saturday].—(AP)—Chinese reported today their forces had launched a series of counter-attacks against Japanese attempting to cross the Yellow river into Shensi province in northern China from Shansi province bases. Chinese asserted they had recaptured Tan[illegible], former Chinese Shansi province h[illegible] quarters, and frustrated several Japanese efforts to reach the west bank of the stream.

AUSTRALIA HEAD RESENTS BLASTS AT DICTATORS

Chamberlain Finds Self "in Tight Spot."

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Dispatches from Melbourne, Australia, today indicate, perhaps with some significance, that Premier J. A. Lyons disagrees with President Roosevelt about the expediency of making furious attacks on the dictators.

Premier Lyons, it is reported, rebuked H. G. Wells, noted historian and author who now is visiting in Australia, for his disparaging remarks about European dictators.

"Personal insults to leaders of one nation by the citizens of another are deplorable," Lyons told Wells.

Puts Chamberlain in Tight Spot.

These views of one of the dominion premiers get wide newspaper display here tonight along with other items indicating that President Roosevelt's message to congress ostensibly has put Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain on a hot spot just before his visit to Rome.

The unusual message which Chamberlain issued last night contradicting some other recent expressions of policy which he has made was more or less forced on him by prudence, according to diplomatic circles tonight, for what President Roosevelt said does not jibe with Chamberlain's idea of appeasement with the dictators.

Upsets Bargaining Scheme.

The idea is expressed here that Mr. Roosevelt's implied threat to lift the Spanish embargo now spikes any possibility that Chamberlain can talk of belligerent rights for rebel Generalissimo Francisco Franco with Premier Mussolini, and in fact spoils the subject for Chamberlain even as a bargaining point. Maybe that is what Chamberlain desired.

Diplomats here surmised that Chamberlain expressed his approval of the Roosevelt message without enthusiasm but felt forced to do so because of the necessity of handling America with gloves now that the pound has dropped down to around $4.60 and there is talk of exchange control in the financial district of London.

This drop either is going to be bad for Britain or else it is something agreed upon, perhaps, while the Anglo-American trade pact was being negotiated. A low pound will enable the British to export heavily into the American market with manufactured goods while on the other hand the British won't be able to buy much western produce from the United States with it.

Whatever the fact is, it appears that much is taking place across the Atlantic these days and that President Roosevelt, in the opinion of most observers here, has, under British tutelage, taken a run and jump into European affairs.

Norman Visits Berlin.

The visit of Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, to Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, in Berlin, also is arousing much concern here. The visit tonight is said to be to examine a scheme whereby Britain would make a deal with Germany about central European export trade, the British advancing the capital.

At any rate, Norman's visit will be followed at the end of January by a visit of a delegation of British business men to Germany to see what can be done.

CHINA'S PROVISIONAL CAPITAL IN A FOG; GOVERNMENT TO MOVE

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

KWEILIN, China, Jan. 6.—Early transfer of the civil branches of the Chinese government to Chengtu, capital of Szechwan province, southwestern China, was expected in political circles today.

The unfavorable climate of Chungking, present provisional capital, which has heavy fogs from November to March, was said to have been a factor in the decision to shift farther west.

Arrow locates probable new seat of China's government.

Chengtu, at one time the imperial capital, lies in the verdant mid-Szechwan plain. It has a good climate and attractive surroundings. Chengtu is 175 miles northwest of Chungking, which is 1,400 miles from the mouth of the Yangtze river. Chengtu cannot be bombed easily because of its great distance from Japanese bases.

MUNITIONS FOR 2 MORE YEARS NOW IN CHINA'S HANDS

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

KWEILIN, China, Jan. 6.—China has sufficient munitions stored to last two years and does not fear a shortage of essential war supplies, Gen. Pai Chung-kai said today. He is deputy chief of the Chinese general staf and commander of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek's headquarters in this town of southern China. Gen. Pai expressed confidence in China's ultimate victory in the war against Japan. He predicted that China would outlast Japan militarily and economically. The American and British tendency to support China—shown by recent credit grants—eventually will lead to the application of sanctions [penalties] against Japan, he believes.

CHARLES F. NEWKIRK BURIED.

Fairland, Ill., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—Funeral services were held today near Broadlands for Charles F. Newkirk, 93 years old, oldest retired farmer in Champaign county, who died Wednesday. Born in Germany, he came to America in 1882.

LEGAL TANGLES DELAY COLONIST EJECTION ACTION

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Legal moves today continued to hold up the government's ejection proceedings against Walter Pippel, Matanuska colonist. His attorney, Warren N. Cuddy, said he doubted the trial would get under way this month.

Cuddy demurred to the suit of the Alaska Rural Rehabilitation corporation against Pippel, on grounds it had failed to comply with the Alaska statute requiring it declare and prove it had paid the territorial corporation tax.

Judge Simon Hellenthal took the case under advisement and has not ruled.

The corporation, representing the Matanuska colony, contends Pippel, one of the most successful colonists, now refuses to take part in its co-operative marketing arrangements and wants to "be on his own." Fellow colonists credit him with making $11,000 in two years.

TIDES HAMMER PASSENGER SHIP; 15 ARE INJURED

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Fifteen passengers on the Honolulu bound steamship Lurline suffered minor injuries at sea, and high tides, hammering the Pacific coast along a 300 mile front from Santa Barbara south to San Diego, caused heavy damage today.

The Lurline passengers were injured yesterday shortly after the boat left San Francisco bay, when 50 foot waves crashed over B deck.

Most serious damage was reported southeast of Long Beach at Alamitos peninsula, where three seaside homes were destroyed and a score or more others were damaged.

WOMAN HANGS HERSELF.

Pana, Ill., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—Miss Frances Funk, 54 years old, ended her life yesterday by hanging herself with a rope tied to a rafter in her home near here.

BRITISH JOBLESS CHAIN SELVES TO HOME OF MINISTER OF LABOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 6.—With a heavy increase in the number of unemployed in Great Britain indicated in figures just announced, demonstrations by the jobless today took the novel form of men chaining themselves to the iron railing of the London house of Ernest Brown, Britain's labor minister.

They remained for more than an hour while a large crowd assembled and other jobless paraded with signs reading: "Release us from hunger." A squad of police arrived later with hacksaws, cut the chains and arrested the demonstrators. Other members of the National Unemployed Workers' organization presented a petition to the labor minister asking for increased winter relief.

Demonstrations of unemployed also were reported from Brighton and other cities. The number of unemployed in the country is officially estimated at around 1,800,000.

Arthur T. McIntosh, Realty Concern Head, in Hospital

Arthur T. McIntosh, president of the real estate company which bears his name, is in Michael Reese hospital for treatment of a minor stomach ailment. His physician, Dr. Milton Portis, said yesterday that Mr. McIntosh would remain in the hospital for a few weeks and that his condition was not serious. Mr. McIntosh, who is 61 years old, lives at 521 Roslyn road, Kenilworth.

Earthquake Rocks Parts of Northwestern India

LAHORE, India, Jan. 6.—(AP)—An earthquake of considerable intensity today rocked parts of British Baluchistan, northwestern India. No loss of life was reported.

2 BANDITS STEAL TAXICAB; ROB 3; SEIZED IN CHASE

Two young colored bandits stole a taxicab and drove south on a holdup tour last night. They pitched out the driver, Theodore Fischer, colored, at 37th street and Langley avenue after taking $1.25. They then visited the filling station at 9963 Commercial avenue and gave the owner, Eric Piecul, a ride to 112th street and Green Bay avenue, where they robbed him of $10 and threw him out. Then they went north to 100th street and Avenue L, where Earl Gant has a filling station. Into the cab went Gant. Four blocks north, at 96th street and Avenue L, he was let out after surrendering $16. Sergt. William Brown and his detective bureau squad, answering a radio alarm, curbed the bandits at Stony Island avenue and 95th street. They said they were Nathaniel Chapman, 18 years old, 4355 Vincennes avenue, and Elize Wilson, 18, of 4847 Langley avenue.

SLAIN DEFENDING RAJAH'S PALACE FROM INDIAN MOB

CUTTACK, India, Jan. 6.—(AP)—A mob carrying staves beat to death Maj. Reginald Louis Bazalgette, political agent of Orissa province, when he attempted to halt its march today on the palace of the rajah of Ranpur.

An Indian officer was injured seriously. The trouble followed the arrest of several members of Praj Mandal, banned political organization, which demanded increased participation by the people in the government.

Bazalgette fired upon the demonstrators when they refused to disperse, British reported, and killed two of them.

BIRTHDAY FETE TO START GREEN'S MAYORAL DRIVE

Young G. O. P. Planning Big Reception Monday.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Young Republicans from every ward in Chicago will attend Dwight H. Green's birthday reception Monday which will mark the formal opening of his campaign for the Republican nomination for mayor. Green will be 42 years old. Green, former United States district attorney who prosecuted Al Capone, will launch his speaking series at 9:30 that night in a radio broadcast. The Young Republicans, men and women, will present Green with an American flag. It will be placed in the candidate's office in the La Salle hotel campaign headquarters.

Served Flag Well.

"We are presenting the flag because Mr. Green served it so well," said James Economos, 42d ward representative of the Cook County Young Republican club. "As a world war aviator he courageously and honorably served this flag. The same traits were demonstrated when he later became United States district attorney. Green is the type of leader we Young Republicans have been waiting for."

Thousands of persons are expected to attend the open house that will be held on Green's birthday. Several hundred women have notified Mrs. Mabel B. Krutckoff, chairman of the women's division of the county central committee, that they will be there. They will give Green a bronze elephant for his desk, and a large cake with 42 candles.

Reception in Afternoon.

The reception will be held from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon. In the receiving line will be the mayoralty candidate; Charles B. Goodspeed, treasurer of the Republican national committee; Mrs. Bertha Bauer, national committeewoman; Charles S. Dewey, recent candidate for congress in the 9th district who withdrew from the present race in favor of Green, and Ferre C. Watkins, manager of Green's campaign.

Among the representatives of the Young Republicans' organization will be Maurice L. Cowen, state president; Joseph Marks, county secretary; Francis Florsheim, state vice president, and Velda Metcalfe, junior national committeewoman.

Last night Green attended another workers' meeting at 2236 Lake street in the 28th ward, where 350 people jammed the hall, filling it to capacity.

WEALTHY FATHER HAS PLAYBOY SON JAILED FOR THEFT

Lets Him Go to Cell to Think Over Deed.

New York, Jan. 6.—[Special.]—Despairing because his son squandered money on horses and women, a wealthy father today permitted the young man to be sent to the Tombs city prison to ponder a grand larceny charge.

The father is Edward G. Acheson, son of Dr. Edward Goodrich Acheson, noted scientist who died in 1931. The son, Richard M. Acheson, is awaiting a hearing on a charge of stealing two pawn tickets from a safe in his father's office.

Father Explains Problem.

Several weeks ago the elder Acheson called at a police station and asked that his son be arrested for stealing the tickets. He told authorities Richard is one of three sons, each of whom is beneficiary of a trust fund set up by their grandfather. He said Richard had an income of $200 a month from the fund and that he gave his son money from time to time.

"But now I'm tired of getting him out of scrapes," the father said. "He's been losing money on horses and he's spending more than he can afford on women. Finally he took these pawn tickets from my safe."

The father explained he had pawned a diamond pin and gold cigaret case for safe keeping. He said Richard took the tickets, redeemed one of the articles, and sold it.

Stare at Each Other in Court.

Richard, who looks even younger than 24, and his father, who looks years older than 52, stared at each other in court today but did not exchange greetings.

Richard told Magistrate Harry G. Andrews he was willing to work if he could find a job. The magistrate suggested that the case be postponed until next Wednesday.

"Meanwhile," he said, "you will remain in the Tombs. I will set bail at $1,500. You can't make that bail unless your father puts up the money, so you'll have some time to think it over."

Richard said nothing as detectives led him away.

U. S. ATTORNEY MUST WIN CASE OR FACE JAIL!

Fate Hangs on Ruling on Smuggler's Immunity.

New York, Jan. 6.—[Special.]—If Albert Chaperau's claim to diplomatic immunity from arrest is upheld, Assistant United States Attorney Joseph Delaney will face a possible term of three years in prison under an old federal statute as a "disturber of the public repose."

Federal Judge Murray Hulbert will rule Monday on whether Chaperau, who is under indictment on a charge of smuggling, is a full fledged Nicaraguan commercial attaché. Chaperau is accused of smuggling in gifts for American celebrities.

Section 253, title 22 of the United States code is the basis for such a possibility, it was said today. It provides for punishing persons who cause the arrest of accredited diplomatic agents of countries having immunity treaties with the United States.

If Chaperau is found to enjoy that diplomatic immunity, Delaney, who caused his arrest, will be in violation of a law over which foreign nations have grown exceedingly touchy.

Under such a decision Chaperau would be released and the United States would ask Nicaragua to recall her commercial attaché. This would follow, despite the fact that Chaperau has come as near pleading guilty as possible to the four count conspiracy and smuggling indictment against him and Mrs. Elma N. Lauer, wife of State Supreme Court Justice Edgar J. Lauer.

Mrs. Lauer entered a plea of guilty last week. Chaperau admitted the facts in the indictment and rested his defense on the question of diplomatic immunity.

Questions Right to Immunity.

Delaney, who went into the whole question, including the phases of it covered by Nicaraguan law, before he ordered the arrest of Chaperau, is willing to concede that the defendant carried a passport signed by Noel Ernesto Pallais, Nicaraguan consul general in New York and brother-in-law of the president of that small republic. It is further conceded that Chaperau did have an appointment from Pallais making him a commercial attaché.

The prosecution, however, insisted that only members of the embassy of a foreign government have diplomatic immunity from arrest. This ambassadorial or ministerial household includes commercial attachés properly appointed, but it does not include consular officials who are merely commercial representatives.

ASK RESIGNATION OF BAY STATE'S EDUCATION CHIEF

Boston, Mass., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Gov. Leverett Saltonstall on his second day in office today demanded the resignation of Education Commissioner James G. Reardon. Reardon's answer was a terse refusal. The Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers' Associations then filed charges with the governor that Reardon had "connived" in the awarding of hurricane repair contracts for "wholly unnecessary work," and the same group obtained temporary court orders restraining the payment of any of the education department awards.

DAVEY PARDONS SUPPORTER WHO FACED JAIL TERM

Columbus, O., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Ivan R. Ault, Ohio highway director convicted of violating civil service laws in soliciting state employés for contributions to the unsuccessful primary campaign of Gov. Martin L. Davey, received a full pardon today from Davey, whose term expires next Monday. Ault, convicted Wednesday, was fined $300 and given a suspended sixty day jail term. Seventeen other Davey supporters are under indictment on similar charges. In granting the pardon Davey said the law prohibiting solicitation of contributions from civil service workers had been violated for many years by both political parties and that it "has been a dead letter" from its enactment.

JAN. 30 DEADLINE TO REGISTER FOR MAYORALTY VOTE

Chicagoans who want to vote in the mayoralty primary and aldermanic elections on Feb. 28 and who are not now registered must register in person at the offices of the board of election commissioners in the city hall before Jan. 30, John S. Rusch, chief clerk, announced yesterday. There will be no registration in the precincts for this election. Board offices will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on week days, and from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Saturdays. Persons who have moved since registering may correct the record by postcard or letter.

Slayer of Wife Indicted; Sanity Hearing Planned

Gordon T. Cox, who shot and killed his wife, Grace, and then wounded himself in their apartment at 1721 East 86th street on Dec. 27, was indicted on a charge of murder by the grand jury yesterday. Cox is recovering in Bridewell hospital. Assistant State's Attorney Francis McCurrie said the state will probably seek a sanity hearing for Cox.

Dentist Hangs Himself with Belt in His Office

Dr. Herman A. Steinberg, a dentist, hanged himself with his belt in his office at 3958 Fullerton avenue yesterday. Relatives told the police he had been in ill health and had suffered financial losses. He was 44 years old and lived at 2257 Cortez street.

POLICE RECOVER 'YOUNG THIEVES' LOOT IN SEWER

Four young burglars seized by the Rogers Park police on Thursday were questioned at the state's attorney's office yesterday on recent north side automobile thefts. Then they were returned to the lockup to await a hearing in Boys' court on Monday.

Sergt. Thomas Kelly uncovered $250 worth of jewelry, part of the gang's loot, when he had the city sewer department clean a sewer at Catalpa and Winthrop avenues. In the muck, where the youths had thrown it, were rings and watches taken from the home of Guy Giles, 5847 Kenmore avenue.

Members of the gang are Harry Klopotic, 17 years old, 5937 Broadway, the leader; James Mangos, 17, of 5941 Broadway; Oscar Piesens, 16, of 1401 Elmdale avenue, and Albert Miklautsch, 15, of 5820 Broadway. Francis Gavin, 14, of 5630 Ridge avenue, who accompanied the gang a time or two, but did not take part in the crimes, was sent to the Juvenile home. Robert Greenberg, 15, of 1266 Victoria street, another occasional companion of the gang, was turned over to his parents.

STOLEN BLACK JACKET TRAPS TOY GUN ROBBER

The alertness of Sergt. John Kirby and Detective Thomas Brennan of the Chicago Lawn station led to the arrest last night of a toy gun bandit, who had held up three couples since Wednesday. He is Buster Tate, 27 years old, 3449 Indiana avenue, colored.

On Wednesday night he held up Leo Skvarla, 3902 West 58th place, and Miss Georgiana Misch, 6522 South California avenue, at 68th street and Keeler avenue. Part of his loot was a black lether jacket taken from Skvarla. This trapped him. Last night he held up two other couples on the south side. His victims in both cases said he was wearing a black lether jacket.

Sergt. Kirby and Detective Brennan began a search and saw Tate standing in a 63d street car. He wore a black lether jacket. The policemen raced ahead of the car and boarded it at California avenue. They nabbed Tate. He carried a toy pistol and several watches taken from the couples robbed. He confessed.

QUESTION THREE IN WEDDING EVE SLAYING IN OHIO

Marysville, O., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Prosecutor William J. Porter reported tonight that three men were held in jail here for questioning in the "wedding eve" slaying of Clark S. Hayes, 28 years old, grocery employé of nearby Summersville.

An attempt to break into the morgue where Hayes' body lies was reported earlier in the day. Sherif Homer Roosa theorized that the intruder might have sought to steal the body or the new copper wire with which it was bound when found in a stone quarry pond. A milk can full of stones weighted down the body. He said the wire was in the courthouse safe.

Hayes, who was to have been married Wednesday to Miss Iletha Morrow, 26, disappeared Tuesday night while making deliveries for the store where both were employed.

BUDGETS AND LIBERTIES.

Mr. Roosevelt's denunciation of the dictators was balanced by the high compliment he paid them in his message.

They have succeeded where we have failed, he confessed. "However we abhor their methods," he said, "we are compelled to admit that they have obtained substantial utilization of all their material and human resources. Like it or not, they have solved, for a time at least, the problem of idle men and idle capital."

Mr. Roosevelt went on to say that if our government will only spend enough money and run up a big enough deficit we can achieve the same result here "within the bill of rights and within the bounds of what is, from our point of view, civilization itself."

This generation is not likely to find a better example of wishful thinking. He wants to spend money in fantastic amounts and he concludes that such expenditures must create the prosperity he desires. The fact is that 20 billion dollars of deficits have left the country with its 10 million unemployed and there is no particular reason to expect that adding another 20 billion to the national debt will have a more favorable result.

Worse still, Mr. Roosevelt wishes and therefore believes that his policy of extravagance does not menace the liberties guaranteed in the constitution to the American people. In fact the risk is enormous, as a moment's unbiased reflection would have taught him. The brutalities of the totalitarian governments may be explained only in part as the product of the brutal impulses of the dictators. The denial of all human liberties in those countries has been forced upon the dictators precisely by the fiscal policies which they have pursued and which Mr. Roosevelt admires. No matter how well disposed the dictators might have been, they would have been obliged by circumstances which they had created to do the things which all decent men abhor.

Because of unsound fiscal policies Mussolini, Stalin, and Hitler have had to control every individual and every aspect of the economic life of their countries. To avert the chaos of inflation the dictators have been forced to fix wages and the prices of the things people buy. They have been obliged to ration raw materials, restrict imports, and regulate exports. They have kept the wage level down by forbidding men on pain of starvation from accepting better jobs. The dictators are not looking for trouble. They adopted these unpopular policies reluctantly, out of the necessity created by excessive government expenditures.

Not one of these policies could have been made operative without the use of force and without the denial of the liberties which the German and Italian constitutions formerly guaranteed their people. To keep wages down it was necessary to destroy trade unions and the right of workingmen to meet and to press their demands upon employers and the government. To keep prices down it was necessary to adopt similar measures against all business men. Inevitably the free press was destroyed, because it would have encouraged opposition, and equally inevitably the courts were perverted into instruments of injustice. Freedom of worship was likewise denied because the churches might have offered a rallying point for protest in the name of religion and humanity. Concentration camps and the firing squad persuaded men to conform against their wills.

Our country is rich, but even the richest can spend themselves into bankruptcy. Individual liberty cannot survive in a bankrupt country. Faced with the choice between economic chaos and the sacrifice of liberty, the great majority of the people will prefer the latter. In the end excessive expenditure leads to totalitarian government and all its degradations. That is the road which Mr. Roosevelt smilingly invites the American people to take.

CRIME NEWS.

In the Voice of the People today we include a letter from one of our readers which raises a question of interest to every responsible newspaper and to every thoughtful citizen. The writer, Mr. Raymond B. Linsley, president of the First National Bank of Three Rivers, Michigan, compliments THE TRIBUNE on the first page of its Christmas edition and expresses his gratification at not finding "a lot of murders and similar stories covering the front page."

He recognizes that newspapers are expected to publish news which most people want to read and regrets that crime news is in that category, but we think he exaggerates the facts. No doubt a great deal of space is given to report of crime and reputable editors wish there were a good deal less of it to report. But a survey of THE TRIBUNE front page from Oct. 1 to Dec. 31 last year shows the percentage of front page space given to crimes of violence was 9.6. Foreign news, politics, Washington dispatches, and humorous features represent more than 50 per cent. Seventy-five per cent of the 8 column lines have been on subjects other than crimes.

This does not support the charge that important newspapers are covering their front pages with crime news. That impression is given no doubt by the fact that crime is inherently a sensational fact and always will be, we hope, for it is not a sign of civilization to be indifferent to crime, especially to crimes of violence. Crime is one of the most momentous facts of human socicty. Its restraint has been one of the chief purposes of government. Its prevention and cure are one of the most important problems of civilized order. It is one of the most universal of human interests, and rightly so, for it strikes deep into human nature. We doubt that crime fills a larger space in the pages of newspapers than in standard literature, if as large.

It is in fact a duty of the press to publish important events, and any crime of violence is important, and it is significant that those on whom is imposed the duty of dealing with the criminal and protecting the public from him find in the press an important and almost essential aid.

It is charged that newspapers sometimes make heroes of criminals. This is not true. On the other hand, the publicity given to punishment, to the truth that the way of the transgressor is hard, must be an important influence for good.

"PARTISANSHIP IS TO BE EXPECTED."

James M. Landis retired from his post as chairman of the Securities and Exchange commission to become dean of the Harvard law school. As dean of this school he is one of the two or three men in this country who, by virtue of their academic positions, are looked to for leadership in raising the standards of the bench and the bar in this country.

To say, then, that Dean Landis' remarks at the recent meeting here of the Association of American Law Schools were disappointing is to put the matter altogether too mildly. What Dean Landis had to say was shocking in its cynicism.

Prof. Ray Brown of the University of Wisconsin had said that the administrative tribunals such as the Securities and Exchange commission, the National Labor Relations board, etc., should not act as both prosecutor and judge, as almost all of them do. That no man should be permitted to act as judge in his own cause is a sound precept, Prof. Brown said. "Combining the two functions means that the body either dulls its zeal as an advocate or warps its judgment as a tribunal."

Dean Landis rose in defense of such star chamber proceedings. It is not fair, he argued, to find fault with administrative tribunals because their methods fall short of ideal justice. There is no such thing as ideal justice, for the courts themselves are often prejudiced. Judges are often biased and their bias often is responsible for their decisions. So far as the administrative tribunals are concerned, "partisanship is to be expected." It is to be expected because congress created them to carry out particular policies.

That is the kind of talk we have come to expect from Hitler's and Mussolini's law schools, but not from Harvard. It may be true that all our courts are not always free of bias, but it does not follow that the public welfare will be served by reducing every tribunal to the level of the least impartial court. Instead of pressing for higher standards of impartiality, instead of playing his part in the age-long struggle for even-handed justice, Dean Landis proposes to reverse the trend.

"Partisanship is to be expected." Dean Landis welcomes it. In his recent book, "The Administrative Process," he finds it possible, also, to say a word for the patronage system in the appointment of lawyers, investigators, and clerks for the administrative tribunals. The tribunals must have influence with congress to obtain appropriations and desired amendments to their organic laws, he says, and accordingly the tribunals may be well advised to play ball with influential congressmen. Dean Landis' cynicism is matched by his naïveté. He seems not to realize that this arrangement opens the door to skullduggery on a monumental scale. It will give to every litigant who knows an influential congressman an insider's influence in the determination of his case.

Dean Landis is determined to believe that the administrative tribunals offer the American people a great hope of prosperity and order. It is conceivable that some good may yet come from them, but it is difficult to believe that if they are organized as at present in a fashion known to promote gross partiality and if they are loaded down with political pay rollers they will accomplish any such glorious purpose as he foresees. The best of them by general acclamation, the interstate commerce commission, has succeeded in fifty years in impoverishing the railroads and driving a third of them into bankruptcy. There is nothing in the record of the administrative tribunals which justifies any one in believing that the national welfare will be served by sacrificing government by law and judicial impartiality on the altar of the administrative process.

FAIR INFERENCE.

It may be assumed as a matter of course, we should say, that Senator Van Nuys will join Raymond E. Willis in his request for a recount on the senatorial election in Indiana. The charges of fraud cannot be put aside as negligible. The character of Mr. Willis, who presses them, is not negligible. If Mr. Van Nuys fails to join him in demanding an honest inquiry it will indicate to fair minded citizens, whatever their party affiliation, within or without Indiana, that a fraud has been committed which the Supreme court of the state with its Democratic membership has condoned and therefore participated in.

A MAJOR INDUSTRY.

[Danville Commercial-News.]

Fast becoming one of America's major industries is sports.

If any one has any doubt about it, the census bureau in Washington would put him right.

The bureau finds, after checking with American manufacturers of athletic goods, that $44,460,525 worth of equipment was turned out in 1937—a gain of 27.5 per cent over $34,863,730 reported in 1936. It is safe to say 1938 will show another large gain.

Wage earners in the industry increased from 9,665 to 11,398 and wages went up from $9,018,083 to $11,730,185.

Golf is the sport Americans spent the most money for—$13,760,337 on equipment alone.

If you want to get in on the ground floor of a rising business start manufacturing skiing equipment. For the bureau found that the biggest proportional increase was in skis and snowshoes. This sport swelled from a $417,155 business in 1936 to a $1,236,585 enterprise in 1937. Other winter sport equipment such as toboggans and sleds increased likewise.

And you may be surprised to learn that baseball is slipping in the value of products. This sport may be the national pastime, but it is not the money maker for the manufacturer that it once was. A decrease of $488,820 was chalked up in 1937.

A little study of these figures shows that sports in which people personally participate are improving, which is a good sign—good because it is a boost for health.

AID TO MUSIC SWANKERS.

If you want to swank around in the lobbies of opera houses and concert halls, displaying your scholarship in the terminology of the art of song, you might memorize the following catalog. It is the usual French classification of the various types of singing voices:

Women's Voices:

Soprano léger [coloratura].
Soprano lyrique.
Soprano dramatique.
Falcon [extremely heavy, heroic dramatic soprano].
Mezzo-soprano.
Contralto.

Men's Voices:

Fort ténor [dramatic or heroic tenor].
Ténor Wagnerien.
Ténor demi-caractère [more dramatic than a lyric tenor; more lyric than a dramatic tenor]; e. g., rôle of Des Grieux in "Manon."
Ténor lyrique.
Ténor léger [coloratura tenor]; e. g., "Barber of Seville."
Ténor d'operette, bouffon [comic or crack voiced tenor].
Bariton Verdi [robust, meaty operatic baritone].
Bariton martin [smaller voice, still somewhat dramatic]; e. g., Lawrence Tibbett.
Basse chantante or bass-bariton [lyric high bass voice]; e. g., Ezio Pinza.
Basse noble [usual dignified operatic bass]; e. g., Chase Baromeo, Leon Rothier, Virgilio Lazzari.
Basse profonde [extremely deep, sonorous voice; not many around nowadays]; e. g., Marcel Journet or Pol Plançon of old].

LOU YING GOES TO WAR.

(Lament of a Chinese woman.)

Despair surrounds my heart like mountain snow
As cherished memories of long ago
Come winging to me, fast as swallows fly
Homeward at dusk against a graying sky.

New incense rises from the bridal flowers,
Whose petals fell on paths of happy hours.
Yet mingling with the cinnamon's sweet breath
There floats the dust of battle and of death.

As desolate I toss upon my couch,
Among the orange groves, night shadows crouch.
A low voice from the murmuring river comes,
Beating sad songs as did ancestral drums.

Dear absent one, my heart must find the light,
Unveiling mists that hide you from my sight.
I weep, "O Gracious One, hear now my call!
East Wind, bear love to him across the Wall."

A Hint to the Faculty.

The following proclamation was culled from the bulletin board of the Edinburg, Tex., High school:

"Instructors in college, high school, and Sam Houston are invited, urged, directed, expected, instructed, ordered, requested, called, bidden, summoned, solicited, commanded, petitioned, entreated, charged, enjoined, notified, cited, or etc., to come to the high school auditorium at 4:10 p. m. today, Tuesday, Dec. 20, 1938. The meeting will end at 4:43, 4:44, or 4:45.

"If arrangements can be made during the day to avoid attendance, please sign this, and below your name please write the name of one who will be an absorbent for you.—R. P. Ward, Principal."

HIGH SCHOOL ECSTASY.

This English class a spinster bossed
And dully taught—
To such a pass that I was lost,
Till my eyes caught:
"The horns of Elfland faintly blowing!"

The song you know as well as I
(That "Princess" thing),
Where bugles blow and echoes die
In answering.

I saw small men in shaggy coats,
Who stood, intent,
In some high glen; while bugle notes
Came drifting, spent.

And then this pack, in elfin glee,
On dancing feet,
Blew curved horns back, in mockery—
But softly sweet!

I might as well grasp at the ring
My pipe smoke makes;
As try to tell imagining,
Before it breaks—

Biggest Elm in U. S. A.

The largest elm in America is the Wethersfield elm at Wethersfield, Conn., which was badly injured in the hurricane of last summer. The record shows it to have been planted in 1758. It is 97 feet high with a spread of 165 feet and a trunk circumference of 28 feet. Its largest limb measures 17 feet in circumference and its beautiful branching form was the result of a heavy ice storm when the tree was about 10 years old—a storm which broke off the top and caused it to spread out with six magnificent branches.

CHOREA AND THE HEART.

CHOREA—from a word meaning "dance"—is applied to a malady affecting children chiefly and is characterized by peculiar muscular movements, twitchings, and grimaces. Although recognized in ancient times as St. Vitus' dance, the disease was first described accurately by Thomas Sydenham, a 17th century English physician.

While the disorder may make its appearance gradually, the onset in some instances is quite sudden with headache, vomiting, and fever. Now and then the teacher will be the first to observe that the lad is far more restless than usual, that the corners of his mouth twist occasionally, or that his head is thrown to one side; his arms thrust hither and yon. It requires but little study to determine that such behavior is far from normal and that it probably indicates trouble with the nervous system.

Most authorities believe that the ailment is akin to rheumatism. This theory dates back a hundred years or more, when the term "rheumatic chorea" was commonly employed. At any rate, a sizable proportion of those affected are likely to suffer damage to the heart. Recently research workers have been able to separate what is known as pure chorea from the so-called mixed or rheumatic type. In the former it is thought that while infections play an important rôle, psychic injuries are of greater significance. Again, with these cases, heart involvement is not so frequent and swollen and inflamed joints are not encountered. In the latter group, however, impairment of the cardiac apparatus may be detected in a high percentage.

The disease is serious from another point of view—namely, that it has a tendency to recur and many boys and girls will exhibit two or more seizures at intervals varying from a few months to several years. We may say then that chorea as such—without infection—can occur and that heart complications, if they are present, are due to the fact that a microbe strolled upon the stage, possibly invited by the low resistance of the sufferer.

The purpose of this discussion is to emphasize the fact that every afflicted youngster must receive the most careful nursing. Removal of the tonsils or of some other nest of bacteria is not a positive cure and such a procedure may have no effect at all on the progress of the disease. Protecting the child from emotional upsets—assuring him that everything is all right—is of equal, if not greater import. It is a great mistake for any one in the home to exhibit anger or disgust should the child be unable to make his wants known. Speech may be so interfered with that instead of intelligible words only a jumble of meaningless sounds will be uttered. A girl of eight who has been a perfect conversationalist may be reduced to incoherent grunts. The reason is that voice mastery has been lost.

How long will the attack continue? Perhaps one month; now and then as long as six months. We must not expect abrupt recoveries. As the little patient becomes stronger the movements will become less and less noticeable, until they disappear entirely. We must not forget that in general the muscular system of the body is decidedly weakened; so much so that paralysis may even be experienced.

In addition to good nursing, treatment consists of bed rest and sufficient food. Mild sedatives are recommended by most physicians. Arsenic in small doses, as well as generous quantities of salicylates, may be helpful. The use of artificial fever has recently been suggested and has some enthusiastic advocates.

The chief objective, however, is to keep the patient as comfortable as possible and to build resistance. Four or five meals—not large in amount—with cod liver oil and iron, if anemia demands it, are valuable. Naturally, foci of infection should be eradicated, but it is well to delay surgery until convalescence is well established. Every attempt must be made to safeguard the heart by encouraging quiet—the avoidance of effort.

BEST TO PLAY SAFE.

S. P. writes: A friend of ours has been in a tuberculosis sanitarium for a year. She has been discharged, although she still coughs. Is there any danger to our 1 year old child in having her visit and eat at our home? Should her dishes be washed separately?

REPLY.

If her sputum does not contain tubercle bacilli there is no danger. It is better to play safe. Do not let her hold or fondle the child. Boil her eating utensils for ten minutes. A letter to the sanitarium would bring reassurance that she is not able to spread the malady.

"GROWING PAINS."

J. S. writes: My 3 year old son, who is the picture of health, wakens at night complaining that his legs hurt him. After we rub them he drops off to sleep. What could cause this?

REPLY.

Pain in the legs may follow strenuous activity. "Growing pains," however, are often caused by infection and may signify oncoming rheumatism. The chances are he is exercising too much. A hot bath at bedtime is suggested. Examination by your physician is indicated if the distress continues.

MANY TYPES DO.

F. writes: What type of bacteria causes ear trouble? How does the germ reach the ear?

REPLY.

Many germs are responsible for ear infections, chiefly straphylococci and streptococci. Usually the organisms reach the space inside the drum by traveling up the Eustachian canal, which leads from the throat to this area. When bacteria invade the nose and throat the ear may become involved as a complication.

PICK'S DISEASE.

W. P. writes: What is Pick's disease?

REPLY.

The malady is characterized by the extensive pouring out of fluid from smooth membranous surfaces—for example, the pleura, the sac enclosing the heart, the peritoneum, and the joints. The quantity secreted varies. The condition is thought to have some relation to tuberculosis although the exact cause is not known.

WRITER'S CRAMP.

E. N. writes: What is the best treatment for writer's cramp?

REPLY.

Rest, heat, and massage. Cultivate the use of other muscles than those affected. Training of the other hand should be encouraged.

THE STATE OF THE UNION.

Decatur, Ill., Jan. 4.—The address of the President today lambasted other nations to distract the minds of the American people from his colossal failure and monumental blunder in handling the affairs of our nation. He reminds me of the little boy about to get a spanking from his mother who hollers: "Look, mother, there goes a rat," so as to try to make her forget about giving him a spanking.

We all believe in preparedness, but there was no excuse in asking for it as the President did only to cover up the stupidity of his brain trusters as to matters he has failed to solve in the U. S. A. Does he think the majority of Americans are as brainless as his brain trusters?

And only a person who is crazy would take any stock in his statement that we are no further in debt than we were in 1929. He is getting pretty well to the end of his rope as to excuses when he tries to cram a statement like that down our throats. How much longer is he going to try to fool the American people?

GEORGE ANDERSON.

THE POWER OF WORDS.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—Our President, the ardent exponent of peace [for hasn't he said so himself?], has again endeared himself to our worldly neighbors by gently informing them that of all men, he alone is worthy of the halo. Now that he has spoken, the other nations will undoubtedly change their form of government. They will probably oust the dictators, hang their kings, and send their emperors to the glue factory. Or perhaps Hitler will lose no time in telling the Austrians that they cannot continue to belong to the reich, call back Benes and return the Sudetenlanders to him for proper purging, return six million Germans to the status of the unemployed which they enjoyed several years ago, retire to a monastery, and let the reich go hang.

Mussolini would show himself to be a poor sport if he does not forthwith return to Hailie Selassie the crown he snatched from him in a moment of playfulness, pay him his back salary and suitable indemnities, revive the Mafia, call back his trusty soldiers from Spain, and then obligingly commit suicide.

Emperor Hirohito, not to be outdone, will probably withdraw his crusaders from China, rebuild the destroyed Chinese cities, give Manchuria her independence, abdicate his throne, and proclaim Chiang Kai-shek president of the Japanese republic.

King Georgie, before visiting us this spring, will hardly fail to dissolve the house of lords, replace it with a chamber modeled after our senate, abolish all titles, inform Canada, India, and Australia that from now on they are strictly on their own, and resume service on the war debts.

To top it all off, the dictators of South America will resign and call in Jim Farley to line up the precinct captains to get out the vote for the New Deal.

For has not Sir Oracle spoken?

THE CLAQUE OUT OF ORDER.

Keokuk, Ia., Jan. 4.—While President Roosevelt was speaking yesterday it seems his auditors did not offer applause at intermissions where the President was waiting for it, and in other places where there were no stop signs they broke out in thunderous applause, requiring him to await the quiet.

The President will probably ascribe failure to properly time his efforts to the fact that many of the congressmen present were new at such functions; it couldn't be there was disagreement with his utterances, surely.

BIRDWELL SUTLIVE.

REFERRED TO THE SEC.

Elmhurst, Ill., Jan. 5.—The President puts the national debt into the rabbit-hat and pulls it out as an investment! As I remember it, he called Mr. Hoover's much smaller "investment" by quite another name. Dear, dear!

I was just wondering whether you would like to make some investments in Hill Leveling and Ditch Digging, Inc.? [I wouldn't give a tip of this quality to just anybody.]

BILL MAYOR.

AND WHOSE OX IS GORED.

Oak Park, Ill., Jan. 4.—After reading Mrs. Roosevelt's criticism of the two young people who crashed the President's New Year's eve party as "rude and unmannerly," I couldn't help but recall a little incident while her son, John, was traveling in Europe. It seems he spilled some champagne on a high official. Perhaps that wasn't rude and unmannerly; anyway it didn't prevent him from getting employment. It didn't happen on New Year's eve either. It does make a difference whose baby has the measles, doesn't it?

CRIME NEWS.

Three Rivers, Mich., Dec. 27.—I want to compliment you on the first page of Dec. 25. It was wonderfully fine to pick up THE TRIBUNE and not have a lot of murders and similar stories covering the front page.

I appreciate that in publishing a newspaper it is necessary to put the news that interests most people on the front page. It is unfortunate that murders and killings are in this category, but as I said above, it was particularly fine to have a change on Christmas day.

The writer has been a reader of THE TRIBUNE for over forty years, and no matter where I am, whether in the east, south, or west, feel that I haven't read the news until I have seen THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

FEDERAL TAX ON REALTY.

Chicago, Jan. 4.—The New Deal displays peculiar contrasts. It's the greatest tax levying organization the country has ever known, yet it is equally proficient in refusing to pay real estate taxes to our local governments.

First the housing projects decline to pay anything more than a small service charge in lieu of taxes and now the HOLC protests the levying of a part of the taxes on properties on which they hold mortgages.

Every dollar they avoid paying assesses another dollar against us other taxpayers, thereby producing the same effect as the direct levying of a real estate tax by the federal government.

SECURITY FOR NOTE.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—On Feb. 2, 1932, I put my signature on a [1] bank note for $500 for my nephew D to build up a business. His brother likewise gave his signature for the same amount. Mr. D's wife signed over a $2,000 insurance policy for our security, which the bank held.

2. Then the bank began to fail and they recalled the money. I gave Mr. D eleven shares of stock worth $1,100 to sell so that I might pay the amount I owed.

3. He sold them and not only paid off mine but his brother's without my consent.

4. I said nothing, thinking the bank still held the policy. But the bank gave it to him and a short time later I discovered he had taken it and drawn on it and dropped it. I wanted to pick it up, but he told me that he had drawn on it too heavily. His health failed and he had to sell his stock and give up the business.

5. The bank did not close, so I should like to know whether they could be held responsible for turning over my security to Mr. D after telling me it was my protection.

6. Should they have given it to me instead of him at the time he paid the $1,100?

7. Should they have done business with him when my signature was on the note?

M. R.

1. Ordinarily the expression "bank note" means in substance paper money issued by a bank. We assume that you do not mean this, but it is not clear whether what you do mean is an ordinary promissory note, payable to a private creditor, but payable at the bank, or a note payable to the bank.

2. We assume from this that you mean a note payable to the bank.

3. This would not be authorized if the two of you signed separate $500 notes.

4. It seems possible that surrounding circumstances might be involved which would amount to acquiescence on your part.

5. Yes, on the facts that you state, but your facts are so unusual that we suspect that you may be mistaken.

6. Yes, if they had notice that it belonged to you.

7. We do not understand the question. We advise you to employ an attorney.

REPORT LOWEST DEATH RATE IN HISTORY OF CITY

War on Syphilis a Factor in 1938 Record.

Chicago's general death rate during 1938 was the lowest in the city's history, Dr. Robert A. Black, acting president of the board of health, reported yesterday to Mayor Kelly. Death rates for infants, maternity cases, and most of the major diseases were reduced.

Dr. Robert A. Black.

The rate of deaths from all causes was 9.7 per 1,000 population last year, compared with 10.3 in 1937, a reduction of 6 per cent. For infants the rate was 34 per 1,000 births in 1938. It was 37.8 in 1937. Maternity deaths last year were 2.7 per 1,000 births, as against 3.3 in 1937.

Measles, Whooping Cough Gain.

Whooping cough and measles were the only major diseases which had increased rates from the year before. Typhoid fever cases remained constant. The major disease death rates in 1937 and 1938, based on each 100,000 population, follow:

	1938.	1937.
Diphtheria	1.9	2.3
Scarlet fever	1.4	1.7
Infantile paralysis	.03	1.0
Tuberculosis	52.7	54.9
Pneumonia	56.5	61.2
Typhoid fever	.3	.3
Whooping cough	1.8	1.1
Measles	1.1	.3

There were epidemic outbreaks of whooping cough and measles, but despite increased death rates, the proportion of those who had the diseases and those who died showed a marked decrease from 1937.

Reduction in the infant mortality rate was attributed in part to the board's campaign to curb the spread of syphilis among expectant mothers; its work in requiring hospitals to improve their maternity divisions, and the distribution of twice as much free mother's milk as ever before.

Dentists Examine 250,000 Pupils.

The board was increasingly active in other fields during the year, Dr. Black reported. Nearly 250,000 school children had their teeth examined. Many children later received proper treatment at the free dental clinics.

Syphilis tests made by the board's laboratories were increased by 200 per cent, gonorrhea tests by 60 per cent. More than 100,000 persons have voluntarily taken tests for these diseases. Daily attendance at the health clinics is 2,000 compared with 100 a few months ago. And as a result of the tests, there are more persons being treated by their private physicians.

Chicago's birth rate was increased last year over 1937. Total births were 51,500, according to the report, or 14.3 per 1,000 population. In 1937, the rate was only 13.8.

FREED IN BEATING OF ATTORNEY IN SONJA HENIE SUIT

Arthur M. Wirtz, vice president of the Chicago Stadium, was freed yesterday by Judge Jusun F. McCarthy in Des Plaines street court of charges of assault and battery and disorderly conduct.

The complaint was made by Attorney Alvin R. Katz, who emerged with a black eye from a meeting with Wirtz and several others at the Lake Shore Drive hotel on Dec. 29. Katz, accompanied by Deputy United States Marshal William Russell, attempted to serve a summons on Sonja Henie, skating star then appearing at the Stadium, in a $3,000,000 plagiarism suit in which she is one of the defendants. He alleged that Wirtz told him "I've got some boys coming over" and when Katz left the hotel a few minutes later, five or six men surrounded him and struck him in the eye.

After hearing the testimony of three witnesses, Judge McCarthy ruled there was no justification for the charges against Wirtz.

FILM CITY STARS TO BE QUIZZED IN RAIL BOND CASE

New York, Jan. 6.—(AP)—John C. Walsh, assistant United States attorney, left today for Hollywood to question several film luminaries—none of whom are implicated in any wrongdoing—in connection with the indictment of William P. Buckner Jr. on charges of mail fraud and conspiracy.

Buckner and William J. Gillespie, indicted with him, are accused of manipulating Philippine railway bonds. Walsh had letters written to Buckner by Loretta Young and taken from Buckner after his arrest more than a month ago.

Walsh planned to talk to Miss Young, Miriam Hopkins, Phyllis Brooks, Binnie Barnes, Ronald Colman, Bing Crosby, and Frank Morgan, among others, in hopes of obtaining information which might be of use in the trial of Buckner and Gillespie.

Judge James J. Kelly's Photo Is Hung in Court

A photograph of the late Judge James Joseph Kelly was hung in the courtroom of Judge Francis B. Allegretti yesterday. Speakers at the ceremony included Judge Michael L. Igoe of the Federal District court, Justice Francis Wilson of the Illinois Supreme court, and Henry P. Chandler, head of the Chicago Bar association. Judge Kelly died on July 25, 1937.

ACTRESS ALICE FAYE FIRST GETS HER MAN AND THEN A COCKTAIL

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Alice Faye, motion picture actress, paused today in a downtown bar with three women companions before entraining for Hollywood. She asked for cocktails.

A bartender told Miss Faye that under the rules of the place—one of the swanky ones—he could not serve her because she had no escort.

"Well, get me an escort then," he quoted her.

The bartender summoned Ray Hausfeld, an assistant auditor of an adjoining restaurant, and the cocktails were forthcoming.

STILL NEED FOUR MORE JURORS IN TRIAL OF MORAN

Selection of a jury to try George [Bugs] Moran and two co-defendants on charges of conspiracy to forge fake bonds and money orders made no progress at all in the Criminal court yesterday. At the end of the day the defense had used twenty-four of thirty peremptory challenges and the state nineteen, but no new jurors had been accepted. Efforts to get four more men to complete the jury will be resumed on Monday.

During the day Attorney James H. Burke, representing the defense, was granted subpenas for records covering the expenses of Attorney Emile Van Bever, the state's star witness. Van Bever, an investigator for the American Express company, has been kept in protective custody at a hotel since last March 8.

THE STAMP OF APPROVAL

By CALEB

A FREQUENT patron of ours speaks of stamps as a joy to garner and a challenge forever. To the eye of the uninitiated, they are mere squares and oblongs of colored paper—kaleidoscopic in their combinations; but only casually attractive, even when freighted with a profusion of strange faces, places and names.

But not so to the connoisseur! For him their myriad tints, history, background, and varied patterns distill a sort of poetry difficult to resist. What seems ecstatic statement to the stamp stranger, in short, is trade gospel to your dyed-in-the-wool philatelist. And he will remind you that this lure has for its devotees some of the busiest and biggest Men Who Matter in every land. He also cheerfully admits that the virus of Philately, once in the hobbyist's bloodstream, usually renders him its victim for life. . . .

To provide safe guidance for the stamp-collecting beginner, Field's has set aside colorful third-floor displays offering him at the very start a gamut of variety that collectors of yesteryear would have coveted in quiet despair. Thanks to specialists who have enriched the range of choice while removing the penalty of price, philatelists of modest income can now ride this hobby as far and happily as any millionaire.

This special advantage, in fact, explains Philately's superiority to many other pursuits of the collector. A few dollars launch one into its new world with thousands of stamps ready to review at leisure and increase at will. Here are not only the postal symbols of the major countries, but many from weird and exotic points anywhere south of the North Pole. Vistas of Peru and China and the South Sea isles—of Siberian ports and Arabian, Saharan or Mongolian desert outposts—give enticement to many a Field stamp album's rainbow pages.

Truly a great world in a little room, open to conquest with little effort or investment . . . such is the world of Philately. Perhaps there lies here a yet-to-be-discovered world for you—a world whose mental stimulus, relaxation, and refreshment, for the mind, tired by a too-busy life, has few equals for interest, and no superiors for enjoyment.

CIVILIAN FLYERS PUT ON OWN AIR SHOW AT MIAMI

Only Stock Model Planes at Record Event.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

Miami, Fla., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—The sandy waste of Miami municipal airport tonight is covered with some 500 flivver airplanes from cities as far away as Minneapolis, Minn., and Bangor, Me. The gathering—largest concentration of light airplanes in aviation history—marked the opening day of the All-American air maneuvers.

The presence of these little planes and their 1,000 or more passengers was a demonstration that Americans are not falling behind in the world parade of flying. These civilian flyers and their little planes—all stock models—are here tonight purely as a result of their own individual desire to fly and their own initiative.

One Pilot Explains Reason.

"In Russia this gathering would be heralded as a presentation of the fighting reserve of the nation," said one of the pilots. "In Germany a couple of guys named Hitler and Goering would say this is what we have done for the youth of the reich.

"We can't say any of those things. We're here because Florida is a fine place to go swimming in the winter and most of us have flown out of ice and snow on winter vacations. We're not regarded as saviors of the nation, but as possible patrons of Miami's hotels and places of amusement."

Doc Kincaid, the chief of the technical staf that prepared Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's plane for the epic flight from New York to Paris in 1927, viewed the day's proceedings a little differently.

Pays Tribute to Flyers.

"These boys and girls, men and women, who have flown their little airplanes down here are proving that Americans, in spite of governmental neglect, have learned to fly well," he said. "They were not fair weather pilots. They flew here from all parts of the country in some of the worst atmospheric conditions that could be found.

"Not a single airplane was wrecked and not a single pilot was injured."

Kincaid's analysis is a true one. The planes flown here by most of the pilots are little two-place machines with motors developing about half the horse power of the smallest automobiles. The motors, in fact, develop between 40 and 50 horse power each, and the little puddle jumpers cruise at speeds ranging from 70 to 90 miles an hour.

Most of the machines have a range of between two and three hours. That means that at the end of this time the pilots must land and refuel. Practically all the pilots had calculated their courses so that these stops could be made at airports along their routes. But due to head winds that cut down their ground speeds, and to other unforeseen factors, many of the flyers ran out of fuel when they were far away from their intended stopping places.

Pennsylvania Wins Race.

An element of danger enters all air racing, but in capturing a light plane elimination event at an average speed of 94.49 miles an hour over a 12½ miles route, Jesse Jones of Lancaster, Pa., never once was in trouble. Nor were four other competitors. Clint Breedlove of Lubbock, Tex., was second at 93.7 miles an hour.

Preceding the show, flavored with smoke acrobatics and slow flight clowning, a bronze plaque bearing the likeness of the nation's most famous woman flyer, Amelia Earhart, was unveiled at a memorial ceremony. Miss Earhart used the Municipal airport, site of the show, when she took off in 1937 on her fatal trip around the world.

"In memory," it read, "of Amelia Earhart, whose courage and invincible spirit made her America's foremost aviatrix, the Dade County Federation of Women's Clubs commemorates this spot from which she left American soil on her last flight, June 1, 1937."

A scheduled New York to Miami race for the MacFadden trophy and prizes aggregating $3,500 was postponed until tomorrow because of bad weather conditions at New York.

FIREMEN SAVE 4 FROM BLAZING FLAT BUILDING

Four persons were rescued by firemen yesterday when a blaze spread through an apartment building at 5974 Adams street. The fire did $3,000 damage. It began in the apartment of M. J. Hogan, western manager of the Independent Biscuit Manufacturing company, where an unidentified workman was repairing a gas range. He was burned. The flames spread to the apartment of John Watling, a scale manufacturer. His invalid wife, Valeta, was carried downstairs by firemen. Other firemen led her nurse, Miss Signie Knutson, and a friend, Mrs. Margaret Gartner, to safety. Mrs. Gartner's son, Alphonse, 5 years old, was carried down a ladder from the third floor.

MONROE STREET VIADUCT TO BE READY IN APRIL

The new Monroe street viaduct will be completed in April if the weather continues to be favorable, park district engineers said yesterday. Work began last Sept. 19. The bridge crosses the Illinois Central railroad tracks between Michigan avenue and Columbus drive. It will carry four lanes of trafic instead of two as on the old viaduct, and will eliminate the hump which made the old span a vision hazard for drivers. It cost $264,000.

The New United States Army Uniforms in Color

Color photograph of three members of Company A, 2d infantry, of Fort Sheridan, wearing the new slate blue uniforms for enlisted men. The army is trying out these uniforms all over the country. Trousers replace breeches, but for field duty the soldiers gather the trousers inside canvas leggings. The soldier at the right does not have on his leggings and is wearing the new overcoat, which is part of the outfit. The blouse, or uniform coat, has a half belt in back and pleated shoulders. The blue shirt folds back in sport style (center soldier), permitting it to be worn without a tie in the field. Both the field cap and the overseas cap (center) have soft visors in place of the stiff lether one, so they can be folded and carried in a pocket. The soldier at the left has the new semi-automatic Garland rifle, which fires three or four times as many shots per minute as the old one. The soldier in the center has the old Springfield rifle, which fires about 15 shots per minute. The three soldiers are, left to right: Sergt. John G. Lefever, Corp. Thomas L. Patterson, and Private Vaughn T. Prather.

SUBURB STARTS $100,000 DRIVE FOR BACK TAXES

Western Springs Acts to Force Payment.

The village of Western Springs has opened its own campaign for the payment of delinquent taxes on real estate in the village. The goal is to collect most of the $100,000 owing in back taxes and thereafter make it the rule that if an owner does not pay his taxes he loses his property.

The drive is being undertaken by a joint committee representing the village taxing bodies. The members include Ray C. Milton, chairman of the village finance committee; William H. Short, member of the school board, and Franklin Burns, member of the park board. The Lyons Township High school board is coöperating.

Begin Mailing Notices.

After several months of preparation the committee yesterday began mailing notices to owners of property on which taxes are delinquent, notifying them of the amounts they owe and the intention of the village to seek foreclosure sales unless the back taxes are paid.

In preparation for the drive the committee is going through the unusual procedure of having tax searches made on all real estate on the delinquent list. It is estimated there are 1,300 such parcels. Searches have been completed on about half of them. As fast as the others are finished notices will be mailed to the owners shown in the tax records.

Milton said that if the owners do not pay up, the village will ask the state's attorney's office to start foreclosure suits so that the properties can be sold to satisfy the tax claims. Assistant State's Attorney Marshall Kearney has assured the village officals that the suits will be filed as requested.

Called Imposition on Others.

"The principal reason for this drive," Milton said, "is to put back on the tax rolls properties which are enjoying village services without sharing the cost. It is not possible to continue essential services with only 70 per cent collections.

"We find that when a property owner in the village pays a $100 tax bill he is really making a contribution of $15 or $20 because of the failure of some other owners to pay their taxes."

Milton said that putting the delinquent properties back on the current rolls will aid real estate development in the community. Western Springs, he said, has enjoyed an unusual residential building spurt in the last three years, and it can be broadened by clearing up the tax delinquencies.

WOMAN MISSES BOAT ON WORLD TRIP; PLANS TO CATCH IT BY PLANE

New York, Jan. 6.—[Special.]—Mrs. Floyd E. Badger, wealthy widow of a Detroit steel man, has her mind set on a round the world cruise aboard the liner Franconia. She's going to make the trip even though the ship sailed from New York Wednesday without her.

At her hotel this morning Mrs. Badger told how she had missed the boat. Friends were entertaining her at a farewell party. Suddenly some one called her attention to the time, and she realized that she was too late for the sailing.

"But," she said today, "I'll catch that ship. I'm going to Newark and catch a plane. I'll fly to Miami, then to Puerto Rico, and finally to Trinidad. The Franconia gets to Trinidad Tuesday, and I'll be there."

OAK PARK BOARD VOTES $1,358,767 TO RUN VILLAGE

The Oak Park village board yesterday announced appropriations totaling $1,358,767 for the coming year. The 1938 appropriation was $1,277,992. The increase is made possible, officials said, by increasing property valuation. Of the 1939 appropriation $695,061 will be raised by personal and real estate taxes and the remaining $663,706 by license fees, water taxes, and other items. The principal increases over 1938 include $12,000 for the police department, $31,300 for playgrounds, $34,000 for general governmental expenses, and $8,000 for bonds and interest.

TRIBUNE PRINTS THE FIRST NEWS PHOTO IN COLOR

Uses New Process to Accomplish Feat.

but with the addition of the halftone screen which in the printing process deposits the ink on paper in a varied mass of tiny dots.

It is from the negatives that the copper engravings are made. Their printing surface, transferred to semi-circular printing plates by the stereotyping process, transfers to the newsprint of THE TRIBUNE the three layers of ink—red, yellow, and blue—that combine before your eye to make a color picture.

The shortened process used yesterday does this. The photographer makes no intricate color print. Instead, he makes from his three negatives three positive prints, just like a photograph except that they are on transparent film instead of paper. The photo-engraver does not have to separate colors to make his negatives. That is already done in the positives. He makes his negatives directly from them. This short cut saves from two to as many as six days of the time required by the former process.

Campaign Started in 1931.

THE TRIBUNE'S campaign to get good color printing on the same presses that roll out news sections at the rate of 50,000 an hour really started in 1931, although there was rudimentary use of color in the paper five years before that.

It was a new field. Equipment manufacturers were able to give only minor aid. Most of the research that made possible the color pages of today was done in THE TRIBUNE'S own plant by its own photographic and mechanical departments.

The first great struggle was for accuracy—more specifically, for what printers call register. This means merely that where two or more colors are printed they should be exactly on top of each other. If they are off-register a lady's red lips appear as a mustache or wander over toward her ear.

Many Difficulties Overcome.

A hundred or more "bugs" appeared, in every part of the printing process, to block progress toward this ideal of perfect register. One by one they were solved, by new cameras, special photoengraving equipment, new stereotyping processes, new presses and special press attachments, improvements in printing inks.

It was only after an approach to this ideal of accuracy was accomplished, a far closer approach than has been made in any other newspaper plant in the world, that it was possible to take steps toward the objective partly realized yesterday. That new objective is the harnessing of the color printing processes to the swift tempo of the daily stream of news.

Hoyt King Takes Oath as U. S. District Court Clerk

Hoyt King was sworn in as clerk of the United States District court yesterday by Judge Charles E. Woodward. The oath was administered in Judge Woodward's courtroom in the presence of other district judges and friends. The new clerk is an attorney, but has been in the real estate investment business. He lives at 711 Forest avenue, Wilmette.

EXPAND BUDGET TO PAY COST OF CHICAGO AIRPORT

Council Group Puts Figure at $960,486.

The city council aviation committee yesterday began revising the 1939 appropriation for expansion of Chicago airport. To insure completion of the project this year all necessary funds must be included in the budget which is scheduled for passage Jan. 14.

Last year $800,000 was set up but never used because legal tangles blocked the improvement. This was a rough estimate of the cost. But with the dream of an adequate landing field for Chicago near realization engineers have made detailed estimates based on actual plans.

Cost Put at $994,728.

They found that the cost will be $994,728 divided as follows: New right of way for the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad, $200,000; construction of right of way, $587,081, capitalization of the railroad's extra operating cost, $207,647.

Against this the city will receive a credit of $34,242 for salvage of the old rails and the additional capital value of the new tracks and equipment to the railroad. Thus the net cost of the improvement is set at $960,486. The $160,486 balance over the $800,000 already set up is an added expense which must be provided for this year.

A subcommittee was directed to examine the new estimates and report early next week. The same subcommittee also will consider a request for an appropriation of $248,550 for installation and maintenance of new airport lighting. Only $50,000 is now budgeted for that purpose. Walter Wright, superintendent of the city bureau of aviation, said adequate lighting is impossible without the larger amount being spent.

Tracks Now Bisect Field.

Tracks of the C. & W. I. bisect the airport, separating the present landing field from the proposed enlargement area to the north. It is planned to relocate them north of 55th street on a new right of way to be acquired by the city. Approval of the Illinois commerce commission is expected Tuesday. After the railroad files its acceptance the city can begin purchasing the land.

The aviation committee also received a report from the Chicago aero commission praising the plans for a proposed lake front airport. Such a field would be a distinct advantage for the city and air transportation, the report said, and justifies the support of all citizens. The report was referred to a subcommittee, which is trying to find means for financing the city's share of cost of building it.

INFLATION DAYS STAMP EXHIBIT AWARDED PRIZE

Salisbury, Md., Jan. 6.—(AP)—A collection of stamps whose prices portrayed the stages of inflation in Germany during the world war won first prize and grand prize for Max Buchholz of Delmar, Del., at the second annual exhibit of the Eastern Shore Philatelic society. The Buchholz display was composed of stamps ranging from 5 pfennigs to 400,000 marks, the latter amount being required to mail a letter when German inflation was at its peak.

64, JOB HUNTER WALKS 50 MILES; FINDS PLACE FILLED; TRUDGES BACK

New York, Jan. 6.—(AP)—[Special.]—Thomas J. Murray, 64 years old, a gardener, walked 50 miles to apply for a job, found the job taken, and walked the 50 miles back to New York. The job, offered in a newspaper advertisements, was for a handy man at $40 a month in an animal home near East Islip, N. Y.

Murray borrowed a nickel, rode as far as Jamiaca, and then started walking. When he arrived Wednesday morning a handy man already was installed on the job and, after eating a dime's worth of food, Murray set out on the return trip. He reached New York late yesterday, weary, but still hopeful.

He thought that if the newspaper which carried the ad for the handy man would run a little personal ad for him—on credit—he might be able to get a job. That's how his story came to be known.

U. S. LABOR BOARD IS CHARGED WITH LYNCH LAW RULE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—(AP)—The national labor relations board was accused today of approving "lynch law" in deciding a sitdown strike controversy. The accusation was made by the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation of North Chicago in a brief filed with the United States Supreme court on litigation involving constitutionality of sitdown strikes.

The Fansteel company urged the high tribunal to sustain a decision by the federal Circuit court in Chicago holding the company had the right to discharge employés who seized two buildings in a 1937 sitdown strike. The labor board has asked the court to uphold its order directing reinstatement of the strikers.

"Spurning the legal remedies available under the national labor relations act, the sitdown strikers took the law into their own hands," said the Fansteel brief, adding that the labor board's decision upholding the strikers "is nothing more than an approval of lynch law."

GASOLINE TESTING LABORATORY PAYS SURPRISE VISITS

The state stepped into Chicago's gasoline price cutting war yesterday. A mobile laboratory equipped to test motor fuels began making surprise calls on dealers. Complaints had been made that some cut price gasoline was inferior.

Where gasoline is found to be below minimum standards, a diamond shaped sticker to warn motorists is pasted on the pump. It was pointed out that an unscrupulous dealer could remove the sticker.

Soon after price cutting began about six months ago, the state finance department, which collects a tax on motor fuels, began making occasional tests. The decision to proceed against gasoline cheaters was reached only recently, however.

Oak Lawn Constable Freed on Drunk Driving Charge

Fred Triezenberg, an Oak Lawn constable, was freed by Judge Jay A. Schiller in Safety court yesterday on a charge of driving while intoxicated. The Woodlawn police arrested Triezenberg on New Year's day after his automobile had struck another car. The police testified that they doubted Triezenberg was intoxicated.

TRAIN HITS AUTO; STUDENT KILLED, 2 OTHERS HURT

Crash Ends High School Pupils' Ride.

Temperatures last night were mild for winter, and four young high school students decided to go out for a late night automobile ride. The ride ended in tragedy. Their automobile was struck by a passenger train of the Chicago Great Western line at Butterfield road, in Hillside, causing the death of one student and injuries to two others.

The dead youth was Robert King, 18 years old, 137 North Scoville avenue, Oak Park, a senior at Oak Park High school. With him were David Chamberlin, also 18, of 717 Clarence avenue, Oak Park, and Miss Virginia Doyle, 18, of 412 North Maple avenue, Oak Park, students at the same school, and Miss Clara Panneck, 16, of 5657 Ohio street, a junior at Sienna High.

Blinded by Car's Lights.

Chamberlin was driving. The signals at the crossing were working, but he later told police he was blinded by the lights of a car on the other side. Chamberlin's automobile was shunted by the train into this other machine, driven by Robert Kellogg, 9027 Sheridan avenue, Brookfield. Kellogg was shaken up. Young King suffered internal injuries and Miss Panneck and Miss Doyle lesser injuries. All were taken to the Westlake hospital in Melrose Park, where King died early today. Chamberlin was not hurt.

Charles M. Fritz, 52 years old, assistant grain exchange supervisor of the federal commodity exchange administration in Chicago, died yesterday in a hospital at Watseka, Iroquois county, of injuries incurred Monday when his automobile upset near Watseka. The accident occurred when a tire blew out. His wife, Elizabeth, and his son, Charles Jr., were slightly hurt. The Fritz home is at 422 Root street, Park Ridge.

Woman Killed by Truck.

Mrs. Mary Kuchenbecker, 51, was killed last night when she was struck by a truck in front of 2362 Elston avenue. She lived at 2321 Lister avenue. The driver was Joseph Oomer, 3523 Medill avenue.

Mrs. Wendel Powell, 25, colored, of 333 East Garfield boulevard, died in St. Luke's hospital of injuries suffered Wednesday when a taxicab in which she was riding was struck by a street car near Wabash avenue and 17th street.

Anthony Laheta, 72, of 1317 Wentworth avenue, Chicago Heights, died in St. James hospital in the suburb from injuries suffered Thursday night when he was struck by an automobile on the Lincoln highway. Lawrence Sparks, Route 1, Chicago Heights, was the driver.

Fatally Burned in Crash.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accident in the death of John W. Higgins Jr., 27, of 2027 Hawthorne lane, Evanston. He was burned fatally on Monday when his car caught fire after colliding with a machine driven by Lieut. Paul M. Wheeler of Fort Sheridan on Route 45, near Half Day in Lake county.

A hit and run driver bore down last night on three young newsboys at Ogden avenue and Pulaski road. Two leaped to safety in time, but the third was seriously injured. He is William Lohman, 12 years old, 2225 South Kedvale avenue. He suffered a possible skull fracture and is in the County hospital. His companions who escaped are Robert Williams, 14, of 2809 South Keeler avenue, and Robert Cheehey, 10, of 2229 South Keeler avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 26 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 22 were killed in Chicago, where 402 were injured in the same period.

MARTIN RESIGNS AS STATE RELIEF BOARD CHAIRMAN

John C. Martin, former state treasurer, resigned yesterday as chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission. His tenure both as chairman and member will end officially Monday. Martin is a newly elected congressman-at-large from Illinois.

Martin resigned at the regular meeting of the relief commissioners. Another who gave up his official post but not his active membership was former Corporation Counsel William H. Sexton, secretary since Oct. 25, 1935.

Martin's successor probably will not be named until his resignation as a member is accepted formally by Gov. Horner. Thomas E. Courtney of De Kalb county was elected unanimously to succeed Sexton, who nominated him. Courtney was appointed to the commission in September, 1937.

Martin was elected chairman on June 1, 1935, succeeding Robert J. Dunham, present head of the park board. As state treasurer since 1932, he had been a member ex officio of the relief commission and had remained a member by appointment of Gov. Horner after becoming head of the state tax commission in 1934.

MILK INDICTMENT DISMISSAL ASKED BY CAPT. GILBERT

Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney, yesterday filed a demurrer in the federal District court, asking that his indictment in the government's milk trust case be dismissed. Capt. Gilbert was one of numerous individuals named in the case, which alleges conspiracy to control the milk and ice cream industries.

The petition, filed by Attorney Thomas Dodd Healy, listed nine reasons, most of them technical, why the indictment should be dismissed. It also stated that Capt. Gilbert at no time had any connection with the milk industry. Today is the deadline for filing demurrers for those indicted in the milk case.

Benjamin C. Brown, head of Brown's Velvet Ice Cream company of New Orleans, filed a motion to quash the service on his indictment. His attorney, Edward R. Johnston, declared that the indictment named Brown as head of the New Orleans Ice Cream company which was liquidated on Oct. 15, 1936. Deadline for filing motions in the ice cream case is Jan. 16.

HEAR MUSSOLINI ASKS HITLER TO EASE JEWS' EXIT

Report Duce Accepts U.S. Concession Plea.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Reliable sources tonight said that Premier Mussolini had agreed on a request from President Roosevelt to ask Chancellor Hitler's aid in getting Jews out of Germany.

It was understood that Mussolini, after seeing United States Ambassador William Phillips on Jan. 3, telephoned Hitler at Berchtesgaden. Hitler's reaction was not disclosed.

Prime Minister Chamberlain was said to have given his support to President Roosevelt's proposals and to have offered to give whatever assistance he could during his visit with Mussolini next week. The British premier, it was said, would take full details of the proposals with him on his Italian trip.

Urges More Lenient Terms.

Ambassador Phillips was said by a well informed source to have asked that Mussolini support more lenient terms for the emigration of Jews from Germany.

The suggestion was understood to have called for modifications of a Jewish emigration plan attributed to Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank and Mussolini was described as sympathetic.

Germany's original plan was that emigration of refugees be financed by making foreign powers increase their purchases of German goods. This plan attracted little sympathy among British and American officials, but George Rublee, American director of the intergovernmental committee on refugees, was advised to accept it as a basis for negotiations in discussing with German officials in Berlin next week.

Duce, Norman Join Plea.

It was understood that subsequently both Mussolini and Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, had interceded with German officials to get the German demands modified. Norman saw Schacht during a two day visit to Berlin, which ended today.

Rublee and three other members of the intergovernmental committee on refugees will leave London tomorrow for Paris, and plan to arrive in Berlin next Wednesday for further discussions with Schacht.

It was pointed out that the Rublee mission would be in Berlin while Chamberlain is in Rome, and that full reports of the Berlin negotiations would be available to the British premier.

May Make Concessions.

No official comment on the Phillips-Mussolini conversation has been made in Rome. Trust worthy sources there said earlier today, however, that Mussolini was studying a United States proposal for settlement of some Jewish refugees in Ethiopia. Mussolini was described as having shown an "encouraging attitude."

In Berlin, the fact that the German government had decided to receive Rublee was regarded as indication that Germany was willing to make certain concessions on the Jewish question.

OBITUARIES

James McAlear.

The funeral of James McAlear, manufacturer, will be held at 10 a. m. today from his home at 70 Cedar street to Holy Name cathedral. Burial will be in All-Saints' cemetery. Mr. McAlear died Thursday night in St. Joseph's hospital. Born in Cornwall, Ont., he came to the United States when he was 17 years old. He was graduated from Purdue university. In 1916 he established the McAlear Manufacturing company, 1901 South Western avenue, which makes control valves. Surviving are his widow, Philomene; a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Walsh; three brothers, and two sisters.

Mrs. Celia Wolff.

Mrs. Celia Wolff, mother of Policeman Adolph Wolff of the Albany Park station, died yesterday in her home at 4737 North St. Louis avenue. She was 62 years old and had been a resident of Chicago for 40 years. Surviving are her husband, Louis Wolff, two daughters, and four sons. Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Monday in the chapel at 3600 Roosevelt road.

Mrs. Mary Reynolds.

Mrs. Mary Reynolds, who was for many years in the real estate business on the south side with her sister, Mrs. Stella Reynolds Powers, died yesterday in their home, 2908 Jackson boulevard. Services will be at 10 a. m. today in St. Sylvester's church.

Mrs. Sarah Getz.

Mrs. Sarah Getz, widow of Harry W. Getz, died yesterday in St. Luke's hospital. She was 83 years old, and lived at 1400 Lake Shore drive. One son, Harry W. Getz Jr. of Moline, survives. Funeral services this afternoon will be private.

John P. Gray.

Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, Jan. 6.—(AP)—John P. Gray, 58 years old, one of the west's leading authorities on mining law, died here today. He was a lecturer in mining law at the Universities of Idaho and Wisconsin.

Mrs. Christine Nielsen.

Funeral services for Mrs. Christine Nielsen, 78 years old, of 915 North Elmwood avenue, Oak Park, who died in Franklin Boulevard hospital yesterday, will be at 1 p. m. Monday from the home to the Danish Lutheran Trinity church. Burial will be in Mount Olive cemetery. Mrs. Nielsen, the wife of S. N. Nielsen, contractor who built the Carl Schurz High school, was born in Denmark. She lived in Chicago and Oak Park for fifty years. Surviving besides her husband are a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Mose; a son, Elker, and four grandchildren.

George F. Wisshack.

George F. Wisshack, a former Chicago druggist, died Tuesday in his home in Huntington Park, Cal., it was learned here yesterday. He was 75 years old. Until his retirement eighteen years ago he owned several drug stores on the west side and in the loop. He was an officer of the old Ashland club and a member of the Chicago Athletic association. His widow, Anne, survives.

John H. Sutphen.

Funeral services for John H. Sutphen, Chicago representative of a grape juice concern and a resident of the city for twenty years, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow in the Graceland cemetery chapel. Mr. Sutphen died suddenly early Thursday in his home at 6438 North Campbell avenue. He is survived by his widow, Jane.

Mrs. Albert Atwater.

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Albert Atwater, 95 years old, died today at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. C. Schrader. She was the grandmother of Mrs. Philip K. Wrigley, of Chicago. Funeral services will be held Sunday.

John J. Carle.

New York, Jan. 6.—[Special.]—John J. Carle, 92 years old, president of John Carle & Sons, Inc., one of New York's oldest wholesale drug houses, died today at Greenwich, Conn.

WALTER KELLY, ACTOR KNOWN FOR 'VIRGINIA JUDGE' ROLE, IS DEAD

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Walter Kelly, 65 years old, known to theatergoers as "the Virginia judge," died today of injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile in Hollywood three weeks ago. At the bedside when death came to the character actor was his brother, John B. Kelly, Democratic city chairman of Philadelphia, who brought him here after the accident.

Kelly got his inspiration for his unique billing by observing the homespun wit and philosophy bandied in a court trial in the tidewater country of Virginia.

He was a vaudeville partner of the late Marie Dressler in 1904. His theatrical fame was shared in measure by a brother, George Kelly, who penned "Craig's Wife" to win a Pulitzer prize.

GROUP AT GRAVE OF ROOSEVELT, DEAD 20 YEARS

New York, Jan. 6.—[Special.]—A group of thirty men and women who were intimate friends of Theodore Roosevelt made their annual pilgrimage today to his grave at Young's cemetery at Oyster Bay. It was the twentieth anniversary of the former President's death.

Henry L. Stoddard read excerpts from a speech by Mr. Roosevelt in which he stressed the importance of safeguarding democracy in America as a guaranty of world freedom. It originally was delivered before a commercial congress at Atlanta in 1911.

Mrs. Grant La Farge placed a wreath on the grave. Dr. Alexander Lambert presided at a luncheon in the home of the President's widow.

Cuff Notes.

Ganna Walska is writing her memoirs, a friend writes from Paris. Ought to make very snappy reading. One tale she will tell is of the teacher she engaged when she first started to study voice. He had said he was a pupil of the great Jean de Reszke, and she faithfully followed his instructions for breathing with books on her diaphragm. Then she learned he only had been butler to De Reszke. . . . Ted Peckham, at the Blackstone this week, says 150 lads from his escort service in New York are on winter cruises with patrons.

The personal stationery of Martha Hodge, daughter of William Hodge, has as address "North America," because she is on tour so much of the time. . . . Leah Ray used to have "On Tour" on her stationery instead of an address. . . . A Miss Marie Crotty of Rockford, Ill., who collects hat pins, has 3,400 in her collection. . . . You'll probably like the drawings and sculpture of Lucile Swan, recently returned from Peiping, being shown this week at the American Institute of Decorators in the Decorative Arts building, whether you're conservative or modern in your tastes.

Henry Field is called the "anthropological diplomat" in European capitals, according to a visiting anthropologist from abroad. Admired for his anthropological achievements, especially in connection with his work in Iraq, he is personally popular at the conference and conventions. . . . Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, loveliest and most patrician of Chicago dowagers, is taking dancing lessons—including rhumba lessons—from the Murray dancers at the Drake. . . . Max Siegel, young book department expert who advises hundreds of customers about their reading, has a second book of his own coming out in April, Boys' Club.

Individualist.

There stands, at Catherine and Cossitt streets in La Grange, Ill., a little house built within the last few years, the front porch of which faces the alley, the back door and garage the street. Neighborhood gossip is that the owner dislikes churches, so built his house with its rear to the church across the street.

Dinner-Coated Sweeper-Upper.

The most human little New Year's tale of all is considerably belated. A pedestrian on Howard street near the "L" observed, in a closed five and ten cent store, a handsome young man in a Tuxedo industriously spreading sawdust on the floor and sweeping it up. As our scout stopped to smile at the sight he was joined by other curious observers. The young man in the tux raced up and down the ailes, his broom in front of him. Then he stopped, snapped his fingers, donned hat and coat, and let himself out the front door. Observing his audience, he smiled, wished them a Happy New Year, and went on his way.

Another Kind of a Hot Time.

Before the Noel season is put away in mothballs for another year may we report the fire chief's car seen on the Outer drive near 39th street New Year's eve, complete with bell, siren, and driver, moving sedately toward the loop, a passenger in evening regalia in the back seat, his lady beside him.

In the Morning Mail.

I lived in Marengo, Ill., and knew Nebelow Woleben, whose name spells the same forward and backward, but did you know that in Dixon, Ill., there is a Noxid Dixon?

We didn't know it, and we doubt it.

Suburban Incident.

F. J. Pike, a La Grange, Ill., resident, introduced himself to a stranger after the Sunday service at the Presbyterian church.

"My name is Pike," he said, offering his hand.

"I'm Mr. Pickerel," answered the other. Turned out he was visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herring [Paul W.] in La Grange.

Junior League of Evanston to Have Party

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Evanston Junior league is made up of optimists—how else could they be planning a winter sports party on Friday, Jan. 27, at the Skokie Country club? They plan to have dinner, dancing, skating, and tobogganning, and the committee in charge, headed by Mrs. Chester N. Goltra and Mrs. John Graham Patterson, is meeting on Monday at the Georgian hotel in Evanston to talk things over.

Perhaps it is not optimism alone that is encouraging the league to prepare for such a party. Most of its members are enthusiastic skiers and skaters. Whether they have tobogganning or not on the night of the 27th, a foursome of members and their husbands, including Mr. and Mrs. Goltra, Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Bridegroom, the Lawrence Denmans, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Glass, will have plenty of snow and ice in Sun Valley, where they are going on March 1 for a winter holiday.

These same four young women will be deserving a holiday by that time for, as members of the junior board of the Park Ridge Junior school, they are busy just now with plans for a series of lectures Clifton Utley is to give at the Evanston Woman's club for the benefit of the school. Mr. Utley will speak at 8:30 o'clock on Wednesday nights Feb. 15 and 22, and March 1 and 8.

Lecture Invitations Will Be Issued Next Week.

Mrs. Patterson, who also is a member of the board, has had her winter holiday, for she and her bridegroom of a few weeks ago just have returned from a wedding trip to Bermuda.

Mrs. Wallace D. Mackenzie will start on Monday to move into her and Dr. Mackenzie's new Hubbard Woods home, but she will not be too occupied to sell her share of the tickets at $5 the series, or $1.50 individually. Mrs. Beresford Beck and Mrs. Ralph Angell are others assisting with the lecture series, to which invitations will go in the mail next week.

Mrs. Mason Phelps, Mrs. George Olmsted, Mrs. Burt J. Denman, Mrs. Walter L. Cherry, Mrs. Chauncey Lamb, Mrs. Francis Parker, Mrs. Melvin M. Hawley, Mrs. O. J. Buck, Mrs. William C. Gilbert, Mrs. George W. Kibby, and Mrs. Charles Ware are on the senior board of the school. The lecture committee will meet at Mrs. Burt Denman's on Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Kay Goodman is giving a luncheon and skating party—if there is ice—tomorrow at a little chalet of her stepfather's and mother's, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hopkins, called "Jasmar," out in the country north and west of Lake Forest. The party is to be for Miss Betty Mead, debutante daughter of Mrs. Edward H. Bennett.

Leach-Ruffner Nuptials Today.

Only the families and most intimate friends will be present this afternoon when Miss Louise Lenore Ruffner becomes the bride of Edward Alfred Leach of Schenectady, N. Y.

The bride, who is the youngest daughter of Mrs. William R. Ruffner and the late Mr. Ruffner of Highland Park, will be given in marriage by her cousin, Thomas I. Underwood. The Rev. Christoph Keller of the Highland Park Trinity Episcopal church will read the service at 4:30 o'clock in Mrs. Ruffner's home.

The bride is to wear her mother's lovely wedding gown of ivory satin and rosepoint lace. Her only attendants will be her sisters, Mrs. Harrison Todd and Mrs. Edward B. Wintersteen, both of Schenectady. Their husbands will usher. James Kilander, also of Schenectady, will be the best man.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Alfred Leach, and his sister, Mrs. Arthur Chubbuck of Boston, are arriving today for the wedding. Burridge Butler has returned from Phoenix, where he is vacationing, for the occasion.

Mr. Leach and his bride will make their home in Schenectady. Mrs. Todd and Mrs. Wintersteen will remain here a week or so longer, seeing old friends.

Give Reception Tonight for Polish Ambassador.

Ladies in their most formal gowns and gentlemen in tails or uniforms and with their decorations, if any, arrayed on their bosoms will assemble in the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel tonight to meet Count Jerzy Potocki, the Polish ambassador to America.

Mrs. John M. Simpson (left) and Mrs. John Lord King are assisting with a benefit exhibit and sale of color reproductions of paintings the Public School Art society will hold next Monday in the old Potter Palmer home in Lake Shore drive. In addition to framed and unframed prints there will be a small show of the works of some of the talented public school pupils.

Critic Praises the Sculpture of Lucile Swan

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Some exhibitions demand a host of enthusiastic adjectives and of such is the exhibit of sculpture by Lucile Swan, which has just opened at 620 North Michigan avenue under the auspices of the Illinois chapter of the American Institute of Decorators. Do not let anything in the address or title put you off. The exhibition is exquisite; the most beautiful that we have had in years.

Lucile Swan is a woman artist who has lived in China. In fact she left Peking, her home, only last August. The sculpture is small and perfect. There are full length figures in miniature, busts, and groups. The many portrait figures and heads are delightful. Where "delightful" will not fit, because of the subject, a similarly complimentary adjective is implied.

The exhibit should have been arranged in a hall of mirrors because the back and side views of the various Chinese women and men are just as intriguing as the face. One of the most exquisite portrait figures is that of the actor, Mei Lang Fang, whom Chicago saw a season or two ago. He is dressed as a woman and is ravishing in pose and line. The graceful fall of his hand is absorbing and the lines of his head and face are so perfect one can scarcely believe in them.

The enchanting head of a little child, "Chinese Girl," is one of the finest things in the show from the standpoint of modeling. It is firm, yet pliant, full of character, and as mobile as a brook in spring. It is a favorite of the artist.

Another fascinating figure is "Mrs. Chu," chic, dignified, lovely. She wears a high collar, full dress, and her hair low. In China all ladies of distinction wear high collars about their throats no matter how formal their costume. It is a symbol of rank and fashion.

The portrait of Dr. Hu Shih, Chinese ambassador to the United States, is stunning. "Miss Tang," a Chinese flapper, is as amusing as she is lovely. "Musician," "Mother and Child," "Wrestler—Standing," "Mongol Boy," "Baby Camel and Boy," and "Romola" are among the other irresistible pieces in an exhibit which is fascinating from end to end. It will continue to Jan. 20.

Hand Beauty Is More than Polish Color

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

In terms of beauty we too often think of the hands as digits for nail polish experimentation only. And, migoodness, but what a lot of experimentation is going on right now, some of it successful, some of it downright ugly, we think.

Like the masculine observers, we can't fall for some of the startling polish shades you see worn this festive season. But, we suppose that comes under the category of your own business if you choose to make your nails the most obvious thing about you. We were going to say "the most repellantly obvious thing about you," but again we say it is the woman's own business to look that way if she wants to.

What we really started out to talk about was the beauty of motion that hands may portray—the beauty of their expression when they do express beautifully.

We were arrested by the extraordinary hand movements of Mia Slavenska, glamorous première danseuse of the Monte Carlo Ballet Russe, in the film, "Ballerina." Unable to dance because of an incident in the story which supposedly cripples her for life, Mlle. Slavenska conveys as much of the feeling of the dance through her hands and fingers as do the dancers on the stage with their arms, bodies, and legs.

As Mlle. Slavenska, portraying the rôle of the crippled Nathalie Karine, sits in a box at the opera watching the performance of her rival, you see her recreate the emotion of the "Death of the Swan," which is being danced with subtle, undulating movements of the wrists, fingers, and hands.

True, these dancers are great artists, women trained from childhood to make their hands give expression to the tale they must tell. From such hands, however, one can learn that hands can be made the most telling of beauty features. Not in a dramatic way for us, of course, but in the matter of control, grace, poise.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Column on Colbert

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 6.—There is nothing wrong with Claudette Colbert that a good picture won't cure. That statement is in answer to a raft of letters which have come to this desk, asking what has happened to the attractive Parisian born girl in recent months. She just has been unlucky in her picture assignments since "It Happened One Night." In her most recent flicker, "Zaza," Claudette achieves a dramatic quality that she never has exhibited before, but the picture itself is a millstone around her shapely neck. In "Tovarich" she turned in a fine individual effort, but the picture again nullified her best efforts. "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife" was not a commercial picture.

Claudette Colbert needs a good picture.

It all goes back to the contention that a star rarely is competent to select the best vehicles. Claudette, a canny business woman, personally went to some pains to secure the three pictures in question—"Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," "Tovarich," and Zaza." She saw in each of them certain definite performance possibilities, and in each of them she turned in a bangup performance. She had great directors, excellent supporting casts, fine scripts. But it proves rather conclusively that her judgment of picture values in the commercial market is not too expert.

Producers will tell you that their greatest headaches come from actors and actresses who wish to have "story approval" written into their contracts. The producers hold that stars do not know what is good for them and what is bad for them. The producers hold also that the agents of the stars are virtually as incompetent when it comes to an appraisal of story values. I think that I'll string along with the producers on this contention. From personal experience, it seems to this observer that the poorest judges of story material are the performers. In witness whereof, there is Spencer Tracy.

Now there is no argument possible about Tracy's capacities as an actor. This reporter will take credit for being one of Spencer's earliest rooters, and Tracy himself will bear this out, because his scrapbook shows that a story I did about him was the first "rave" ever contributed to the log. Yet Tracy has no more story sense than a pigeon. At M.-G.-M. he has a well founded reputation of worrying himself sick over every part handed to him. He even didn't like "Captains Courageous," which was to win him the Academy award. He didn't fancy the part of the priest in "Boys Town;" he didn't like the part that was handed him in "San Francisco." If it were left to him, Tracy would rarely appear on the screen because he doesn't know a great deal about story values. Chalk up one for the producers.

"Mutiny On the Bounty" was a grand picture. It gave Charles Laughton his most memorable characterization, that of Capt. Bligh. It gave Clark Gable one of his best heman rôles as Capt. Christian. Yet both Laughton and Gable had to be begged almost to play those parts. "Capt. Bligh is a preposterous figure," Laughton savagely told Director Frank Lloyd. "People won't believe me as Capt. Christian," savagely argued Gable. Even during the filming of the picture, Director Lloyd was weighed down and rendered morose by the obvious non-coöperation of his stars. Finally one night, the company put in at Malibu because of storms. Lloyd sat silently at the table, drinking one Scotch after another and reflecting on the caprices of actors. "What's the matter, Frank?" asked Gable. "Am I making this picture an unpleasant experience for you?" Lloyd nodded agreement: "To tell the truth, Clark, you are." Gable wrapped him in a bear's hug: "Okay, from now on, I'll do anything you tell me to do. I don't believe that the character of Capt. Christian will register, mind you, but win, lose or draw, I'll play ball." Chalk up two for the producers.

Not long ago, I was sitting with some of the Columbia studio biggies and they were casting an Edward G. Robinson picture, "I Am the Law." They were thumbing through a casting register, which shows the pictures and details the performers and their professional records. They couldn't agree on the girl who was to play the gun moll. "Wendy Barrie is tailor made for the part," suggested your reporter. They gave her the rôle and it launched her on the most substantial career she has enjoyed in the cinema. Chalk up one for the press.

Now it is not at all strange that actors don't know what stories will do them the greatest benefit at the box office. In the first place, an actor or actress looks mainly at the lines which have been written out for them. That is the personal issue, and it is all-important. The producer, not having that same keen interest in the individual performer, looks at a script from the viewpoint of the picture as a whole. True enough, the performer may get himself a "fat" part but what profiteth an actor if he gets a good part in a bad picture?

Claudette Colbert, to return to the theme of our sermon, has picked good parts for herself, but she has selected indifferent pictures, so her performances have been wasted. The reason that 20th Century-Fox has been battling with Loretta Young is that she wants her new contract to stipulate that she and her agent, Myron Selznick, are to have story approval. Zanuck just as strenuously insists that the studio select her stories, knowing full well that performers and agents have a bad batting average when it comes to selecting material. It is an age old controversy, with much to be said on both sides and the answer never quite clearly resolved. The case of Claudette Colbert would indicate that the producers are justified in their insistence.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

The following letter, written in connection with the recently concluded National Bridge Examination, contains some very pertinent truths and, I think, will be interesting to all readers who took the test.

"Just now, toward the fag-end of your current bridge exam, do I tumble to a certain psychology that has undoubtedly cost me some points and has, I feel sure, done the same for others that might be included in that large group who, while playing the game with great gusto and enthusiasm, lack the expert's discrimination.

"The particular angle involved is simply this, that many of us, I believe, fail to realize that, in starting out on your examination, we are not only given a perfect score to begin with, but 'master' partners, too, and even more important, that our partners, too, are supposed to credit us with the same master rating that you have generously given us at the start.

"This latter point seems particularly important in that my own experience shows that on occasion, perhaps unconsciously, I have made a choice of bids or plays dictated by the known reaction to any particular bid being considered at the moment among my own particular bridge friends. Unfortunately, very few indeed are ever in the position of being taken at 'master' value by their partner, but still this assumption seems almost a mandatory one to arrive at the correct conclusion to the problems that you give us. Could we all start out with this thought firmly in mind, it would seem that we would all score appreciably better. G. W. deS., Boston, Mass."

This correspondent has precisely the right idea of the philosophy back of the examination, and I commend his remarks to the attention of those readers who will enter the next exam.

TODAY'S HAND.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	NORTH ♠ A 10 3 ♥ 10 2 ♦ A K J 3 2 ♣ 5 4 2
WEST ♠ Q J 7 6 ♥ K 9 7 5 ♦ 10 9 ♣ K 9 3		EAST ♠ K 4 2 ♥ J 8 6 4 ♦ Q 7 6 5 4 ♣ 8
	SOUTH ♠ 9 8 5 ♥ A Q 3 ♦ 8 ♣ A Q J 10 7 6

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 diamond	Pass
2 clubs	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

This interesting hand was analyzed in the December Bridge World magazine by Bruno Gruenewald of Germany. Declarer's play shows how an expert goes to extreme lengths to protect stoppers. Against the three no trump contract, East opened the heart four, his five card diamond suit having been bid by the declarer. The average player in declarer's position [North] would either let this lead ride to the ten spot or would finesse with the queen. In either case, he would lose his contract. West would win with the king and promptly shift to spades. Defenders would establish three spade tricks for themselves before West's club king was knocked out.

The actual declarer saw the danger of a spade shift, and further saw that unless the heart lead were "phoney," East had started with only four hearts and that, consequently, his suit could not be dangerous. On that basis, dummy's heart ace was played to the first trick and, to maintain communication between the North-South hands, the club queen was led. [Declarer could not afford to play the ace and then the queen of clubs, because if a defender had three to the king, he would hold off and the dummy would be dead.] West did hold up his king for one round, but the club jack followed and, of course, he had to win with the king or lose it entirely. Now on a spade return declarer hopped up with the ace and led his remaining club to dummy. In all, he took five club tricks, two diamonds, one heart, and one spade, thus fulfilling the contract.

Color Accents Used on Snoods and Hair Nets

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Smart and new, yet romantically old fashioned in appearance, snoods and hair nets are back on fashion wise heads.

Snoods of chenille thread in every imaginable color and hair nets decorated with bows and felt cutouts for daytime and spangled for evening wear are the big excitement of the hour. They do everything for you . . . keep your tresses in smooth outline, give you a lovely feminine headdress and provide lots of conversation among the spectators.

Many of the new snood and veil ideas can be worn alone as well as under the fascinating new hats. One cerise affair is made of thousands of tiny suede ties attached to the mesh. Another with wee little snips of old gold velvet ribbon is tied roguishly with a larger bow right in the center of the head.

Hair nets definitely are fashionable. The glamorous concoctions for evening are afire with glittering beads, sequins, and metallic balls. The daytime nets are sewn with felt appliques that can be put on another net when the original one wears out. These will be worn under hats, usually of the same tone as the felt trim.

Velvet ribbon snoods in black, brown or navy as well as white are presented to wear for sports and for daytime. The chenille affairs and the soft suedes also are available for daylight hours. They're big, loose, and easy to fit over the longest curls or bob. These are decorative without being overdressed, and will accent the simplest sort of daytime clothes. They're the most intriguing finds of the current fashion showings. If you crave a new sensation, want to change your personality, try a snood or one of the new decorated hair nets!

Cites Research Work to Make Accurate Revision of Bible

When Pharaoh's daughter made her daily trip to the Nile, just where did she go? This was one of many questions of its kind confronting Dr. William A. Irwin, professor of Old Testament languages and literature at the University of Chicago, and his committee who are revising the King James version of the Bible.

The story in Exodus says that Pharaoh's daughter "came down to wash herself at the river." The question arose among the Irwin committee as to whether she actually went "into the river." This meant a lot of research. The finding was that she did not go "into the river" because of crocodiles. The proper translation should be, said Dr. Irwin, that she "went to bathe by the river."

Dr. Irwin recently returned from a meeting of the Old Testament section of the American Standard Bible, marking completion of the first year's work of a five year plan.

Shoulderette Is Simple Job for Knitting Novice

X-171

BY JEAN MACDONALD.

An ideal piece of knitting for pickup work is the knitted shoulderette in a fan and feather pattern. It is knitted of fine angora with a plain edge of garter stitch at top and bottom. The pattern is not difficult to make, but it is suggested that a sample containing two patterns be knitted before one attempts the shouiderette.

For knitting instructions for the shoulderette in the fan and feather design, No. X-171, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

WEDDING

At the celebration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary at their home at 5543 Kenwood avenue, Dr. and Mrs. Onis H. Horrall announced the marriage, on May 6 in Boston, of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to Collin Herbert Alexander. Mr. Alexander, who is a graduate student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. G. H. Alexander of Albion, Mich. Dr. Horrall is the chief surgeon of the Burlington railroad.

Polish Newspaper Group to Meet in City Today

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Life seems much less real and earnest if there's at least one touch of frivolity in your day. And our personal nomination for the best kind of frivolity—certainly it's the kind for which there is no stern paying of the piper—is a luxurious bath.

For just ten minutes or so each day the poor working girl ought to be able to feel like a pampered princess, even though the time clock, the dash to the bus, and the boss' idiocyncrasies await to dispel the illusion. The same goes for housewives. The luxurious bath makes the need to cook and wash and spank the children seem wonderfully remote.

You can have an awful lot of this luxurious feeling for a small sum these days. You can, for example, own a bottle of a preparation that makes the plain, everyday bath water a foaming, fragrant sea.

There are, of course, several such. But one of our special pets, nicely described as foaming bath mist, is a fine powder, to be tossed into the water, that gives you a wonderful, downy blanket of billions of misty white bubbles. It has an exquisite perfume, too.

This isn't just a bath beautifier. It does more than make the water extremely pretty and inviting. Your skin feels softer and smoother after your bath and some of the fine perfume clings to it ever so subtly.

And this bath powder has a place in the life of shower fans. You can simply toss the white powder up toward the spray in small handfuls. It bubbles merrily in the descending avalanche. With a little practice you can get very deft at making your quick shower a very fancy little ritual—and a more satisfying one.

The tubbers will be glad to know that this preparation doesn't leave an ugly ring. ELEANOR NANGLE.

[For information about this bath preparation telephone Eleanor Nangle, Superior 0100.]

Mayor Kelly Attends Chicago Program at Shrine Winter Circus

Mayor Kelly took time off from official cares last night and became one of more than 14,000 happy spectators at the Shrine Winter circus in the International amphitheater. His wife and their three children were with him.

The Kelly family occupied a box with Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Shepherd. Mr. Shepherd is illustrious potentate of Medinah temple, which is sponsoring the show for the Shrine's various charities. Mr. Shepherd introduced Mayor Kelly and publicly thanked him for his coöperation with Shrine charities.

Mayor Kelly in his response praised the Shriners as "a mighty influence for good in Chicago, with a big heart for charitable works." The mayor stayed for the full show. Two clowns, Chesty and Shorty Flemm, climbed into the box to the glee of the Kelly youngsters. Last night's show was dedicated to Chicago. More than 2,000 city officials and subordinates, including Police Commissioner Allman, attended. American Legion, police and fire department units participated.

INSTALMENT XXXVI.

DOUBLES OR QUITS.

The light went out of Bob's face, as doubts again began to crowd in on him.

This was Monday, and he had told Nora he had figured it out she would leave him on Monday, when she said she was going.

Had he really been fooled by a woman at last?

How gay she had been this morning—but not after they got to the office. He remembered, now, how downcast she had looked when he was having his little hour of triumph.

Had her remark about the hat trick been nothing but a mocking pretence?

Beals wanted to bring him some tea, and he thought he might as well have it.

But he was too restless to stay indoors afterwards.

He changed into tweeds and went out with no more definite object in mind than to walk off a little of his anxiety.

Passing Pearl Almy's cottage, he made a mental note that he must get Miss Dean—which was the name of the ideal secretary—to order a van and have Pearl's furniture put into storage. The cottage was needed, anyway, for the head gardener's family.

Bob went on to Mrs. Callender's, but did not go inside.

Annie Bull told him that her mistress was retiring for the night.

O, no, Mrs. Matherson wasn't here. She hadn't been in at all today.

Bob turned away abruptly.

The sight of the swing seat where Nora had been sitting that day in the autumn, the day before he asked her to marry him, brought back a poignant memory.

Hadn't he really known then, that he was in love with her? Or did he only find it out on the evening of their wedding day, after Cissy telephoned, and Nora said she had tried to be a pig, but couldn't manage it any more.

There had been something very gallant in the way she had accepted the challenge that their marriage was doomed to failure.

She had agreed that at least they could be friends, and he had waited very patiently to find out if they could not be a great deal more. But it would have to come from her.

The sun had gone down long since, but there was still a red streak in the west, and Venus shone with a faint pink light. Bob hadn't been bothering to look at the stars very much lately.

Suddenly a longing for love seemed to take him by the throat and shook him into a rage of despair.

He had never had anybody who loved him selflessly. He couldn't remember his mother, and his father had been an austere man who believed in bringing up boys to be men, with no molly-coddling. Whatever affection his father had to spare was lavished on Cissy.

But he, Robert Matherson, had nobody, and perhaps he never would have anybody.

He couldn't think it was entirely his own fault, but doubt began to creep in and registered a large question mark.

Belatedly it occurred to Bob that something unpleasant, an accident, might have happened to Nora. For a brief moment he welcomed the idea until he realized that if such was the case he would have heard by this time, unless it was a very serious accident and nothing had been found in Nora's bag to establish identity. That wasn't at all a happy thought.

Across the landscape streaked the last train of the day that stopped at Green Mallows. It looked like an illuminated toy in the distance, and gave Bob a new idea. Anyway, it was something to occupy him. He, too, did a little streaking. It was nearly a mile to the station and needless to say he did not beat the train.

Sure enough, a lonely looking little figure came plodding along the lane towards him when he had covered more than half the distance, and it was Nora.

His relief was so great that he very nearly wept, yet at the same time he felt like shaking her.

"I'm sorry, I didn't realize it was so late. I didn't think you would worry. . . . Yes, I suppose I ought to have telephoned, but somehow it didn't occur to me."

"Well, where were you—what were you doing all that time?" he demanded, as testy as any ordinary, well established husband.

"In a cinema, mostly. I think I sat it through twice. Then I had some tea, and when I finally made up my mind to come back, I had over an hour to wait for the train."

"It was kind of you to make up your mind to come back at all," Bob said angrily.

Then he remembered that large question mark he had raised in his own mind. Was it always the other person's failure?

He said: "I didn't mean it that way, Nora. It was only that I nearly went off my head when I found you weren't home. I began to imagine all sorts of things. But we'll talk about it later. You're cold and tired, now. Will you forgive me for jumping on you?"

Upstairs in her own room Nora was saying fiercely to herself: "You've got to tell him, if it kills you. Nothing but the truth between you and Robert Matherson from now on."

In other words, perhaps, a case of doubles or quits.

She changed quickly into a rest gown without troubling to pay attention as to how she looked, and went downstairs to find him.

"I think Mr. Matherson's in the Tower room," said Beals, when she questioned him.

The little door was ajar and after a second's hesitation Nora decided he could like it or do the other thing if she took the liberty of invading his holy of holies. Either she was inside his life now, or out of it forever. She owed it to herself to find which it was.

So once more, uninvited she climbed the forbidden stairway.

Bob was looking through the telescope when she entered the room, but he heard the door open and turned quickly.

A slow smile lighted up his face.

"I wondered," he said. "I told Beals to tell you where I was, but I thought it more likely I would have to come to find you."

"Bob—why did you make me send that telegram to Pearl Almy?"

"For the love of Mike, is that what's eating you!"

"One of the things."

"To make a long story short, I asked you to send it because I wasn't in a position to do so myself. I wanted to make sure that she wouldn't come back, for one thing. But for another, it was as I said—to give her a last chance. I'd give even a dog a last chance."

"Yet—you kissed her!"

"She kissed me—honor bright. But I had a pretty clear idea it didn't mean very much. Look here, Nora, do you care enough for me to be jealous of Pearl?"

"Th-that's what I wanted to tell you."

"Well, I think it's about all I want to know," he said gravely.

For an instant their eyes met, and then Nora went to him and put her arms around his neck.

ington to attend the reception, dinner, and ball arranged for him by the board of directors of the Kosciuszko Foundation.

The Polish consul general in Chicago, Dr. Waclaw Gawronski, and Mme. Gawronska; Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Meeker, Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, Count Anthony Potocki, a cousin of the ambassador, and Countess Potocka, and the Charles S. Deweys who knew the count when they were in Poland are among the many who will attend the affair.

Half a hundred jovial souls who have been not quite so jolly since the "Susan and God" company left town will gather tonight in the Pump room of the Ambassador East hotel to dine and dance and try to regain their merry spirits saddened by the departure of the popular actors and actresses. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harvey, a clever and attractive couple who moved here from New York about a year ago, started the party which is a Dutch treat one.

Dance Club to Hold Fourth Party Tonight.

The girls and boys who belong to the Dance club will dine tonight at the Churchill as the guests of Mrs. James H. Mitchell, Mrs. William F. Petersen, and Mrs. John G. Ralston. After dinner the party will adjourn to the Girls' Latin school, where the club's fourth dance of the winter will be held.

Mrs. John H. Storrs will lecture on "And France Goes Onward" at 11:30 o'clock this morning in the library of the Alliance Française.

Between the movie programs at the Esquire theater and the Jack and Jill Players' productions at the Civic theater, Saturday mornings seem planned exclusively for children. The Woman's exchange is sponsoring the movie programs, which start at 10:30 o'clock.

"The Camel with the Wrinkled Knees" is the play the Jack and Jill company is presenting on Saturdays this month at 10:45 o'clock.

Tavern to Resume Breakfast Parties.

The Tavern is resuming its tallyho breakfasts tomorrow. Grace Moore, who is to sing in "La Bohême" at the opera tomorrow night, will be the especial guest at the breakfast party.

There will be several musical events tomorrow afternoon to keep people in town: The first concert of the season by the Civic orchestra in Orchestra hall; Baniamino Gigli's recital in the Civic Opera house under the sponsorship of the Chicago Hollins College club; Myra Hess' piano recital in the Studebaker, and the Indianapolis Symphony concert at the Auditorium. This last is one of the musical series arranged by Northwestern university.

Mrs. Arthur Aldis will take her first airplane trip when she leaves tomorrow for Florida. She is flying to Orlando and will spend two months at her home in Winter Park, which adjoins Orlando.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. P. Hamilton III. [Jean McWilliams] are returning tomorrow to their home in St. Louis after a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh L. McWilliams. Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams are at the Whitehall. About Feb. 15 they will go to San Antonio, Tex., for two months.

Junior William Raubs Are Parents of Son.

A son was born yesterday at the Evanston hospital to Mr. and Mrs. William Longstreth Raub Jr. of Evanston. He has been named William L. Raub III. Mrs. Raub is the former Dorothy Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh S. Campbell of Wilmette.

Mrs. Giles Estelle Quillen and her two children, Shirley and Glenn, are visiting Mrs. Quillen's aunt, Mrs. Edgar Foster Alden, in Winnetka. Mrs. Quillen will spend a few weeks with Mrs. Alden before leaving for her winter home in Pensacola, Fla. Mr. Quillen, who is on the warship New Orleans, has sailed for Cuba.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Jones of the Knickerbocker hotel have left to spend a month in California with their son, Raymond Jones, and his wife and two sons.

Holy Name Society Will Mark Feast Day Tomorrow

The annual celebration of the Feast of the Holy Name of Jesus will be held tomorrow evening in Holy Name cathedral at State and Superior streets, with 2,000 delegates representing the more than 200,000 members of the Holy Name society in the Chicago archdiocese. The Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, senior auxiliary bishop of Chicago, will preside. The guest speaker will be the Rev. Henry J. Walsh, pastor of St. Mary's church in Riverside. James J. O'Keefe is president of the Holy Name society.

Junior Robert P. Lamont Weds Author in Boston

Boston, Mass., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Friends today announced the marriage of Robert P. Lamont Jr., son of the former secretary of commerce, and Elizabeth Laine of New York City, an author. Co-workers of Lamont at the Atlantic Monthly said the wedding took place here yesterday. Lamont is an assistant editor of the magazine. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Nagy of Ontario, Cal. Lamont fought with the French army in the world war and won the Croix de Guerre.

Spring Smartness for Now

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Here's spring smartness right now for your midwinter wardrobe. It's the type of thing you can wear at the present season and still have, chic and ready, for the first balmy days. This style is designed for both misses and matrons, but its lines are particularly flattering to the figure that is inclined to be overweight.

The frock is designed along redingote lines. It is particularly effective in black with multi-colored print for the contrast. Tiny inverted tucks lend a marvelous effect at shoulders and waistline. The sleeves are squared so high at the shoulders that they make the waistline seem slim as a whistle by contrast.

This same style makes up equally well all in one color, as the sketch at the right illustrates. This is really a versatile model for all afternoon and informal evening occasions.

Style No. 3190 is designed for sizes 16, 18, 20, and 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material, with 1 yard of 39 inch contrasting for the redingote type of dress.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Station, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing ten cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be certain to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Child Below Par Responds Poorly to Life

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate.]

You may be one of those blessed and far too uncommon people who are always in perfect, buoyant health. But if you are not, and have ever had the experience of being below par for a long period of time, it will help you to understand and help your child who may be in that very state.

Think back. Do you remember in one of those prolonged low times, how different your attitude was toward life in general? When an adult is underweight, not eating well, not sleeping well and easily fatigued his response is not the same to people and things. If we could keep that in mind where children are concerned it would help both us and them.

Many reports come to me from mothers of their children of 10 or so being underweight, nervous and also behaving badly. Now, although there isn't the great spurt of inner and outer growth at this period that there is in the teens, it is often—from 7 on—a time of shooting up and slimming down. The "string-bean" age, one father called it to me.

This is a perfectly normal physical trend. Sometimes, however, a child will be nervous, tense, irritable and not seem to eat and sleep well, and will seem much too thin even for the thin age. This is your cue to take your child to your doctor, and he should be one who understands children physically and psychologically. If the doctor finds nothing wrong, he may advise you. If he doesn't, however, let me make a few suggestions.

First, as to behavior—or rather, misbehavior. Let that alone for a while; ignore it. Be patient and do be approving! We find too much fault at this age.

Next, map out a day that contains a good night's rest, a daytime rest period, a fifteen minute rest before and after each meal, well-planned meals, cod liver oil in some form, lots of outdoors, and pleasant occupations and companionship. The accent, however, is on rest.

"Suggestions for Enjoyable and Profitable Use of Children's Leisure" is a leaflet of interest to parents and teachers. Send a large, stamped, addressed envelope for it. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Neeves of Evanston announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth, to William F. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Taylor of Cleveland Heights, O.

Miss Neeves will be graduated from Northwestern university in June. Mr. Taylor was graduated from Northwestern university in 1937. Mr. Taylor is engaged in business in New York. The wedding is planned for June 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther E. Beal of 7932 Kingston avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Beatrice, to James V. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Victor Jones of Cleveland, O.

Both Miss Beal and Mr. Jones were graduated from the University of Chicago.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Once upon a time many of us thought shrimp cocktail, creamed shrimp, and shrimp salad were just about the only ways in which to serve this delectable seafood. Nowadays our collections of shrimp recipes have grown so that we seldom prepare these shellfish the same way twice in succession. We'd never get around to trying all our recipes if we did.

These recipes aren't very new or unusual, but they are among the very best of the methods for preparing shrimp as a hot main dish.

SHRIMP ON SKEWERS.

Use the large size canned or cooked fresh shrimp. Remove intestinal vein down the back of each. Roll each shrimp in a thin slice of bacon or boiled ham and pierce with slender, stainless steel skewers. Three or four wrapped shrimp should be threaded on each skewer. Broil until hot and bacon, if it is used, is cooked. Serve at once.

For hors d'oeuvres, the bacon or ham wrapped shrimp may be speared individually with cocktail picks and broiled until hot.

Shrimp and Corn Pudding.
[Serves four.]

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
1 small onion, chopped fine
1 can shrimp
¼ teaspoon celery salt
1 cup canned whole grain corn
1 canned pimiento, chopped
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
3 eggs, beaten
2 cups milk

Melt butter in a pan, add green pepper and onion, and cook slowly for five minutes. Add remaining ingredients and turn into a greased baking pan or casserole. Set in a pan of hot water and bake at 350 degrees for 1½ hours. The casserole does not need to be covered.

Shrimp Creole.
[Serves four.]

1 can shrimp
3 slices bacon, cut in small pieces
1 tablespoon chopped onion
2 tablespoons flour
1⅝ cups tomato juice
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
½ teaspoon salt
Cooked rice

Clean shrimp. Fry bacon and onion lightly in sauce pan. Add flour, blending well. Add tomato juice and cook until thickened, stirring to keep smooth. Add green pepper, salt, and shrimp. Heat thoroughly and serve over hot cooked rice.

Shrimp Bisque.
[Serves four.]

1 quart milk
2 tablespoons quick cooking tapioca
1 small onion, minced
2 tablespoons celery, minced
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup cream
½ teaspoon mace
⅛ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon salt [or more]
2 cups flaked shrimp, canned or fresh cooked
2 tablespoons minced parsley

Scald milk, add tapioca, onion, celery, butter, and seasonings. Cook in the top of a double boiler for fifteen minutes. [Onion and celery may be browned in butter first.] Add shrimp and cook five minutes longer. Just before serving add parsley and cream. Have soup thoroughly hot.

It's fun to make candy with the tried and true recipes in Mary Meade's "Simple Homemade Candies." The booklet is on sale for 3 cents at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, or will be mailed to you for 5 cents in stamps.

BOOKS

Alluring Books Among Year's First Offerings

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

There is something tremendously exciting about the literary editor's office at the beginning of a new year. The shelves are gayly and alluringly empty. They have an adventurous aura about them.

On one of them we may some day find a book which will touch thousands of hearts, may even make life over. Mayhap there will be a book which will become so great a part of American life that it will be an immortelle. Many a rose will bloom there, give its hour of pleasure, and fade, to be forgotten in itself, but to become a part of the whole fragrant memory of reading.

Those vacant shelves are to be filled with . . . what? In that mystery is the never flagging thrill of reviewing books. What has the year in store? With questing, excited eyes the first week's rations are sought. They are sampled. They are good.

Delightful Reminiscences

"Unforgotten Years," by Logan Pearsall Smith. [Little-Brown, $2.50.] Joint January choice of the Book of the Month club. Published Tuesday.

No book of memories was ever written with more delicacy and beauty of style, more subtlety of wit than these few, but perfect, pages from the pen of the author of "Trivia." They were begun on a Mediterranean cruise on Edith Wharton's yacht, and they are, latterly, filled with the personalities of the most delightful and sophisticated of intellectuals. Of our famous expatriates Logan Pearsall Smith is least known to his fellow countrymen. But he, even more than the other brilliant émigrés of his generation [Henry James, Edith Wharton, Whistler], preserved his essential Americanism, even through fifty years of living abroad, perhaps because his roots were fundamentally religious rather than merely cultural.

In the first half of these exquisitely written pages Logan Pearsall Smith tells of his childhood in Quaker Philadelphia, of his father's and mother's passionate revivalism, of his own "saving" at the age of 4, of the family's triumphal "conversion" of England, until his father retired somewhat precipitously when his motives concerning the kiss of peace were questioned. Mr. Smith tells a remarkable story with geniality and the exactly perfect shade of satirical perspective. He tells likewise of his decision to leave the prosperous family business, glassblowing; to renounce the only hereditary job in America, that of librarian of the Philadelphia library endowed by his ancestor, and to devote himself to writing.

The reader, almost without realizing it, has listened to a sermon on the good life. There is no preachment, only record. But the record is of a life fulfilled not by either fame or fortune, nor even by friendship, but by doing what most the heart demanded.

"Unforgotten Years" is a beautiful book and a distinguished one.

Skillfully Done Phantasy

"The Sword in the Stone," by T. H. White. [Putnam, $2.50.] Joint January choice of the Book of the Month club. Published Tuesday.

This book is unique, as James Stephens' "The Crock of Gold," Kenneth Grahame's "The Wind in the Willows," and Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland" are unique. Like all of them, it is a tale of infinite phantasy from which imaginative children can pluck threads of joy just as their elders do.

"The Sword in the Stone" is not any one thing, but the substance of many. It is the tale of the youth and education of a lad in the middle ages who turns out to be King Arthur, but who all through the book is called Wart. On his first youthful quest he discovers Merlyn, the sorcerer whom we all know, but who in these pages has the delicious and perfectly logical faculty of foresight. Through his intervention medieval England is endowed with the most modern flavor, for Merlyn is as at home with what is to be as with what is.

Perhaps it is a subtle satire on modern education. Through Merlyn's aid the Wart is changed into a fish, a falcon, an owl, a badger, a snake . . . and from each creature's point of view he sees not only its life but human existence anew. A wider, a deeper, a truer education perhaps it pleads for.

It describes with minuteness and brilliance the day by day life of a medieval barony, great feast, boar hunt, simple dog exercising. And the natural picture blooms in its pages, beautifully described. So perhaps it is a new kind of history dressed up with phantasy.

There are dictators in it and all sorts of fabulous beasts, so intimately described as to make a wyvern as familiar as a pug dog and hardly less contemporary.

There will be, of course, those who don't like "The Sword in the Stone." The ultra realists will shy at it. A few pages will settle the matter for any reader.

A Tale of English Life

"Royal Regiment," by Gilbert Frankau. [Dutton, $2.50.] Published Tuesday.

The author of "The Dangerous Years" has written another long, highly detailed tale of English life in "Royal Regiment." Like its predecessor, it tells an interesting story with unflagging tenseness and never sagging interest for the reader.

The plot is basic. A junior officer falls in love with his senior's wife. Since there are only a few possible outcomes in such a situation, the dénouement is no great surprise. The unusual twist is given to it by timing it with the abdication of King Edward VIII. As the radio carries its message, "I have found it impossible to carry the heavy burden of responsibility . . . without the help and support of the woman I love," Mr. Frankau writes: "'But what of the woman I love?' brooded one man of the millions who listened to the voice."

The background, the life of a royal regiment, feeling that the future might bring war or at best threats of war, is fascinating in itself. The clash between love and duty is compelling. A very good popular novel.

New Faith Baldwin Novel

"The High Road," by Faith Baldwin. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.] Published Thursday.

Like "Royal Regiment," "The High Road" has the quality of telling a story compellingly. Its story is light and pleasant and there are no subtleties of behavior or of plot, but the heroine is a human being who talks and acts like the kind of person she is supposed to be—a girl who never has had a job for long, but who has courage about life and always pays her room rent in advance.

The job that Jill falls into is a little out of a fairy book—companion to two young girls at a handsome salary and board and keep and nothing to do between 9 and 4:30. But once she starts to work she manages to keep busy, if not out of trouble.

There is much luxury in the pages, pleasant to read about even if one sleeps on a lumpy mattress and has to put the winter coat over the feet on zero nights. Love triumphs—always a cheering theme—but there is neither mushiness nor twaddle in the process. It is evident, when the last page is finished, why Faith Baldwin is one of the most popular teller of tales in America and has thirty of them to her still youthful credit.

Interesting Tale of West Is Told in River Series

"Powder River," by Struthers Burt. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.50.]

Powder River, a tough, brash caballero of a river, is more than a dusty stream in eastern Wyoming. There, on the wide grass lands and the purple mountains, history was made. Not so long ago, either.

Struthers Burt, writing for the Rivers of America Series, has turned up an exciting tale. It's history and folklore. It is the development of a way of life in the far west. It's the story of a brave people.

But primarily it is the story of grass. First there were the buffalo; then came the Sioux hunting the buffalo; then the first trappers and mountain men. The white man fought the Indian and won. Then he fought himself, in the famous Johnson county cattle war, because the great range there had the finest stock grass in the west.

All that story is here, wound together in clicking, vital language, telling the epic tale of Wyoming and the Powder river country. Struthers Burt is no amateur western writer—he's a Wyoming rancher. J. H. T.

A Record of Whaling

"Whale Ships and Whaling," by Albert Cook Church. [Norton, $3.75.]

This is said to be the first complete photographic record of one of America's most picturesque commercial enterprises. Albert Cook Church, a native of New Bedford, once the world's greatest whaling center, has been interested in and identified with whaling for many years. He was part owner of ten whalers at various times in years gone by. His book is the result of nearly a lifetime of research and picture making. Out of a collection of 40,000 negatives and prints, Mr. Church selected more than 200 to illustrate his factual story of the whaling industry. It is a genuine piece of Americana. A. C.

Life in Resort Town

"Burro Alley," by Edwin Corle. [Random House, $2.50.]

This is not so much a story as a picture of life in a small resort town of New Mexico. The action takes place in a twelve hour period, but the reader can foresee the entire lives of the people who wander haphazardly across the pages.

Take Mr. and Mrs. Tulsa, for example. He is an Indian who has money and a passionate fondness for waffles. To her the height of grandeur is represented by a red evening gown and plenty of Martinis. And there is Ferguson, the unemployed actor who goes west to launch a federal theater project.

The scene and the people are painted in all their glaring crudities, their strange pathos, and their boisterous humor. C. L.

New England Grandmother

"Grandma Called It Carnal," by Bertha Damon. [Simon & Schuster, $2.]

The title and illustrations of Bertha Damon's story of her New England grandmother are about as appropriate to the subject as a swing arrangement of "Rock of Ages." Both suggest that the author aimed at humor. If she did, she failed. While Grandma Griswold stands out as a fearless, unique, and admirable old lady, Miss Damon's resentment toward the narrow minded conventions, the false morality, and the spiritual ugliness of her home town in Connecticut seeps through every page. The book is a vicious indictment of life as practiced in small New England towns in the first decade of the twentieth century. C. J. W.

Reds Mask Aims in Peace League, Writer Declares

The development of the American League for Peace and Democracy as a communist front organization is traced in "Odyssey of a Fellow Traveler," a recent book by J. B. Matthews.

The league is now holding its annual congress in Washington, D. C. Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, who was to have addressed it last night, suddenly canceled the speaking engagement on Wednesday.

Matthews was the first chairman of the American League Against War and Fascism, from which his book says the League for Peace and Democracy sprang. He testified in the Dies committee investigation regarding a communist plot to seize control of the Democratic party and eventually of the United States government.

In his book, Matthews describes what he terms undercover respectables who do the communist party's work. Today, he writes, there are thousands. And, his book says:

"They include more than a dozen United States senators and representatives, at least one member of the President's cabinet who is a presidential aspirant, three or four Methodist bishops, and some eminent authors and scientists."

The World Congress Against War, held in Amsterdam in 1932, was inspired by the communists, according to the book. From the congress, as the book traces the history, grew the World Committee Against War. It gave rise to the American Committee for Struggle Against War. This committee in 1933 organized the first United States Congress Against War.

From the congress, the books says, grew the American League Against War and Fascism, which recently changed its name to the American League for Peace and Democracy.

CONN DEFEATS APOSTOLI WITH LIGHTNING LEFT

Earns Decision in 10 Wild Rounds.

New York, Jan. 6. —. (AP) — Billy Conn of Pittsburgh made it two straight over middleweight champions tonight by whipping Fred Apostoli in as wild and wooly a ten round bout as Madison Square Garden has seen in years. Conn weighed 167¾ pounds, Apostoli 160½.

The Pittsburgh youngster, a professional boxer for only three years, fired left hands by the hundred at Apostoli to come through by the narrowest of margins. A crowd of 10,918, who contributed to a gate of $25,458.55, cheered the verdict.

Krieger a Victim, Too.

By the victory, Conn made it a clean sweep of the accepted kings in the middleweight division. Apostoli is recognized as champion in this state and California, while Solly Krieger, Brooklyn belter and another recent Conn victim, is accepted in all other states.

Referee Billy Kavanaugh and both judges voted unanimously for the 21 year old Pennsylvanian, who has grown from lightweight to light heavyweight size in three boxing seasons. The Associated Press score card showed Conn holding a slim edge of five rounds to four, with one even.

Perhaps the round that cost Apostoli the fight was the ninth, which Referee Kavanaugh took from him because of two low blows. Up to that point, Fred held a one round margin on the score card, looking particularly effective in the fourth, fifth, and seventh.

Conn's left was virtually his entire offense. He fired it from all angles and made it land anywhere. Except for defensive purposes, his right might well be tied behind him.

In their dressing rooms afterward, both fighters were satisfied with the decision. Apostoli explained he hadn't been able to "untrack" himself and Conn said he hadn't been seriously hurt by any of Fred's smashes.

Renews Fight in Capital for Service Game

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Brig. Gen. A. F. Lorenzen of Chicago said tonight a committee of which he is chairman would ask every midwestern state to urge transfer of the 1939 Army-Navy game from Philadelphia to Chicago. Gen. Lorenzen said he had come here to lay the groundwork for a personal appeal to President Roosevelt.

The movement was inspired by the election of two Kankakee, Ill., boys, Harry Stella of the Army and Allen Bergner of the Navy, as 1939 captains of the service football teams.

Gen. Lorenzen said the Illinois congressional delegation was solidly behind the movement and that an effort would be made to gain support of the delegations from other western states. He added appeals would be made meanwhile to civic organizations, chambers of commerce, luncheon clubs, and American Legion posts throughout the middle west.

Confer with Senator Lucas.

Gen. Lorenzen was accompanied by George D. Crowley and Roy Bennett, other committee members. They conferred with Senator Lucas [D., Ill.], and with Col. Marvin H. McIntyre, President Roosevelt's secretary. They plan to return some time hence to present formally to President Roosevelt resolutions adopted by the Quarter Back club of Chicago, asking that the 1939 game be played there.

He estimated that it would cost approximately $500,000 to transport the teams and the service schools' student bodies to Chicago, about the same as it cost when the game was played there in 1926. He added, however, that "there will be no difficulty about having that sum speedily underwritten."

"Wholesome Development."

"An Army-Navy game in Chicago would stimulate interest throughout the whole middle west in the two service schools, which would be a most wholesome development," Gen. Lorenzen said.

"As for Philadelphia, I don't think it will object to the transfer, in view of the fact that the families of the two captains both live in Kankakee, and would be able to see them play if the game were in Chicago."

Duke's Blue Devils Get Big Welcome on Arrival Home

Durham, N. C., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Duke's Blue Devils, whose perfect record was marred by Southern California in the Rose bowl, returned home late today. A crowd estimated at 10,000 crowded about the railroad station as the "Blue Devil Special" rolled in from Pasadena, Cal. Thousands more lined the street on each side for ten blocks as the Dukes were paraded to the campus.

Vines Gets Another Shot at Mr. Budge.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Donald Budge and Ellsworth Vines will put on the fourth act of their trans-continental tennis show tonight in the Chicago Stadium. Since Budge made his first appearance as a professional in Madison Square Garden, New York, on Tuesday evening, he has won two matches and lost one.

This good beginning against the toughest competition in the world was Budge's answer to the critics who believed his success in the amateur field was due more to the mediocrity of his opponents rather than to his own exceptional skill.

This Vines Is Crafty.

Tonight's match is expected to give further information on how Budge is likely to fare as a professional. His opponent, Vines, has a way of sizing up his adversaries during early meetings, solving their styles and beating them with regularity thereafter. Vines won Thursday's match in Philadelphia in straight sets after he had dropped those in New York and Boston by equally decisive scores.

This has led some followers of the sport to believe that he already is getting wise to Budge's game. When the redhead shoots those powerful drives and services at him tonight, Vines may be expected to handle them more efficiently than in their first two meetings. On the other hand, Budge's ability to win in his first two matches proved his adaptability to changed conditions.

Unhurt by Shift to Indoors.

He had built up his highly effective game on grass and clay courts in the open air. He made the change to playing under lights on a canvas surfaced court without going off stride despite the fact that his opponent was thoroughly seasoned by several years of competition under those conditions.

In the past, some of the world's greatest amateurs were entirely incapable of making this change. Henri Cochet, for instance, used to earn his share of victories over Bill Tilden during their amateur days. But when Henri went on tour with the troupe, he was badly beaten night after night.

Vines hopes to keep his drives working again tonight. He always plays on a small margin of error, aiming his shots to clear the net by an inch or two and drop just short of the endline or sideline.

Other Stars, Too.

As a result, when he is off his game at all, he gets beaten badly, but he's just as likely to get his strokes working the next time out and win handily.

Two high ranking professionals, Dick Skeen of Los Angeles and Bruce Barnes of Austin, Tex., complete the troupe. They will open the program with a singles match, then the Vines-Budge engagement will go on, after which Vines and Barnes will team against Budge and Skeen.

Hawks $50,000 Ahead at Gate, So Co-Pilots' Jobs Appear Safe

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks' practice yesterday was started and completed without a change of management. Paul Thompson directed the offense and his associate skipper, Carl Voss, directed the defense. When it was all over Boss Thompson and Boss Voss went into conference and decided the team has a good chance to defeat the Toronto Maple Leafs in Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

Though the Hawks took a 2 to 1 whipping from the Boston Bruins Thursday night in the first game of the new Thompson-Voss régime, Thompson said he had noted an improvement in the play. It was not made known, however, what Major McLaughlin thought of the defeat, but it was held likely that he would retain Thompson and Voss for several weeks at least and possibly till the end of the season or longer. Bill Stewart was fired Jan. 3 because of slump symptoms in the counting room.

$50,000 Ahead at Gate.

It is reported that the gate this year is up many percentums over last year, a gain in dollars of some fifty grand to date. So Paul and Carl probably will be secure as long as they can lure the customers. In their conference yesterday Paul and Carl decided the surest way to keep those red Stadium seats from gleaming through to infuriate the Major is to win a lot of hocky games, thus screening the said infuriating red seats with cash clients.

With all the managerial partnership business, it appears that Thompson will be the director of policy and personnel while the team is on the ice, in practice, and in competition. For instance, this announcement yesterday from the Blackhawk downtown tepee: "Thompson's plans for the forward strings from now to the end of the season call for more back checking than the lines have done since the season's start. He has mapped out on the dressing room blackboards what he termed a zoning plan which aims to keep forwards in certain prescribed districts instead of roaming at will all over the ice, a glaring fault of some of the forwards this season.

"Thompson announced he will be in uniform at all remaining games, to fill in, however, only in emergencies."

Hawks May Lose Fourth Place.

The foes of tomorrow night, those Maple Leafs, play the Boston Bruins tonight, and till the contest is decided the Hawks will not know whether they will be defending fourth place against the Leafs. If the Leafs win tonight they will be a point ahead of the Chicagoans, supplanting them in fourth place.

Tomorrow night's appearance of the Leafs will be their third here this season. The teams played to a 1 to 1 tie on Nov. 20 and to a 4 to 4 tie on Dec. 15. The Hawks beat the Leafs in Toronto, 2 to 0, on Nov. 5 and the Leafs whipped the Hawks there, 4 to 1, on Dec. 10.

NO "YES MAN"—STEWART

Boston, Mass., Jan. 6.—(AP)—A long series of refusals to obey orders that clashed with his judgment resulted in Bill Stewart's dismissal as manager of the world championship Chicago Blackhawks hocky team, he explained today when he returned home.

Stewart, hailed as hocky's "miracle man" last spring when he led his team to its amazing Stanley cup triumph, was released last Tuesday by Owner Frederic McLaughlin.

"I refused to take orders from McLaughlin when I was convinced I was doing the correct thing," Stewart explained. "That's why he fired me. I want to stress the fact that Bill Tobin [president of the Blackhawks] had nothing to do with my case. He's working for McLaughlin and he has to do what he is told."

LOYOLA FIVE RALLIES TO BEAT DRAKE, 46 TO 32

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Loyola university's undefeated basketball team won its ninth straight game here tonight, putting on a brilliant finish to whip Drake, 46 to 32.

Drake led the Chicagoans, 28 to 24, after seven minutes of play in the second half, but Ned Swan, who had been guarding Mike Novak, Loyola's big center, left the game at that point and Novak promptly went on a scoring spree.

Loyola tied the count in 2 minutes and in another 30 seconds was ahead, 34 to 28. Novak got 16 points for Loyola and Paul Griffith made 15 for Drake. Lineups:

SILVER SKATES DERBIES OFFER CHANCE FOR ALL

Entries Will Close Tonight for Annual Races.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Since 1917 it has been definitly established that the Silver Skates Derbies offer equal opportunity for all boys and girls to win a championship. Entries are received each year from playgrounds, parks, skating clubs, boys' clubs and from other groups and organizations as well as from hundreds of youngsters who have no club or park affiliation.

From the thousands entered annually come eight champions. But it is the award of gold medals to all who win preliminary races and the souvenir buttons that attract most contestants. The novice skater, particularly in classes below 16 years of age, generally competes in his first race against skaters equally inexperienced. And if he wins there's an award of which he rightfully may be proud.

New Organization Enters.

One of the organizations which first entered a team in last year's Silver Skates races is St. Ann's Episcopal choir, 2016 North Kimball avenue. Frederick N. Jewell, director of the boys' choir, has entered a team of 40 in the Derbies which will be held next Saturday and Sunday in Garfield park.

"All of the boys are connected with the Boy Scouts of America, Troop 27, Cub Pack 3027," Mr. Jewell wrote in submitting the list of contestants, "and they are under the direction of Walter Scott and myself." Twenty-five will skate in the Midget Derby for boys under 12 years of age. Nine will compete in the Juvenile Derby, five in the men's senior race and one in the intermediate race.

Midwest Enters Fourteen.

The Midwest Athletic club will be represented by eleven boys and three girls, according to Carmen Tortorello, director of the skating club. In the list of boys is Buddy Solem, son of Earl W. Solem, president of the Illinois Skating association. Buddy is a former winner of the midget championship. He will compete next week in the Juvenile Derby for boys 12 and 13 years of age.

This is the last day entries will be accepted for the twenty-second annual Derbies. All letters postmarked before midnight tonight will be entered by the clerks.

Among the other team entries received yesterday were the following: Clark playground, Emli Skala, director; Barrett playground, H. A. Smith, instructor; Mozart playground, John Gotz, instructor; Wilson playground, Fred Parucka, director; Mitchell playground, Al Goldberg, instructor; Moran playground, John J. Fahey, instructor; Belding playground, Otto Kaecke, instructor, and the Bill Rand Athletic club.

Entries from Wilson playground and Barrett playground were unusually large, indicating that these teams may have a chance to win the silver cup which will be awarded to the organization having the largest number of contestants in the preliminaries.

Bowl Reflections.

Rose Bowl: This turned out to be a double feature. Announcer Bill Stern not only reported progress between Southern California and Duke, but also replayed the U. S. C.-Notre Dame game for late tuners-in. [A month late.]

East-West: The East's galaxy of All-Americans looked pretty sick without the teammates and press agents who made them famous.

Sugar and Orange Bowls: Tennessee is the nation's No. 1 team, being two points better than Texas Christian offensively and seven points defensively.

General conclusion: It was a great day for the passers, but I still like my basketball indoors. I can see the players better, and some of the boys have such beautiful legs!

PURDUE TO PLAY N. U.; MINNESOTA MEETS CHICAGO

Unbeaten Indiana Takes On Ohio.

Games Tonight

Northwestern at Purdue.
Chicago at Minnesota.
Michigan at Illinois.
Indiana at Ohio State.
Iowa at Wisconsin.
Butler at Notre Dame.

The ten Western conference basketball teams, which won fifty-two of seventy games during the first month of their campaign, will start competition against each other tonight. Chicago's representatives will face the 1938 champion and runnerup away from home, Northwestern meeting Purdue, title defender, in Lafayette, and Chicago's Maroons facing one of the 1939 title favorites, Minnesota, in Minneapolis.

In other games Michigan will face undefeated Illinois in Champaign; unbeaten Indiana, also listed among the title contenders, will meet Ohio State in Columbus, and Iowa will play Wisconsin in Madison. A promising battle is listed at Notre Dame where the Irish will face Butler, conqueror, among others, of Wisconsin and Iowa.

A Test for Purdue.

Northwestern, winner of only two of its pre-conference battles, but appearing improved when it beat Notre Dame New Year's eve, is expected to test Purdue. The Boilermakers have dropped one of seven early contests, but played three games, including one in which they were beaten by Southern California, without Capt. Gene Anderson, center. In their early games the Boilermakers scored 308 points.

Northwestern probably will be without Jim Currie, veteran guard, but will have Bob Voigts, another veteran, in his place. It is doubtful whether Anderson will start for Purdue. If not, Dan Fisher, forward and center, will be at the pivot position.

The Maroons, winners of five of their eight early contests and apparently much improved over the quintet that won two and lost ten games in Big Ten competition last season, possibly will face their most difficult hurdle in Minnesota. Chicago will be led by Dick Lounsbury, star center, who has scored 82 points this season.

As forwards the Maroons have Joe Stampf, a sophomore, who is credited with sixty points in eight games; Remy Meyer, and Capt. Jim Cassels, who was declared eligible yesterday after missing all the preliminary contests. Cassels has been practicing daily and he may start against Minnesota. Guards against the undefeated Gophers will be the tennis twins, Bill and Chester Murphy.

Minnesota Has Veteran Squad.

Unbeaten Minnesota has four of the five stars who won nine conference games after losing the first three last season. Johnny Kundla and Gordon Addington will lead the attack, Gordon Spear will be at center and Paul Maki at one of the guards. John Dick, the other guard, is the only sophomore in the Gophers' starting lineup.

Michigan will be crippled in its opening game against Illinois. The Wolverines probably will be without Capt. Leo Beebe, guard, and Jim Rae, star center, who has a back injury. Dan Smick probably will start at center, with Sophomores Mike Sofiak and Herb Brogan at forwards, and Ed Thomas and Charles Pink, both veterans, at guards.

Illinois, which has won all of its seven pre-conference battles, including a 35 to 34 decision over Cornell Tuesday night, is considered one of the title contenders. The Illini are led by Pick Dehner, high scoring center. Bob Hapac and John Drish will be at forwards and Tom Nisbet and Jay Wardley at guards.

Indiana Is Favored.

Indiana, also unbeaten in seven early games, will be the favorite over Ohio State, which won three and lost four games. The Buckeyes' defeats were administered on the Pacific coast by Washington and California. Indiana crushed most of its opposition, being given strong competition only by Western Reserve.

Indiana's quintet, successor to a team that finished near the bottom of the Big Ten standing last year, includes four star sophomores, all of whom may start tonight. They are Bob Dro and Paul Armstrong, forwards; Bill Menke, center, and Herman Schaefer, guard. A fixture in the Hoosier starting team is Capt. Ernest Andres, a conference scoring star last year.

The game in Madison will bring together two teams which won a majority of their early games, Wisconsin having won five of seven, including a 45 to 39 decision over Notre Dame, and Iowa having won four of six.

Notre Dame and Butler will clash before 5,000 at Notre Dame in the thirty-first game between the two teams. The Irish starting five will include Eddie Sadowski, senior forward, who has recovered from injuries received in the Northwestern game.

CALUMET SENIOR QUINTET DEFEATS ENGLEWOOD, 31-29

Morgan Park and Tuley Triumph.

Nine more basketball teams in the Chicago Public High School league opened their sectional campaigns yesterday, with the Calumet seniors scoring a 31 to 29 overtime victory over Englewood in the feature game.

Englewood led until the last few seconds, when Harry Glickauf made a short shot for Calumet that tied the score at 29-all. Glickauf then scored again late in the overtime period to give Calumet victory.

Morgan Park Wins.

The Morgan Park seniors whipped Hirsch, 24 to 23, and a fourth quarter rally gave Tuley a 32 to 22 victory over Washburne. Esrig sank 20 points to help Roosevelt defeat the Lane juniors, 43 to 27.

Chicago Latin defeated Concordia, 40 to 35, in the Private School league. Burke scored 15 points for Latin.

Oak Park was knocked out of the undefeated class and a tie for first place with Evanston last night in the Suburban league heavyweight division, losing to Morton, 33 to 26. Evanston, idle, gained the undisputed lead. Waukegan won from Highland Park, 33 to 21, to take second place.

Glenbard scored its fourth victory in four starts in the West Suburban league to hold undisputed lead in the heavyweight division. La Grange was the victim, 48 to 28.

St. Ignatius Triumphs.

St. Ignatius, De Paul, St. Philip, St. Mel, Mount Carmel, and Catholic of Joliet triumphed in the senior division of the Catholic league last night.

St. Ignatius was forced to overcome a 19 to 14 lead at the half to win from St. George, 29 to 28. Mount Carmel's 41 to 22 triumph over St. Rita was the largest score of the night.

Joyce Defeats M'Intyre; Wins 7 of 10 Rounds

Fight Decisions

At Minneapolis, Minn.—Dick Demaray beat Phil McQuillan [10]; King Tut knocked out Rusty Gramlin [2]; Billy Smith beat Jimmy Salvator [6].

Willie Joyce, former Chicago Golden Gloves featherweight champion, defeated Bobby McIntyre of Detroit in their ten round rematch in White City last night. Joyce won seven of the rounds to wipe out a draw decision in their previous meeting last month.

Joyce weighed 132 and McIntyre 133.

Attendance was 1,683 and receipts were $1,599.

Lew Jenkins, Sweetwater, Tex., junior lightweight, outslugged Joe Law to win the six round semi-final.

Other winners were Nick Castiglione, Italo-American Youth organization 135 pounder; Alex Pug, Brighton Park 150 pounder; Eddie Sparrow, South Chicago 140 pounder, and Orlando Trotter, south side 172 pounder.

Castiglione pounded out a decision over Ben Irving, Pug conquered Jimmy McNeill, Sparrow whipped Johnny Rock, and Trotter beat Harvey Sterling.

COMBINED RAIL, TRUCK SERVICE NEARING START

Keeshin Will File Tarifs Shortly.

Coördinated railroad and truck service to be established by the Baltimore and Ohio and Alton railroads and the Keeshin Transcontinental Freight Lines, Inc., is nearing a start. John L. Keeshin, chairman of the truck system, disclosed this yesterday. The Alton is owned by the B. & O.

John L. Keeshin.

Keeshin said that he will file within a few days with the interstate commerce commission joint through rail-truck tarifs from points in the middle west served by the Keeshin lines to the Atlantic seaboard, and from points along the Atlantic seaboard served by Keeshin trucks to the middle west. The published tarifs will involve more than 3,000,000 individual rates.

Rails to Get Long Hauls.

"Our trucks will handle the short hauls at points of origin and destination," Keeshin said, "giving to the railroad the long overland hauls. This operation will give the nation a truly coördinated rail-truck service of the type that is being advocated by transportation authorities.

"The railroads will be able to handle the profitable long distance hauls with fully loaded cars under our plan. We will handle the short hauls which are unprofitable to the railroads."

Keeshin explained that the truck lines his company controls will pick up and assemble freight throughout the middle west and turn it over to the Baltimore and Ohio and Alton. On arrival in the east the freight will be turned over to the Keeshin lines for delivery to destinations, including New England. Freight moving from east to west will be handled similarly.

Gives Entry Into Michigan.

The arrangement will enable the B. & O. to compete in the rich Michigan territory, Keeshin disclosed. His trucks will pick up freight throughout the state and turn it over to the B. & O. at Toledo for the long haul. Freight in Minnesota, Iowa, and other middle western states will be picked up by the trucks and turned over to the B. & O. at Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, and other points.

Freight will be handled for the shipper on a single bill of lading. The railroad and the truck lines will divide the charges for the haul on a basis of the mileage that each handles.

Keeshin said that his companies and the railroads will not attempt to confine the business to the Keeshin lines, but will make it available to any established trucking operator.

I. C. C. PERMITS N. Y. CENTRAL TO CUT AUTO RATES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission authorized the New York Central Railroad system today to put into effect tomorrow reduced rates for transporting automobiles from the Detroit area to destinations in the north and east.

The National Automobile Transporters' association, a, division of American Trucking Associations, Inc., had urged the commission to suspend the reduced rates, saying they would lead to a nation-wide rate war between railroads and trucks.

The transporters' association said the New York Central's proposed rates are considerably below the truck rates, adding that "it is feared by automobile transporters" that they will be forced out of business.

The commission made no comment in refusing to suspend the reduced rates.

STEEL OUTPUT OF DECEMBER DIPS 10 PER CENT

New York, Jan. 6.—(AP)—December's output of open harth and Bessemer steel ingots was 3,143,169 gross tons, the American Iron and Steel institute reported today. This was about 10 per cent below the November output of 3,572,220 gross tons.

It brought total production for 1938 to 27,839,261 tons, a total 44 per cent below that of 1937, when 49,502,907 tons were produced. Last year's output was the lowest since 1934.

The 1938 average operations were 39.79 per cent of capacity, against 72.38 per cent in 1937. The December, 1938, average of 711,124 tons a week compared with 832,685 in November and 333,263 in December, 1937.

New Financing Declines During Holiday Period

New York, Jan. 6.—(AP)—New financing, usually at a minimum in the year-end holiday period, fell during the week ended Jan. 5 to $6,426,500, Poor's Publishing company reported today. The record compared as follows:

	Latest week.	Previous week.	Year ago.
Total	$6,426,500	$40,756,694	$7,111,000

Utilities Lend Power to Lift Stock Market

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 6.—Power and light shares took the stock market spotlight today while other groups moved aimlessly. Gains in the utilities ranged from fractions to 1½ points. Other stocks closed fractionally changed on both sides.

The list closed irregularly higher, with 314 issues advancing, 246 declining, and 197 closing unchanged from Thursday's final prices. Trading slowed appreciably from recent sessions, only 951,460 shares changing hands today.

Observers based the better showing of the utility section on the belief in Wall street that the administration was adopting a more coöperative spirit toward business.

Business News Favorable.

Favorable business news also aided underlying sentiment, it was said. Improvement in automobile production and better reports on retail trade and steel operations were among the cheerful industrial items coming to hand.

The utility sector displayed buoyancy from the start, acting better in early trading while other sections barely managed to recover from initial softness. A flurry of buying developed around noon and the group responded quickly.

Consolidated Edison, Columbia Gas and Electric, North American, Stone and Webster, American Water Works, Electric Power and Light, and International Hydroelectric were among those most active. Preferred utility shares fell into line and climbed easily on lighter demand.

Utilities Bolster List.

Some of the betterment in the rest of the market was attributed to the upturn in the utilities.

Several steel shares wiped out early losses to advance fractionally, including Bethlehem, Youngstown, and Crucible. United States Steel lost ¼ point. Motors met modest support.

Some of the aviation issues recovered from early setbacks.

Rails acted uncertainly. The firmer tone imparted by the utility group was offset by the decline in car loadings.

Goodyear ruled firm in the rubbers, but United States Rubber lost 1 point and Goodrich slipped fractionally. Oils were mostly lower.

Most heavy machinery shares stayed close to shore. Farm implements closed fractionally higher. Coppers gave ground. Chemicals also were on the down side.

Loft moved in the best volume of the day, rising ¾ point to 9½.

MUTUAL DRUG CO. ASKS WRITEDOWN OF SHARE VALUE

Stockholders of the Mutual Drug company, Cleveland wholesale drug company, were asked yesterday to approve a writedown of the preferred stock from $7.50 a share to $3.

L. L. Van Schaack, newly elected president, said that an audit had "disclosed that the investments of the company in its subsidiaries are carried at values in excess of their cost and in excess of the amount of equity of the company in the capital and surplus accounts of such subsidiaries." Stockholders will vote on the plan at a special meeting in Cleveland on Jan. 17.

The company has 300,000 shares of no par preferred, 10,000 shares of $100 common, and 20,000 shares of no par common.

Van Schaack said the company has operated profitably in recent years and that the balance sheet as of July 31 indicated a strong financial condition. Headquarters may be moved to Chicago.

WAGE-HOUR HEAD ASKS FUNDS TO ADMINISTER ACT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Elmer F. Andrews, wage-hour administrator, said today that his agency would have to "fold up" at the end of this month unless congress granted it a deficiency appropriation of about $950,000.

Andrews dropped in at the house appropriations committee "just to see where I'll have to come in the future." He talked briefly with Representative McMillan [D., S. C.], chairman of the subcommittee which handles the labor department's appropriations.

When the wage-hour division was created, congress gave it only $400,000 on the ground that would be sufficient until experience showed its actual needs. President Roosevelt has recommended that the division be given $3,350,000 for the year beginning July 1.

Business Books

"Making the Annual Report Speak for Industry," compiled by the National Association of Manufacturers. [McGraw-Hill Book Company, Inc., New York. Price, $4.]

What does the workman know about the business that employs him? What does the stockholder know about his company? What should they know about it? Is it worth while for the man on the street and the housewife to know how our business and economic machine works?

These questions now are getting more attention from most business executives, and the annual report has become an important medium in a new approach by business to self-interpretation. The National Association of Manufacturers has analyzed 2,000 annual reports and presents its findings in this volume, which has just been published. It contains numerous illustrations. For the executives of either large or small businesses this analysis offers valuable and timely do's and don't's toward effective preparation of yearly statements.

Chicagoland Earns ¼ of Farm Income

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Farmers in the Chicago area have again received a big share of the nation's farm income. In the five states about Chicago — Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Michigan — farmers received almost one-fourth of the estimated national 1938 cash farm income of more than 7½ billion dollars.

In this area, as well as in other diversified farming sections of the central west and in the western range country, farmers and ranchmen are about as prosperous this year as last, although the official estimate of their cash income is nearly a billion dollars less in 1938 than in 1937. Cash income figures, including money received by farmers for the sale of their products and cash government payments, do not tell the whole story.

Retain Breeding Animals.

Farmers may not have as much loose change to jingle in their pockets but they have wealth represented by live stock and feed. Farmers generally are holding back fairly large numbers of breeding animals —beef and dairy cattle, hogs and sheep. The demand for breeding animals has been larger during the last year than in 1937, chiefly because of favorable pastures in the central west and range states.

Many farmers also have delayed the marketing of a lot of fat cattle. Normally these cattle would have been sold earlier and the cash returns would have been included in the nation's 1938 farm income total.

Wealth on the farm also is represented by an abundance of feed stored for future use. Millions of bushels of extra corn that normally would have been sold for cash or fed to live stock and added to last year's cash income, are stored on the farm. Much of this stored corn has been held as collateral for federal loans.

Prices Are Lower.

When farmers finally sell the live stock and crops produced last year, their 1938 cash farm income actually may be little below their 1937 income. Prices of farm products were lower during last year.

With bins, cribs, silos, and barns running over with grain and roughage harvested from bumper crops produced during the last two years the farmers' outlook is bright. They are in excellent condition to withstand an unfavorable crop season. Prices may be lower this year, but they will be offset at least to some extent by farmers having more live stock to sell and more feed to produce heavier individual animals.

The outlook is favorable for consumers because there will be more beef, pork, and lamb. There should be more poultry and eggs and butter. The price consumers pay for these products likely will be less.

Federal Payments Rise.

Government payments made to farmers who complied with the federal Agricultural Adjustment administration's crop control program have increased. Up to Nov. 1 the government cash payments totaled 395 million dollars, or 40 million dollars more than for the corresponding period of 1937. During the same period, however, the government payments for the five states in the Chicago area totaled about 15½ million dollars less than for the corresponding months of the previous year.

Cash farm income has gradually increased since 1932 until the 1938 setback. Figures follow:

Year—	Exclusive of govt. payments.	Government payments.	Total cash farm income.
1933	$4,955,000	$162,000	$5,117,000
1934	5,792,000	556,000	6,384,000
1935	6,507,000	493,000	7,000,000
1936	7,633,000	287,000	7,920,000
1937	8,120,000	380,000	8,500,000
1938	.....	.....	7,625,000

The total cash income for 1938 is an official estimate; detailed figures including government payments for last year are not available.

TWA Purchases 3 New Planes to Cost $350,000

Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., has purchased three additional Skyclub planes from the Douglas Aircraft company, Santa Monica, Cal., Paul E. Richter, executive vice president of TWA, announced yesterday. The new order will increase the line's fleet to thirty-six ships. The total cost of the new equipment and accessories will be about $350,000, Richter said. The planes will be capable of cruising at a speed of 195 miles an hour using 69 percent of the total horse power. Curtiss Wright Cyclone motors of 1,100 horse power will be used.

5,000 WESTINGHOUSE WORKERS GET 10 PCT. PAY CUT RESTORATION

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—Restoration of a 10 per cent wage cut to 5,000 of its 15,000 workers was announced today by Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. President George H. Bucher said all workers receiving $125 monthly or less would have their pay returned to the level of last June 1.

Less than twenty-four hours before the wage announcement the company received a $2,233,000 contract for machinery for two navy battleships and a $764,000 order for two big power generators at Charleston, S. C.

SEC APPROVES PLAN OF UTILITY TO REORGANIZE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—The plan of recapitalization of Northern States Power company of Delaware and applications concerning various transactions incident to such plan by its subsidiaries, the Northern States Power companies of Minnesota and Wisconsin, were approved by the Securities and Exchange commission in an order made public today, attaching certain conditions.

Northern States Power company of Delaware is a subsidiary of the Standard Gas and Electric corporation, which exercises control throught the holding of 729,166 shares, or more than 99 per cent of all the outstanding class B common stock of the Delaware corporation.

The plan of recapitalization includes a reduction in the capital of its class B common stock from $7,291,663 to nothing, termination of the voting power of the class B common stock on Jan. 1, 1941, and cancelation of the class B common stock on Jan. 1, 1944, unless in the meantime the SEC otherwise orders. The class A common stock would be reduced from $34,155,100 to $8,538,775.

STATIONERY FIRM STARTS EMPLOYE PROFIT SHARING

The Utility Supply company, wholesale and retail stationer at 307 West Monroe street, yesterday announced that it has put into operation a profit sharing plan for its 100 employés. The plan will follow in general that of the Joslyn Manufacturing and Supply company set up twenty years ago to enable its workers to accumulate a retirement fund.

Utility Supply company employés will be eligible to take part after two years of service. They may contribute 2½ to 5 per cent of their monthly wages, but this must not be more than $200 a year. The company will contribute at least 10 per cent of its annual net earnings and expects to contribute more during the first few years of the plan to build up the fund.

M. E. Wolf is president of the company which was founded thirty-two years ago.

Canadian National Railway to Offer $50,000,000 Bonds

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 6.—(AP)—A $50,000,000 bond issue of the Canadian National railway will be placed on the market next Wednesday, it was announced today. It will be a dominion government guaranteed issue, in seven and twenty year series, bearing interest at 2¼ per cent and 3 per cent, according to Finance Minister Charles Dunning. Subscription books will be opened by the Bank of Canada. Proceeds will be used by the railway system in repayment of temporary loans obtained from the government and in retirement of funded debt.

Hecker Products Sells Soap Division to Lever

New York, Jan. 6.—[Special.]—The Hecker Products corporation has sold its soap business to Lever Brothers company of Cambridge, Mass., for about $2,500,000 cash, it was learned today. The price includes the estimated proceeds of accounts receivable retained by the Hecker company. The division has been operating at a loss it was said.

Sheaffer Pen 2 Months' Sales Best in Nine Years

The November and December business of the W. A. Sheaffer Pen company was the best in nine years, C. R. Sheaffer, president, said yesterday in Fort Madison, Ia.

Many Outlying Banks Report Loan Increase

Many Chicago banks increased their loans in the closing months of 1938. They reduced lending in the earlier months of the year, but expanded it in the final quarter. This was disclosed yesterday by a study of the Dec. 31 condition statements released by banks outside the loop area.

Joseph R. Frey reports lower profit.

At least 25 per cent of the banks outside the loop had larger loans and discounts on Dec. 31 than three months earlier. The increases were not large enough to offset the reductions made earlier in the year, in most instances.

Lake Shore Makes Big Gain.

The Lake Shore Trust and Savings bank reported one of the largest increases in the fourth quarter. It had loans and discounts totaling $4,298,000 at the year-end against $3,903,000 at the end of September.

The Lake Shore had 1938 net profit of $152,321 compared with $162,705 in the preceeding year. The results were disclosed yesterday by President Joseph R. Frey, at the annual meeting of stockholders.

Operating earnings before bond profits, recoveries, and current charge-offs amounted to $119,220 against $121,487 in the preceeding year. Deposits were $12,229,790 at the end of the year, an increase of $138,927.

All officers and directors were re-elected.

Englewood Bank's Loans Rise.

Among the banks reporting increases in loans was the First National Bank of Englewood which has maintained a policy of extreme liquidity for several years. On Dec. 31 total loans and discounts of the bank were $491,000 against $482,000 on Sept. 28. It showed no change in its holdings of government securities, totaling $2,800,000.

Other banks reporting larger loans were the I. C. National, North Shore National, South East National, Upper Avenue National, Aetna State, Amalgamated Trust and Savings, East Side Trust and Savings, South Chicago Savings, and State Bank of Clearing.

The Merchants National had loans and discounts of $2,662,000, compared with $2,613,000 three months earlier.

STORES' SALES UP 2 PER CENT IN LAST '38 WEEK

Two per cent more goods were sold in the last week of 1938 by the nation's department stores than in the corresponding week in 1937, the federal reserve board reported yesterday. The largest gain in sales was made by the seventh federal reserve district [Chicago area] stores.

Sales in this district rose 6.2 per cent. Chicago stores sold 4.3 per cent more goods. Detroit stores' business climbed 13.5 per cent and Milwaukee's gained 6.1 per cent.

Sales in the Richmond, and Atlanta districts gained 5 per cent and the Minneapolis and Dallas areas, 4 per cent.

Auto Output Shows Gain Over Week and Year Ago

Automobile production this week totaled 76,685 units, compared with 75,215 in the preceding week and 54,084 in the corresponding 1938 week, Ward's Automotive Reports, Inc., estimated yesterday. Ward's estimated the December total at $412,000 units, compared with 390,350 in November and 346,986 in December, 1937. Assemblies for the full year were estimated at 2,660,000, against 5,015,974 in 1937.

Adjourn Hearings on Erie Reorganization to Jan. 30

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Interstate commerce commission hearings in the Erie railroad reorganization proceedings were adjourned today until Jan. 30. Adjournment was taken at the request of counsel for various groups of creditors who asked for time to prepare for cross-examination of witnesses who testified in support of the two pending plans.

SEARS-ROEBUCK SALES SET PEAK FOR DECEMBER

But Volume in 1938 Declines for 1937.

December sales of Sears, Roebuck & Co. set a new peak for the month in the company's history. The nationwide turnover for the four weeks ended Dec. 31 totaled $60,633,795, an increase of 3.7 per cent over that for the same 1937 period. Other mail order and chain store corporations also showed increases in December sales.

Sales of Sears, Roebuck & Co. for the entire month of December were $68,621,631, an increase of 5.8 per cent above those for December, 1937. Reflecting the trend in the general retail field, Gears' turnover for the forty-eight weeks ended Dec. 31 declined 7.4 per cent from that of the same period in 1937 to $503,244,563.

Previous Peak in 1936.

The previous top in December sales was $59,911,712 for the four weeks ended Dec. 31, 1936, and $66,433,055 for the entire month of December, 1936.

The tendency for sales in December, 1938, to show advances but for those for last year to show decreases from the turnover in the corresponding periods in 1937 is shown in the reports of other companies.

The Walgreen company, chain drug store system, reported December sales of $7,670,559, an increase of 2.6 per cent over those for the same month in 1937. Sales for last year, however, slipped 0.9 per cent from the 1937 total to $68,019,858.

Another Chicago mail order house, Spiegel, Inc., stated that its December sales totaled $5,607,719, a decline of 7.85 per cent from those for 1937. In this instance last month's sales ran counter to the usual trend. For twelve months of 1938, sales totaled $49,847,328, dropping 11.17 per cent from the 1937 total.

Woolworth Sales Set Record.

The F. W. Woolworth company stated that its December volume was the largest for the month on record. Sales in December reached $50,379,087, an increase of 6.7 per cent. The volume for 1938 toltaed $304,294,565, a slight dip of one-tenth of 1 per cent from the 1937 total.

December retail turnover of the S. S. Kresge company climbed 5.6 per cent from the 1937 volume to $25,495,618. For the entire year 1938 the total declined 4 per cent to $147,995,974.

The W. T. Grant company's December sales increased 8.3 per cent from the 1937 volume for that month to $17,996,497. For the year 1938 the sales totaled $97,313,547, a decrease of 2 per cent.

Sales of Other Companies.

Sales of other companies reporting yesterday follow:

December.	1938.	1937.
Consolidated Retail	$ 897,964	$ 879,273
Edison Bros.	2,590,670	2,384,517
Lerner Stores	6,264,413	6,004,366
McCrory Stores	7,002,800	6,763,050
Western Auto Supply	4,130,000	3,778,000
Twelve Months Ended Dec. 31.
Consolidated Retail	8,712,217	9,369,011
Edison Bros.	24,205,678	23,764,677
Lerner Stores	35,936,496	37,534,031

Bank in Gary Is Admitted to Federal Reserve System

The Gary Trust and Savings bank, Gary, Ind., was admitted to membership in the federal reserve system yesterday, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported.

Reveal Coster Had 'Seagoing' Drug Trucks

New York, Jan. 6.—[Special.]—The Securities and Exchange commission disclosed today that F. Donald Coster not only wrote $18,000,000 of fictitious crude drugs onto the books of McKesson & Robbins, Inc., but also "shipped" these drugs across the ocean "by truck."

Albert B. Ritts.

Furthermore, Albert B. Ritts, senior accountant of Price, Waterhouse & Co., who annually overlooked Coster's $18,000,000 asset inflation in preparing an auditor's certification, testified that a junior accountant had been instructed to inspect these shipping documents. He must have passed these seagoing "trucks," it was explained.

"Proved" World Shipments.

"On their face, they are not genuine," said Ritts when he was handed some of the faked bills of lading. They were kept in McKesson's Bridgeport office to satisfy auditors of the genuineness of the world wide shipment of crude drugs conducted by the ex-convict Philip Musica, who became Coster.

The first bill of lading which was selected as an official exhibit by Irving Galpeer, examining counsel for the SEC, consigned 331 cases of gum camphor in slabs to the Silverton Tannery, Pretoria, South Africa. It was signed by Robert Dietrich, Musica's brother. In the space left for "route" he had filled in "their truck."

Similarly on shipments to England, Scotland, and other foreign markets, the overseas deliveries were recorded as being made "by truck."

Didn't Know His Bills.

Ritts protested that the notation "by truck" might escape an auditor interested simply in establishing the name of the customer, the goods shipped, and the date. "Such data would be all the auditor needed," he explained, in the process of verifying invoices and making sure there was a corresponding reduction in the inventory records of crude drugs supposedly held at the point from which these goods were supposedly shipped.

Galpeer, however, called attention repeatedly to aspects of the file of bills of lading which indicated the ignorance of Robert Dietrich not only concerning ocean bills of lading, but any bills of lading.

Apparently he simply supplied himself with the standard bills of lading which McKesson & Robbins had printed in pads for its American shipments, and which carried the notation, "domestic form."

And the Examiner Is Broke.

Adrian C. Humphreys of Forest Hills, now presiding as trial examiner for the SEC, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the federal court in Brooklyn.

In the petition, Humphreys gave his occupation as that of lawyer. He listed liabilities of $257,036 and assets of $33,943. Among his liabilities Humphreys listed unpaid federal income taxes of $41,102 for 1932 and New York state income taxes for the same year amounting to $22,856.

Leon Fraser Joins Federal Reserve Advisory Council

New York, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Leon Fraser, president of the First National bank of New York, today was appointed a member of the federal reserve advisory council for the 2d reserve district to serve during 1939. Fraser succeeds Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of Chase National bank, on the council.

ENGLAND'S BANK POURS OUT GOLD TO BACK MONEY

Shifts 1½ Billions to Stability Fund.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—[Special.]—The Bank of England today announced the transfer of gold valued at $1,500,000,000 to the British exchange equalization fund. The step was another in a series of moves to bolster the international position of the pound sterling.

Today's announcement follows by a few days publication of a statement showing that the equalization fund lost about £145,000,000 [about $674,000,000] between Sept. 7, 1937, and Sept. 30, 1938.

The value of the pound rose sharply on the exchange market today after announcement of the shift of gold to the stabilization fund.

The pound closed in New York at $4.67⅜, an advance of 2¾ cents over the preceding day. Other foreign currencies also rose. The French franc closed 0.01375 cent higher at 2.6375 cents.

Asks Aid of Other Nations.

Earlier this week the British treasury asked the coöperation of banks in England, France, and the United States in an effort to check speculative operations in the pound. The British treasury asked banks to stop making loans on gold when purely speculative operations were involved, and to cease direct speculation in gold and foreign currencies.

The pound has been under severe selling pressure on the exchange market for several weeks. It was quoted earlier this week at $4.62½ the lowest level it has reached since before the first Munich conference last September.

The pressure has arisen partly because of the heavy international payments which Great Britain has been forced to make to the United States as a result of her unfavorable balance of trade.

Speculation Depresses Pound.

Added to this pressure were [illegible] speculative transfers of gold, made in the belief that the pound would ultimately sell lower in relation to the dollar.

It has been pointed out in informed quarters that a depreciation in the pound would be beneficial to British exporters who compete for markets with American firms. It would also tend to offset the advantages, if any, to the United States of the recently concluded reciprocal treaties.

Today's gold transfer raises the resources of the British control fund by $1,587,000,000 [figured on the basis of $4.67 for the pound]. The announcement made by the bank said that the transfer amounted to 200,000,000 pounds sterling.

Gold Listed at Old Value.

The bank still values its gold at the old statutory price of 84 shillings 10½ pence an ounce. This was the price maintained prior to England's desertion of the gold standard in 1931. Since then the price of gold has risen sharply in the London market.

At today's quoted price of 149 shillings 6 pence an ounce the transfer the gold would amount to approximately £330,000,000 [or $1,587,000,000]. Before the transfer the Bank of England's gold reserves amounted to £575,000,000 at the current market price.

URGE SEC VETO INVESTING PLAN OF UNITED CORP.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—(AP)—A group of insurance and trust companies has asked the Securities and Exchange commission to refuse approval of a proposal by the United corporation for an $8,000,000 investment program.

The companies, in a brief appearing in the SEC files, said the application should be disapproved "because it involves the capitalization of earnings properly applicable to preferred dividends in arrears and also because, while of possible advantage to speculators, it is obviously opposed to the best interest of the investors."

The commission heard argument several weeks ago on the request of United corporation for approval of its new investment program. The application was made under provisions of the holding company act requiring commission sanction for certain investment procedures.

New York Bonds.

New York, Jan. 6.—(AP)—United States government securities moved up briskly in the bond market today. Dealers characterized it as a surprise move in view of the content of President Roosevelt's budget message of Thursday. Some had expected that overnight study of the $9,000,000,000 budget for 1940 with an estimated deficit of more than $3,000,000,000 would tend to have a depressing influence on the treasury list.

However, the expected selling failed to materialize. When prices held through the early hours of trading sufficient new buying power—some of it year-end money seeking reinvestment—was put into the market to lift closing quotations of long term treasuries 1-32d to 8-32ds. Some of the guaranteed loans did even better.

Corporate issues were mixed, although gains predominated in a number of groups. A few rails dropped abruptly under small offerings.

European loans were generally higher, with the best gains in Prague 7½s, Rome 6½s, Milan 6½s, and German 5½s. Japan 6½s picked up a point.

Bank Stocks.

The position of leading Chicago bank stocks changed only slightly yesterday in thin trading, dealers said. Shares of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company eased 50 cents to $80 bid, $82 asked. Stock of the Harris Trust and Savings bank rose $2 to $298 bid, $305 asked. Other issues were unchanged.

Intermediate Credit Banks Sell 19 Millions of Bonds

New York, Jan. 6.—[Special.]—Offering was made today by Charles R. Dunn, fiscal agent, of an issue of $19,000,000 Federal Intermediate Credit banks 1 per cent consolidated debentures, dated Jan. 16, 1939, and maturing in 9 and 11½ months. The debentures, which were heavily oversubscribed, were placed at a slight premium. Proceeds will be used to the extent of about $18,000,000 to refund maturing obligations. The remainder will represent new money.

Business Bits

Harold L. Reeve, general counsel of the Chicago Title and Trust company, was elected secretary of the company yesterday at a meeting of the directors. He succeeds Henry J. Tansley, who died Dec. 27. Reeve will retain his position as general counsel of the company. He is one of the foremost authorities in the city on real estate law and is author of several books on the subject. He lives at 1119 Elm Ridge road, Glencoe.

William H. Colman, manager of General Electric's construction material building sales in Chicago, has retired after forty-eight years' association with the company. He has been in the Chicago office since 1908.

George H. Dovenmuehle, vice president of Dovenmuehle, Inc., has been nominated for president of the Chicago Mortgage Bankers' association. Others nominated are Ferd Kramer, Thomas B. Black, and H. R. Goodwillie, vice presidents; C. A. Zoll, secretary, and P. R. Abrams, treasurer. The election will be held Jan. 12 at the annual meeting in the Hotel Knickerbocker.

A Chicago Mercantile exchange membership has been posted for transfer to Edwin D. Hinton of a firm bearing his name in Buffalo, N. Y.

Frank Dunne has been reëlected president for a third term of the New York Security Dealers' association.

Lester E. Jacobi has been elected president of Schenley Distillers corporation to succeed his brother, Harold, who died recently. Jacobi was treasurer and the former vice president in charge of plants and production of the company. Carl J. Kiefer, superintendent of plants and production, will become vice president. Sidney B. Becker, assistant treasurer, has been named treasurer to fill the post left vacant by Jacobi. Lewis S. Rosenstell, chairman of the executive and finance committees and a founder of the firm, was elected chairman of the board.

FREIGHT TRAFIC CONTINUES GAIN OVER YEAR AGO

Rise Shown for Seventh Consecutive Week.

The advance of freight car loadings over the corresponding 1937 volume continued in the week ended Dec. 31, the Association of American Railroads indicated yesterday. Total loadings last week were 499,895 cars, a decline of 13 per cent from those of the preceding week, but a gain of 9.9 per cent over those in the same 1937 week.

The increase over corresponding 1937 freight loadings was recorded for the seventh consecutive week, the report showed. Compared with the loading total of the same 1936 week, the freight volume declined 15 per cent last week.

Decline Less Than Seasonal.

The Dow-Jones index of loadings indicated that the decline from the preceding week was slightly below the seasonal trend, depressing the index from 80.1 for the preceding week to 79.9 for the week ended Dec. 31.

For the full year of 1938, the revenue freight of the nation's carriers totaled 30,468,544 cars, according to the completed survey of the association. This total represents a decrease of 19.1 per cent or 7,201,920 cars below that for 1937. The report classified the loadings as follows:

	1938.	1937.	Pct. chge.
Misc frt.....	12,028,480	15,173,610	—20.7
Mdse. l. c. l..	115,079	—25,821	— 381

Decline from Preceding Week.

Last week all classes of commodities were shipped by rail less than in the week ended Dec. 24. Miscellaneous freight, less-than-carlot goods, and coal shipments dropped abruptly.

The association's classified report of commodity loadings follows:

CORN ADVANCES AFTER SETBACK; WHEAT RECEDES

Corn assumed leadership in the grain markets yesterday. Speculators sold early on reports indicating there had been additional rains in parts of Argentina, but quickly reversed their market position as the result of small receipts of cash grain and limited country offerings. Prices on the Chicago Board of Trade rallied about ¾ cent from the early low point and closed with net gains of ⅞ to ⅞ cent a bushel.

Wheat was unsettled, breaking ½ cent early on weakness in Liverpool, but rallying later on reports of dust storms in parts of the southwest, and also a better milling demand. Futures closed ⅛ to ¼ cent a bushel lower. Price changes in oats, rye, and soy beans were confined to small fractions of a cent a bushel.

Receipts of cash corn at Chicago yesterday were only 75,000 bushels. This was the smallest amount of grain received at this season in many years, brokers said.

STEEL COMPANY TO ANSWER NLRB CHARGE BY JAN. 26

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—(AP)—The National Labor Relations board gave Bethlehem Steel company today until Jan. 26 to file exceptions to a trial examiner's recommendation that the company abolish its twenty year old employé representation plan. The board acted 24 hours after Bethlehem had asked time until March 8 in which to submit its exceptions.

Examiner Bloom, who conducted a ten months investigation of the company's labor policies, ruled that the employé representation plan violated the Wagner labor law. The Bethlehem plan, he held, was formed and dominated by company officials.

The board's case against Bethlehem was based on a complaint filed by the Steel Workers Organizing committee.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Swans' Pool Is Low.

January 5, 1939.

THE swans on the big farm pond have to do without a deep open air swimming pool this month because of the low water level in the pond. So little rain fell last fall that the pond gradually went down during October and November. By the time the ice formed the water was considerably below the usual winter level. The flockmaster tried to add water to the pool, which is in one corner of the pond, by means of a windmill pump, but there still is none too much water there.

No group of birds on the farm has figured in so many exciting farm episodes as the black and white swans. Last spring a white swan left the pond. It was seen by several neighbors as it flew away and disappeared. Nothing has been heard from this runaway since. Then stray dogs killed one of the black swans. A year ago last fall one of the white swans died. No marks of violence were found on this bird, so nobody knows the cause of its death.

New Diet for Swans.

All the swans on the farm soon will be started on a new diet that will give them a variety of grains and several interesting supplementary food items. Edward Bean, curator of the Brookfield Zoölogical gardens, advises the use of a swan ration containing the following grains and mixed in these proportions: Wheat, 100 pounds; barley, 100 pounds; whole corn, 50 pounds; cracked corn, 50 pounds; millet, 50 pounds, and Kaffir corn, 50 pounds.

Mr. Bean has found that other extra foods are valuable in keeping the big birds healthy through the winter when certain natural foods cannot be obtained from the ponds. To supply the birds with greens, spinach, and lettuce leaves are recommended. These greens are to be fed fresh and anything not eaten must be picked up so the birds can't eat anything frozen. Just as game birds need a certain amount of grit, so swans require it during the winter. Therefore, Mr. Bean advises plenty of oyster shell and mica spar grit for the birds.

Chopped Meat Suggested.

Another novelty in winter feeding is the suggestion that the swans be given a little chopped meat once or twice a week. During the summer they get live natural foods, including insects, and the chopped meat is to take their place. As soon as the new supplies of grains have been stocked, the swans will be started on this new feeding system.

After a temporary lull in the antirat campaign on the farm, the drive against these costly pests will be resumed next week. So far three sets of farm buildings have been heavily baited with red squill powder mixed with meat or dusted on bread and lard sandwiches. The farm workers report a noticeable drop in the rat population in these buildings. Next week the objective will be the extermination of the few rodents which didn't eat enough of the powder and survived the first campaign. Fresh new baits will be placed in the buildings.
